BENNETT CHARGES FRAUD

HIS PETITIONS OUT TODAY

Thoroughly aroused by the unexpectedly large vote polled by ex-State Senator William M. Bennett in Wednesday's Republican primaries for the Mayoralty nomination against Mayor Mitchel, the Mitchel-Fusion leaders held an important conference yesterday at the Union League Club and planned a vigorous campaign to be made against Tammany Hall. Mayor Mitchel, who was present, bluntly told his campaign managers that hard work would be necessary from now on if the Fusion ticket was to win in November. Mr. Bennett had not decided last night whether he would ask for a recount.

The poor showing made by the Mayor against Bennett, with the attendant large vote polled by his running mates, Controller Prendergast and Fire Commissioner Adamson, was the one matter of discussion yesterday by politicians in all parties. The Fusion leaders explained the big Bennett vote by saying that the Mitchel men did not make any campaign, while Bennett was active for weeks in all the boroughs. The Mayor's opponents, on the other hand, declared that the result showed that the Mayor was personally unpopular with the rank and file of Republicans, and that they preferred a candidate of their own party.

Mitchel's Majority 1,119.

With but two election districts missing, one in Manhattan and the other in the Bronx, out of a total of 2,060, Mitchel's majority over Bennett was only 1,119 votes. The Mayor lost Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond, and only his large vote in Manhattan pulled him through. He beat Bennett in the Bronx by only 628 votes. The revised figures for all the boroughs are as follows:

Boroughs.	Bennett.	Mitchel.	E. D. Miss'g.
Brooklyn	20,572	13,580	0
Totals	35,527	36,646	2

One of the unexpected results of the primaries was the large vote obtained by Controller Prendergast as compared to that for the Mayor. With 175 election districts still missing, the Controller's majority over that of Judson G. Wall, the Bennett candidate for Controller, was 15,106. It was generally believed that Controller Prendergast would run behind Mitchel. The vote for Controller by boroughs was as follows:

	Prendergast.	Wall.	E. D. miss'g.
Queens	2,679	1,815	26
City total	38,805	23,799	175

The best showing in the Republican primaries was made by Fire Commissioner Robert Adamson, Fusion candidate for President of the Board of Aldermen. The Fire Commissioner's majority over his opponent on the Bennett ticket, Frank W. Wilsey, was 23,207, with 189 election districts still to be heard from. The vote for Aldermanic President in all the boroughs was as follows:

	Adamson.	Wilsey.	E. D. Missing.
City total	41,834	18,627	189

Not all the surprises were confined to the Republican column. While Thomas E. Rush, who contested the nomination for Supreme Court Justice against John V. McAvoy in the Democratic primary, was decisively beaten, Rush polled an unexpectedly large vote. The latest returns showed that McAvoy had received 24,646 votes as against 13,126 for Rush. In Brooklyn, Bird S. Coler, independent candidate for the Borough Presidency nomination in the Democratic primaries, was defeated by Edward Riegelmann, Boss John H. McCooey's candidate, by only 1,155 votes. In Queens another surprise developed when the returns showed that Maurice E. Connolly, the regular Democratic nominee for Borough President, had a narrow escape from defeat at the hands of Martin Mager, a candidate little known in the Borough.

Bennett May Seek Recount.

Mr. Bennett charged yesterday morning that fraud had been committed and declared that he would demand a recount of the votes. Last night Mr. Bennett said he had not decided just what he would do. He said he was discussing the matter with his counsel and would not reach a decision until Monday. He refused to state whether he would run independently in the election. Should he decide to do so, political leaders predicted that Judge John F. Hylan, the Tammany candidate for Mayor, would win. A three-cornered Mayoralty fight, they pointed out, would be almost sure to defeat the Fusion candidate. Just how much Republican strength Mr. Bennett could carry into the election, however, was exceedingly problematical.

It was learned last night that a move-

China Offers 300,000 Men to Aid Allies on West Front

PEKING, Saturday, Sept. 15, (Delayed.)—Announcement was made in Governmental circles today that the Chinese Cabinet, if the Entente Powers approved, was willing to send 300,000 soldiers to France in compliance with the French request.

An appeal has been made to the United States to aid China, as the Entente Allied Powers were helped, financially, to equip her troops.

TOKIO, Sunday, Sept. 16, (Delayed.)—The Chinese Government has sounded Japan on the proposed dispatch of Chinese troops to Europe, and the indications are that Japan will offer no opposition to such action on the part of China.

CENSORSHIP FOR MAILS AND CABLES

GOES TO SENATE TOMORROW

Measure Aims to Cut Off German Sources of News—Heavy Penalties Are Provided.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A provision for censorship, under regulations of the President, of mail, cable, radio, or other communication between the United States and foreign countries, was written into the Administration Trading with the Enemy bill late today by the Senate and House conferees at a special meeting.

It is designed to prevent military information from reaching Germany by relay through Latin-American and other neutral countries.

The provision was inserted at the request of Federal Departments having knowledge that many messages have reached Germany, in code, by steamer and otherwise. It was made a part of the conferees' report concluded yesterday and will be presented to the Senate Saturday. The section reads:

"Whenever during the present war the President shall deem that the public safety demands, he may cause to be censored, under such rules and regulations as he may from time to time establish, communications by mail, cable, radio, or other means of transmission passing between the United States and any such foreign country as he may specify, or which may be carried by any vessel or other means of transportation touching at any port or place or territory and bound to or from any such foreign territory."

Another clause provides heavy penalties againt "any person who willfully evades, or attempts to evade, the submission of any such communication to such censorship or who willfully uses or attempts to use any code or other device for the purpose of concealing from such censorship the intended meaning of such communication."

A general mails censorship provision is now in operation, under a provision of the espionage act, but the new provision is regarded as greatly extending Government censorship authority.

The conferees were advised that many messages which have been intercepted are in the Government's possession in addition to those recently made public by the State Department in connection with transmission of information through official Swedish channels. Since the attack on General Pershing's expedition, due to advance information, the Government is said to have been extremely active in waylaying treasonable messages.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 20, (Dispatch to the London Morning Post.)—The public is now pretty well calmed regarding the possibility of a German dash upon Petrograd. Nevertheless, the evacuation of the city is being urged forward energetically for a variety of sufficient reasons.

The Germans will certainly not attempt to reach Petrograd by land this year. Apart from a roadless terrain of bogland, impassable during the rainy seasons of the year, this operation would require at least 400,000 men even supposing the Germans met with no opposition on their march. If the exhausted man power of the Germans can raise for service on the eastern front a half million more fighting men, which is a very large presumption, there is considerable doubt whether they would regard the possession of Petrograd as an objective worth such an extraordinary effort at this stage of war.

The Germans are, nevertheless, undoubtedly making strenuous efforts to raise another army. I hear that extraordinary measures of the last desperation have been taken to raise more men, for garrisons in the interior of Germany are being drawn off to the front and replaced by Turks. These are cheaper to feed and can be reckoned on to deal with merciless severity with any internal disorders.

For what special object of the war has Germany constrained herself to take this desperate measure? It is believed here that she hopes to complete that which even the appalling exodus of Russians from Galicia did not allow of fulfillment partly owing to the Germans' want of men on the spot and more owing to General Korniloff's drastic treatment of his soldiery, which produced a very fair resistance after a while to the further advance of the enemy.

Germany, since America has come into the war, feels more than ever the need of those rich, extensive corn lands that once were the granary of Europe. If Germany can raise another half million men for use on this side, it is believed that they will set on the task of seizing rich corn lands of Russia's black earth zone.

Issue Will Not Be Less Than $3,000,000,000, and May Be $4,000,000,000.

MANY ATTRACTIVE POSTERS

5,500,000 Pictorial Appeals to be Distributed Throughout the United States.

10,000,000 HONOR BADGES

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Without disclosing the amount or other important details, Secretary McAdoo announced tonight that the second issue of Liberty Loan bonds would be put on the market beginning Monday, Oct. 1.

The campaign will be conducted most intensively for twenty-seven days, and close on Oct. 27. The issue will be for not less than $3,000,000,000, and may run as high as $4,000,000,000. The $11,000,000,000 Bond bill, under authority of which the new bonds will be issued, will be in the hands of President Wilson for signature on Saturday.

Here is the text of Mr. McAdoo's announcement:

"The campaign for the second Liberty Loan will open Oct. 1 and close Oct. 27. Wednesday, Oct. 24, will be celebrated as Liberty Day throughout the country. Arrangements will be made to hold patriotic meetings on that day in every city, town, and village. Full details of the next Liberty Loan will be issued as soon as possible after the passage by Congress of the pending bond bill."

A feature of the campaign will be the intensive use of posters. Contracts were let three weeks ago for 5,500,000, which are now being manufactured and distributed throughout the country. The expectation is that they will all be in the hands of the committees for hanging by Oct. 1.

One of the most striking posters is a bronze tablet effect containing these quotations from President Wilson's speeches: "The time has come to conquer or submit. There was but one choice and we have made it." This poster contains a picture of President Wilson, on each side of which is the American shield. Another poster shows a little boy and a girl making this appeal: "Our daddy is to fight at the front for you. Back him up by buying a Liberty bond." A third poster is the work of Miss Eugenie De Land, art teacher in the Washington schools. It represents the Statue of Liberty with the American flag as the sky in faint colors. It bears the legend: "Before sunset buy a Liberty bond."

Still another poster represents Uncle Sam pointing to a khaki-clad soldier, and a warship, and to airplanes flying around the Statue of Liberty. It has this inscription from one of Secretary McAdoo's speeches: "Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?" One of the prettiest designs is a window card which is a facsimile of a bronze tablet. It is inscribed, "Buy a bond of the Second Liberty Loan."

Another striking poster is a picture of the Treasury Department, with this wording: "Lend your money to your Government." There is also a poster intended to appeal to the foreign-born element. It shows an immigrant ship coming into New York Harbor, passing the Statue of Liberty, with this appeal: "Remember your first thrill of liberty. Buy a Liberty bond."

Preliminary contracts for 10,000,000 "badges of honor" have been awarded by the Treasury Department, and deliveries are now being made to Liberty Loan Committees of the twelve Federal Reserve Districts. "Badge of honor" is the term which Secretary McAdoo has given to the button that will be handed to subscribers. The border of the button is in red and the centre in blue, with the bust of the Statue of Liberty and the words "I Own a Liberty Bond" in white.

It is believed that the sale of the second issue will proceed with even greater enthusiasm than did the first, and that the large number of persons who subscribed to bonds of the first issue and were finally, because of the tremendous oversubscription, unable to secure any bonds will now be prompt to renew their subscriptions. The amount of oversubscription to the first issue was $1,035,000,000. It is the confident belief Secretary McAdoo that fully one-half of the second issue of $3,000,000,000 of bonds will be taken within the first ten days of the period of sale.

BERLIN SAYS KAISER OFFERED NO REWARD

After Taking 3,000,000 Prisoners Germany Won't Pay for Any Americans, It Is Announced.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 20.—A Berlin dispatch from the Wolff Bureau, the semi-official news agency, received here today, denies as "a ridiculous invention" the report from Paris that the German Emperor had promised a reward of 300 marks and three weeks' leave to the first German who captured an American soldier.

The Wolff Bureau message adds that, after capturing 3,000,000 prisoners, Germany has no occasion to offer head money for any more.

A dispatch from Paris on Tuesday said the French authorities had informed the American Headquarters Staff that Emperor William had offered 300 marks and three weeks' leave as a reward to the first captor of an American soldier. A German prisoner, it was stated, said the offer was contained in an army order.

A dispatch from British Headquarters in France and Belgium on Saturday said the German General commanding the Eleventh Reserve Division had offered for the first American, dead or alive, 400 marks, two weeks' leave, and the Iron Cross of the first class as a reward for his captor. The diary of a captured Prussian Sergeant contained a note about this offer.

Americans Get War Crosses For Aiding French at Verdun

By The Associated Press.

AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Wednesday, Sept. 19, (Delayed.)—Brig. Gen. George B. Duncan and Major Campbell King are the first American officers to receive the War Cross in the French awards growing out of the American participation in the recent Verdun offensive, when they acted as observation officers in forward artillery posts. Whether the officers will be permitted to accept the decoration is not known.

The citation for General Duncan reads:

CHARGE IS CONSPIRACY

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20.—As a result of the murder of Policeman George A. Eppley in a political feud in the Fifth Ward yesterday, a warrant was issued today charging Mayor Thomas B. Smith and two other officials with conspiracy to commit a number of crimes, including murder.

The warrant was issued by Charles N. Brown, President Judge of the Municipal Court, on an affidavit made by State Representative Isadore Stern, a resident of the Fifth Ward. Accused with the Mayor are Councilman Isaac Deutsch and Police Lieutenant David Bennett.

The defendants have been notified by Judge Brown to appear before the Clerk of the Municipal Court tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. It is reported that bonds of $10,000 each will be demanded.

In his affidavit Mr. Stern charges Mayor Smith, Lieutenant Bennett, and Deutsch with "unlawfully and maliciously combining to procure, through themselves and others, officers and employes of the city to take an active part in political management and political campaigns, and use their offices to influence political movements and political action of other officers and employes, and to interfere with the conduct of an election to be held at said City of Philadelphia on the 19th day of September, 1917, and the preparation therefor, and in pursuance and execution of said conspiracy to commit assault and battery, aggravated assault and battery, and murder."

James Gay Gordon, counsel for Stern, said: "The prosecution is begun with the highest public purposes, and will be pursued to the end. No influence will be sufficient to call it off."

Mayor Had Been Warned.

Never before in the history of Philadelphia or any other large municipality in the United States, it is declared here, has a warrant been issued charging the chief executive with such a serious crime. The news came at te close of a day filled with investigations of the violence in the Fifth Ward resulting from the contest between Mercantile Appraiser James Carey and Councilman Deutsch for the Republican nomination for Select Council, which carried with it the leadership of the Republican Party in the ward.

Prominent men and women had expressed publicly their opinion that the Mayor was responsible for the deplorable conditions in the ward. He was warned long before primary election day that the activities of the police and thugs in the ward threatened to result in bloodshed, and that he would be held personally to blame for any crime committed.

Mayor Smith today pursued his daily routine. Although he had been notified by Judge Brown of the serious crime with which he is charged, he attended the dinner tonight in honor of Roland S. Morris, Ambassador to Japan, and said the warrant did not have the power to spoil his enjoyment.

Evidence of a Murder Plot.

Evidence that the murder was the result of a plot to kill James A. Carey, whose nomination was contested by Isaac Deutsch, was given at the hearing today of two alleged Jersey City gunmen, imported here, according to

SECRETARY WILSON AT HEAD

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Reports that labor disputes, fomented in some cases by I. W. W. and pro-German influences, threatened to hamper seriously the Government's war program caused President Wilson today to take personal charge of the situation. Employers and employes in shipyards and other industries where trouble has appeared will be asked by the President to come to terms without delay as a patriotic duty, and the Governors of States where the I. W. W. leaders have been active will be promised the full support of the Federal Government in putting an end to seditious practices.

The President's message will be carried over the country by a commission headed by William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, which was created today by Executive order. The commission will go first to the Pacific Coast to try to put an end to any remaining shipyard strikes and to take up the labor disputes in the Northwestern lumber camps where it is reported the I. W. W. has been at work in behalf of Germany.

This announcement was issued tonight by the Committee on Public Information:

"The following memorandum for the Secretary of Labor was signed by the President Sept. 19 and made public today:

The President's Memorandum.

I am very much interested in the labor situation in the mountain region and on the Pacific Coast. I have listened with attention and concern to the numerous charges of misconduct and injustice that representatives both of employers and of employes have made against each other. I am not so much concerned, however, with the manner in which they have treated each other in the past as I am desirous of seeing some kind of a working arrangement arrived at for the future, particularly during the period of the war, on a basis that will be fair to all parties concerned.

To assist in the accomplishment of that purpose I have decided to appoint a commission to visit the localities where disagreements have been most frequent as my personal representatives. The commission will consist of William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor; Colonel J. L. Spangler of Pennsylvania, Verner Z. Reed of Colorado, John H. Walker of Illinois, and E. P. Marsh of Washington. Felix Frankfurter of New York will act as Secretary of the commission.

It will be the duty of the commission to visit in each instance the Governor of the State, advising him that they are there as the personal representatives of the President, with a view to lending sympathetic counsel and aid to the State government in the development of a better understanding between laborers and employers, and also themselves to deal with employers and employes in a conciliatory spirit, seek to compose differences and allay misunderstanding, and in any way that may be open to them to show the active interest of the National Government in furthering arrangements just to both sides.

Wherever it is deemed advisable, conferences of employers and employes should be called with the purpose of working out a mutual understanding between them which will insure the continued operation of the industry on conditions acceptable to both sides. The commission should also endeavor to learn the real causes for any discontent which may exist on either side, not by the formal process of public hearings, but by getting into touch with workmen and employers by the more informal process of personal conversation.

I would be pleased to have the commission report to me from time to time such information as may require immediate attention.

WOODROW WILSON.

New Defensive Measures Winning Against U-Boats, Says British Authority, Confident of Success

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The Press Association hears on high naval authority that the new defensive measures against submarine warfare are meeting with success, justifying the hope of a further reduction in the losses, and says that it can be stated on official authority that the results of the methods adopted in the last month give cause for growing confidence.

According to an Admiralty statement, dozens of ships have been saved by the smokebox system, which the Admiralty during the last few months has supplied to a majority of British merchantmen.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Two French merchantmen of more than 1,600 tons and two vessels of less than that tonnage were sunk by submarines or mines in the week ended Sept. 19, according to an official statement given out today by the French Admiralty.

In this period 980 vessels arrived and 894 cleared at French ports. Two French ships were unsuccessfully attacked.

GREAT FOOD POOL TO HELP WIN WAR

BRITAIN TO SEND MISSION

Rhondda Announces That $1,250,000,000 Will Be Spent Here and in Canada.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Inauguration of a new food economy campaign in Great Britain was announced today by Baron Rhondda, the Food Controller. If voluntary measures fail, he said, "I shall have no compunction in putting the nation on compulsory rations."

Lord Rhondda added that the danger of the situation did not lie in the submarine peril but in the world's shortage of cereals, meat and fats. He made this statement to American correspondents here after telling them that the minimum food requirements from the United States and Canada during the forthcoming twelve months would be more than 10,000,000 tons, representing an expenditure of £250,000,000.

The Food Controller also announced measures for stabilizing the sugar trade, with a committee in New York to supervise Cuban purchases.

"The establishment of this committee and of a meats and fats executive," said Baron Rhondda, "is typical of the way in which we are all now working together to solve the allied food problem with the least possible dislocation of trade and in a united determination that the armies and civil populations shall be provided at a fair price with food enough to assure victory."

Meats and Fats Allotment.

"Most of the money we are to use is to be spent in the United States for cereals, meats, hog products, and sugar. In view of the figures, it is necessary to emphasize the vital importance of the continuance of the closest possible co-operation by Mr. Hoover, the American Food Administrator, Mr. Hanna, Food Controller of Canada, and myself.

"Several steps in this direction have been taken. The first is the appointment by France, Italy, and Great Britain of a meats and fats executive. In the future all Entente allied purchases of bacon, ham, lard, butter, and cheese in the United States will be pooled through this executive, eliminating competitive buying between the Allies, which raises prices in the United States and at home."

"Our buying organization in New York is receiving invaluable co-operation from Mr. Hoover. Of course, emergency measures such as those of today entail inconvenience and sacrifice, but I am glad to say that packers and agents here and on the other side are showing every disposition to co-operate. Executives of pool purchases of other foodstuffs may be established before long.

Owen Hugh Smith Heads Mission.

"A special mission representing the Ministry of Food will be leaving here for New York soon. Owen Hugh Smith, who has been Minister of Munitions, will head the mission, which will be attached to Lord Northcliffe's organization. Mr. Smith will be accompanied by various experts on food production and purchase.

"C. A. M. Phillips, who went to the United States with Foreign Secretary Balfour, has returned to England and been appointed by the War Cabinet as a channel of communication between the Government departments and the British mission in the United States."

Baron Rhondda also announced that Sir Joseph White Todd, a member of the British Sugar Commission, and J. R. Drake, a London broker, were going to New York as the British members of Mr. Hoover's Sugar Committee. Pending their arrival Baron Rhondda said, "As an instance of our complete confidence in Herbert Hoover's fairness and sound judgment," he had asked Mr. Hoover not to await the arrival of the British Commissioners but to go ahead and purchase and arrange the allocation of the Cuban crop on Great Britain's behalf.

Mr. Hoover has informed Baron Rhondda that the United States will not be a competitor in the Java market.

Inter-Allied Pooling Council.

The formation of an Inter-Allied Council to deal with the allocation of all war supplies required in the United States is rapidly progressing. Baron

EXPECT NEW NOTE BY POPE ON PEACE

PREDICTED FOR THIS MONTH

PARIS, Sept. 20.—A Rome dispatch to the Temps says it seems to be confirmed that Pope Benedict will send another note containing peace proposals to the belligerent powers toward the end of September.

The dispatch adds that the new note will be more specific and enter into greater details than the recent one.

BERLIN, Wednesday, Sept. 19, (via London, Sept. 20.)—While the text of the German reply to Pope Benedict's peace proposals will not be announced before Saturday, the Berlin press and parliamentary circles concur in the prediction that it will not contain specific declarations concerning Belgium.

The fate of that country just now is calling forth excessive Pan-German frothing, due to recurrent rumors that the Government has definitely decided to abandon all intentions of permanent control in the occupied Belgian territory. While these reports are said to have a basis in the alleged "trial balloon" sent out by England, they equally carry the earmarks of an obviously artificial inspiration for the purpose of supporting the annexationists' campaign.

Official quarters today were absolutely non-communicative on the subject of the German answer, outside of admitting that it will be delivered to the Papal delegate at Munich tomorrow. The impression prevailing in well-informed quarters is that the note will leave the subject of Belgium in abeyance. This is considered wholly in keeping with the Pope's present efforts at mediation, which, it is pointed out, do not call for the specific peace terms of any of the belligerents.

The German attitude on this point might be tersely expressed in this way: Germany considers Belgium too valuable a pawn to be exposed to jeopardy through an ill-timed or hasty move.

On the subject of international arbitration, the German note, it is believed, will express approval of the suggestion. However, in view of the previous failure of such an international tribunal, it is assumed that the Pope will come forward with proposals incorporating a scheme calculated practically to serve as an institution of international arbitration.

Vorwaerts Denounces Manifesto.

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 20.—The Berliner Tageblatt, discussing today the reply of the Central Powers to the peace proposals of Pope Benedict, says that the German Government, irrespective of the exchange of notes, will soon have an opportunity of making known its viewpoint regarding peace.

According to the Vorwärts of Berlin, this manifesto has been circulated throughout Germany:

"Citizens: The fatherland is in peril. It is in worse peril than three years ago. Today the enemy is in our midst and he is at work."

The newspaper remarks:

"It is not enough that the whole world is fighting us. The men who are responsible for this manifesto being issued also want to war against their own people. The civilian truce is over. Let us have a civilian war. Very well, let them have it. But the Reichstag must see to it that nothing shall interfere with the people's defense against the civil war agitators."

WANTS AUSTRIA TO 'MEDIATE.'

Can Try, Says Karolyi, Because Not One of "Chief Antagonists."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ZURICH, Sept. 20.—Count Karolyi, in his address on Tuesday to his Hungarian constituents, additional details of which have been received here, said that before the outbreak of the war he had been dissatisfied with the foreign policy of the Dual Monarchy, because he considered its influence in the Triple Alliance insufficient and because he saw peace endangered. Therefore he had sought an economic rapprochement with France by treating with French politicians and financiers. The war, he said, had frustrated his efforts.

His reason for founding his own party during the war, he said, was to secure the peace generally talked of in the monarchy today. The present state of mind was due, he said, to the party's efforts.

"How can peace without conqueror or conquered be obtained?" he asked. "Peace can only be successfully secured through official channels. Neutral States, the Socialists, and the Pope have

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Field Marshal Haig attacked the German lines east of Ypres at daybreak this morning on an eight-mile front. Tonight he reported that his forces had penetrated the German centre, (along the Ypres-Menin road,) to a depth of more than a mile, capturing all their objectives, including the village of Veldhoek. Further north the village of Zevenkote and some German guns were taken. Two thousand prisoners have already been counted.

The British infantry attack was preceded by a barrage which The Associated Press correspondent at the front calls the heaviest on record.

North Country and Australian battalions formed the center of the British attack at the points where the greatest progress was made.

Field Marshal Haig characterizes the day's operations as a "great success," and says that "positions of considerable military importance have been won."

The German casualties were heavy.

> Our attack this morning east of Ypres was made on a front of about eight miles between the Ypres-Comines Railway and the Ypres-Staden Railway. Great success attended our troops and positions of considerable military importance have been won. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy.
> The assembling of the regiments detailed for the attack was carried out without incident, although rain fell steadily during the night. Our first objectives, captured at an early hour, included a number of concreted strong points and fortified farms, for the possession of which heavy fighting had taken place during previous attacks.
> North Country regiments carried the Inverness Copse. Australian troops stormed Glencorse Wood and Nonneboschen, (Nun's Wood.) Scottish and South African brigades took Potsdam, Vampire, and Borey Farms. West Lancashire Territorials carried Iberian Farm and the strong point known as Gallipoli. Our troops then advanced to assault their final objectives.
>
> On our right English county troops reached the line of their final objectives after sharp fighting in the woods north of the Ypres-Comines canal and in the neighborhood of Tower Hamlets.
>
> In the centre North Country and Australian battalions penetrated the German positions to a depth of over a mile and captured the whole of their objectives, including the Hamlet of Veldhoek and the western portion of Polygon Wood.
>
> Further north Zevenkote was captured and London and Highland Territorials carried the second line of farms, including Rose farm, Quebec farm, and Wurst farm, on the line of their final obectives.
> During the morning the weather cleared and our airplanes were able to take a more active part in the battle, indicating the position of our troops and reporting hostile concentrations to our artillery. In this way a number of German counterattacks were broken up, while others were repulsed by the rifle and machine-gun fire of our infantry.
> No accurate estimate of the number of prisoners captured can yet be given, but they are known to exceed 2,000. We also captured a few guns.

The announcement of the beginning of the offensive was made this morning in the following report:

> We attacked at 5:40 o'clock this morning on a wide front east of Ypres. Satisfactory progress is reported. Our troops already nave captured some valuable positions.

Heaviest Barrage Ever Known.

The Associated Press correspondent with the British armies in France and Belgium telegraphs as follows:

"The British at daybreak today launched a heavy offensive against the German defenses about the Ypres salient along an extended front, which has its centre around Inverness Copse, and astride the Ypres-Menin road, a little southeast of Hooge. From the first moment of going 'over the top' the assault proceeded with marked success, especially in the crucial sector between the Ypres-Roulers Railway and Hollebeke, where the British early in the day had forced their way forward over marshy ground and through woods filled with machine guns to a considerable depth, and were continuing the bitter fight in the neighborhood of the famous Inverness Copse, Nun's Wood, and Glencorse Wood, where so much blood has been shed since the Allies began the battle of Flanders on July 31.

"If the attacking forces maintain the positions to which they have advanced in this section, they will have achieved one of the most remarkable and most important successes in recent months. The German infantry made the most determined resistance in their attempt to retain this vital ground, and the artillery retaliated heavily against the British big guns.

"This phase of the Battle of Flanders, which bids fair to become known as the Battle of Menin Road, began at 5:40 o'clock. The infantry advance was preceded by a barrage of greater depth than has ever before been witnessed. Five distinct barrages, in fact, were dropped ahead of the men as they began their journey into this difficult terrain. The tremendous curtain of bursting steel did its work well, and the troops pushed forward rapidly toward their objectives.

"Fair weather lately had improved the ground somewhat, but the mud still lies deep over wide reaches of it, and the whole territory is covered with water-filled shell holes, tangled barbed wire, and shattered trees. The German defenses consisted largely of concrete redoubts scattered in profusion over the entire country, and from these they have been able to pour a wicked stream of bullets into the ranks of the advancing troops. Every little elevation also held its machine gun emplacements, and all the woods were literally choked with rapid firers.

"The British encountered hard fighting at many places, but the magnificent artillery preparation had done much to make the first stage of their drive easier. The past week must have been one of misery for the German troops lying out in this section. A great number of big guns have been pouring a steady stream of high explosive shells into their territory, and every now and then the British have put down a barrage which swept the land like a broom. It is know that many German batteries have been silenced in the past few days.

"The Germans knew that an attack was coming, but it appears that they were unaware of the exact locality, at least until the time for the offensive arrived. A light rain fell last night, but it cleared this morning, and the visibility is improving."

Only a Few Tanks Employed.

The Reuter correspondent at British Headquarters has telegraphed these details of Field Marshal Haig's success:

"Quite shortly after the opening of the attack, one unit reported sixty prisoners had come in. Another reported over fifty. It is reasonable to count upon a very considerable haul of prisoners.

"Tanks were employed in limited numbers, for the ground does not favor their use; but some of these machines were seen by the airmen moving to the assistance of the infantry, where the latter were temporarily held up.

"The flying men are taking a great part in the battle, and are carrying out a much more elaborate and co-ordinated offensive than on any previous occasion."

"The first advance the British made very rapidly, the men being in light skirmishing order, and the Germans confess that they were surprised at such a quickly delivered attack. It is noteworthy that the British swept over places which have figured so frequently in communiqués since the end of July as serious obstacles, such as Pommern Castle and redoubt, the Iberian blockhouse, and Gallipoli.

"Pill-Boxes" Gave Trouble.

"Schuler Gallery, a long line of 'pill-boxes,' [fortified shell craters,] gave considerable trouble, but the dash of our men was irresistible. Our walking wounded report that every shell-hole and pill-box yielded its quota of anything between a dozen and thirty prisoners. Some surrendered without firing a shot; others made stubborn resistance by fire and bomb throwing.

"As our barrage crept toward them the occupants of these defensive positions issued with fixed bayonets, manifestly in accordance with previous orders to receive the attack; but generally, when they saw our infantry sweeping toward them, they surrendered. The larger proportion of the prisoners are quite young and chiefly Bavarians.

"Under cover of a heavy protective barrage, the work of consolidation has been strenuously progressing throughout the afternoon. Our lighter batteries have been got forward in wonderful fashion.

"Fluctuating Fighting," Says Berlin.

BERLIN, Sept. 20, (via London.)—The report from headquarters this evening on the British attack says:

The battle in Flanders is still in full swing on the British front from Langemarck to Hollebeke. In the foremost part of our defensive zone bitter and fluctuating fighting has taken place since morning.

The earlier official communication was as follows:

In Flanders a strong artillery duel lasted throughout the day between Houthulst Wood and the Lys with undiminished intensity. Bursts of fire of the greatest violence were directed in turn on some sectors of our defense zone. The night did not interrupt the increased fighting activity of the massed artillery.

A formidable drum-fire early this morning was followed at daybreak, according to reports at present to hand, by strong English attacks on a broad front.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The Germans on the Champagne front this afternoon launched an attack against the French lines southeast of Cernay, but it was checked before the assailants could reach their objective.

This afternoon, after a violent bombardment, the Germans delivered an attack against our positions southeast of Cernay. Checked by our fire, the enemy was not able to reach our lines.

The report issued this afternoon said:

There was nothing to report except great activity of the artillery in the region south of the River Oise, in the sectors of Cornillet and Mont Hut, in the Champagne, and on both banks of the River Meuse.

BERLIN, (British Admiralty, per Wireless Press,) Sept. 20.—The repulse of French attacks north of Verdun are recorded in the official report issued today, which says:

FRONT OF THE GERMAN CROWN PRINCE.—Before Verdun the French attacked yesterday morning and evening near Hill 344 and east of Samogneax, where on the previous day they had sustained a sanguinary check. Their latest attack was again without success.

Twenty enemy airplanes were shot down.

"SQUEEZING" OF LENS GOES ON.

Canadians Gradually Occupying Ground with Little Fighting.

CANADIAN HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Sept. 20.—Pressure upon the defenses of Lens is unrelenting, and the Germans are being squeezed out of the town. Posts have been pushed out into No Man's Land again in the region southeast of St. Laurent, and the ground in defense of which the Germans fought fiercely a month ago has been occupied by the Canadians almost without a struggle.

If credence can be placed upon the reports of German prisoners, the garrison would welcome the order to evacuate. Enemy orders, however, are to hold on at all costs.

MENACE BRITISH GUNS.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—An official communication regarding the work of the aviators on the British front issued tonight, says:

"The enemy aircraft on Wednesday took advantage of the exceptionally strong west wind to make repeated attacks upon our artillery, the machines turning east at once when approached by our scouts. Nevertheless, considerable artillery work was done with our airplane observations, and many photographs were taken.

"Parties of hostile troops and transport were engaged by machine gun fire during the day, and over one and a half tons of bombs were dropped on various targets. Another ton of bombs was dropped during the night on the enemy's billets and hutments, in spite of most unfavorable weather.

"Six German machines were brought down in the fighting and four were driven down out of control. Seven of ours are missing."

AUSTRIAN EMPEROR NEARLY CAPTURED

LULL ALL ALONG THE LINE

General Cadorna Counsels Patience, Resolution, and Unity of Purpose to Achieve Final Victory.

GENEVA, Sept. 20.—An official Austrian telegram from Landeck, in the Tyrol, states that Emperor Charles, with a large staff, in automobiles, visited the Alpine outposts of the Austrians in the Trentino, and that his visit took place since Sept. 15.

After crossing the huge Ortler Glacier on foot, and also the Trafoier Glacier, whose summit the Italians possessed, the journey was continued in Stelvio Pass, within 600 yards of the Italian trenches on the ice.

The telegram declares that the Emperor's visit was brave but risky, and adds, "Although the attention of the enemy was attracted by the important escort, the Emperor's descent from Stelvio Pass was performed without incident."

A Lugana report, confirmed by Swiss troops watching on Stelvio Pass, states that the Emperor and his whole staff narrowly escaped capture, because the Italian Commander was informed by an aviator that many automobiles were in the vicinity. The Italian troops thereupon attacked and captured an Alpine outpost, while the royal motor party fled down the Stelvio route under machine-gun fire. The party, however, arrived safely at Prad, and then proceeded to Meran.

CADORNA URGES PATIENCE.

Counsels Resolution and Singleness of Purpose in the War.

By PERCEVAL GIBBON.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES

ITALIAN HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 20.—This morning the war correspondents accredited to the Italian Supreme Command met General Count Cadorna, who, after a brief address, shook hands and conversed with each of them. The occasion was the forty-seventh anniversary of the entry of the Italian troops into Rome by the breach in the wall near the Porta Pia, where Cadorna, who entered Rome as aide de camp of his father, witnessed the foundation of that united Italy to whose greatness he is now setting the seal of victory.

"Social discipline" was his text, the need for unity and singleness of purpose in this conflict with the enemy, who, despite the hardships which have ensued from the war, hardships greater than those endured y the countries of the Alliance, shows still no signs of yielding under the strain. Patience and resolution were two essentials to victory. "Two years of war," said the General, "have done more to develop these virtures than all the years of peace which preceded them."

Cadorna concluded with a generous acknowledgment of the functions performed by the press in revealing to the world Italy's difficulties and achievements. The General spoke with that facility and precision of phrase which are characteristic of him, while a touch of smiling good humor tempered the force and directness of his demeanor.

I had seen him previously only here and there upon the front, his cap brim pulled rather low on his forehead, and obscured in a galaxy of lesser officials. Now, bareheaded and standing at a table in his own quarters and talking at ease in a kind of hospitable intimacy, there appeared some of the real quality of the man. There was ardor in him, a cordiality of thought, and a vivacity of imagination that warmed through the polish of his neat phrases. One recognized in the artist who threw an army across the Isonzo in the night the dreamer of fantastic victories whose dreams come true.

The lull which follows battles still continues. It is a reason for that patience of which Cadorna spoke. The enemy upon his new lines is pulling together his broken forces and endeavoring to repair the gaps made in his fighting strength by losses of over 30,000 prisoners, besides killed and wounded, with new divisions from the East, some at least of which have already yielded prisoners. Captured Russians are working in thousands in the Russian rear at roadmaking and similar tasks.

ROME, Sept. 20.—Reporting military operations on the Austro-Italian front yesterday, the official statement given out today at the War Office says: "On the whole front there was moderate activity. There was no important event."

Prisoners taken on the Carso front include several Turks, which proves, Italian army officers say, that Austria-Hungary is getting reserves from every possible quarter in making a last desperate effort to stem the Italian advance.

REPORT AUSTRIANS CRUEL.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Italian soldiers captured by the Austrians are insulted, struck with swords, fired at by officers engaging in target practice, and spat upon, according to an unofficial dispatch from Rome received here today. It states that Hungarian officers amuse themselves by throwing pieces of bread to Italian prisoners who have not tasted food for four days, and then, as the starving men scramble for it, go among them distributing kicks.

It is asserted that the nourishment prepared for the prisoners is so refined as to destroy the organisms, several men already having died as a result. The prisoners have been tortured in many ways, the dispatch asserts, some of the methods being to stretch them on chairs, tie them to poles, and leave them until they faint. They are then revived, so that their torment may be prolonged.

Against every rule of civilized warfare they are assigned to work in munitions factories, in fortifications, and in roadbuilding in the fighting zones. Italian prisoners who have been wounded while working under fire are required to work fifteen hours a day in the Hungarian and Bulgarian hospitals. Their sufferings from cold, hunger, and inhuman hardships are declared to be such that sometimes the men take their own lives.

ITALIAN HOSPITALS EFFICIENT.

Colonel Baker Describes Conditions as He Saw Them.

ROME, Wednesday, Sept. 19, (delayed.)—Lieut. Col. George F. Baker, Chairman of the American Red Cross Commission to Italy, has just returned from a fortnight's visit to the Italian front, where he traveled the whole distance from the Carso to the Trentino with a view to making a report on the assistance which the United States can give in this hard-fought field. Speaking to The Associated Press Colonel Baker said:

"I had an opportunity to see the hospitals and ambulances care for wounded men from the time they first came into the hands of the doctors until they finall ywere transferred to the base hospitals. Nobody can have a correct impression of the difficulties on the Italian front and the admirable way in which the army met them unless he sees them with his own eyes.

"I saw the small advanced dressing stations of two or three little rooms. Through one of these more than 11,000 wounded passed in seventeen days. I saw many base hospitals containing from 300 to 3,000 beds. These hospitals often were installed in buildings of separate wards where, before the war, no buildings existed. In other cases houses and buildings already standing were used. I found without exception cleanliness, effective maintenance, and most skillful doctors and surgeons.

"The American commission visited a number of camps of Austrian prisoners containing 3,000 to 5,000 men each. It was a pleasure to see the camps so well conducted and such high regard shown for the prisoners. Ordinary soldiers in the prisoners' camps slept in tents and the officers were quartered in huts. The prisoners received the same rations as those given to Italian soldiers.

"Talking with individual prisoners I found they had nothing but good to say of the treatment received from the Italians. There certainly was every evidence that the prisoners not only were well cared for but were humanely treated.

"The hospitality of the people we met and their genuine welcome were something we never shall forget. Everywhere there was evidence of the sympathy existing between the people of Italy and the United States. Our trips were both easy and delightful through the spirit in which we were received."

ASSAILS 'WILSON FURIOSUS.'

Cologne Paper Angry Because He Can Influence German-Americans.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Sept. 20.—The Cologne Volkszeitung continues its campaign against German Americans who express loyalty to the United States. It says:

"Many German Americans have notified the authorities of a change of name to Anglo-Saxon names. Thus the well-known and respected family of 'Ehrensberger' becomes 'Earns' and the family of 'Kaiser' becomes 'Swain.' Perhaps the latter desires to be known in good German as Schwein.

"The pressure exercised by President Wilson on public opinion is so great that even the German-American newspapers, though obviously with heavy hearts, approve his answer to the Pope. The ex-Professor in the White House employs all the witches' cauldron brew of despotism and autocracy with great skill, all the time shouting the word 'Liberty.'"

The paper then denounces Wilson for taking a lead in the capture of the German markets in South America, saying:

"There were Americans who thought that proceeding rather undignified, but fellows like Wilson care little about dignity where there is money to be made. They consnder that they are not caid to be dignified."

The article is headed, "Wilson Furious."

PRAISE FOR ROESEMEIER.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Professor Canon William Sanday, writing from Oxford to The London Times, says that the extracts from Hermann Rösemeier's article in THE NEW YORK TIMES, cabled by the New York correspondent of the London paper, "would alone be worth the price of the number."

"I take it," he adds, "as a final and sufficient answer to pacifists of all descriptions."

GERMAN BARRIER BROKEN BY ENGLISH

Positions on High Ground Which Had Previously Impeded the Advance Are Captured.

BLOCKHOUSES ARE RUSHED

New Methods Enable Attackers to Overcome Menace of Deadly Concrete Redoubts.

By PHILIP GIBBS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

WAR CORRESPONDENTS' HEADQUARTERS, Sept. 20.—The British troops attacked this morning before 6 o'clock on a wide front north and south of the Ypres-Menin Road and have gained important ground all along the line. It is ground for which during the last six weeks there has been that heroic and desperate fighting which I described as best I could in my messages, giving even at best only a vague idea of the difficulties encountered by those men who made great sacrifice in great endeavors.

It is ground which in the centre rises up through the sinister woodlands of Glencorse Wood and Inverness Copse to the high grounds of Polygon Wood, and the spurs of the Passchendaele Ridge, which form the enemy's great defensive barrier to the east of the Ypres salient. Until that highland was taken progress was difficult for the British troops on the left across the Steenbeke, as the enemy's guns could still hold the commanding positions.

The ground over which the British swept this morning was assaulted again and again by troops who ignored their losses and attacked with the most desperate and glorious courage, yet failed to hold what they had gained for a time, because their final goal was attained with weakened forces, after most fierce and bloody fighting. The Empire knows who those men were—old English county regiments, who never fought more gallantly; Scots, who only let go of their forward positions under overwhelming pressure and annihilating fire; Irish divisions, who suffered the supreme ordeal and earned new and undying honors by the way they endured the fire of many guns for many days.

As long as history lasts the name of these woods, from which most of the trees have been swept, and of these bogs and marshes which lie about them will be linked with the memory of those brave battalions who fought through them again and again. They are not less to be honored than those who, with the same courage, just as splendidly fought through them again over the same tracks, past the same death traps, and achieved success by different methods, by learning from what the first men had suffered.

British Casualties Small.

This last attack has not as yet been high in cost, and the British hold what the enemy used all his strength and cunning to prevent their getting. He used great cunning and poured up great reserves of men and guns to smash the assaulting lines. For the first time on July 31 the British came up against his new and fully prepared system and the power of it.

Abandoning the old trench system, which we could knock to pieces with artillery, he made his forward positions without any definite line and built a great number of concrete blockhouses so arranged in depth that they defended one another by enfilading fire, and so strong that nothing but a direct hit from one of our heavier shells would damage them; and a direct hit is very difficult to make on a small mark like one of those concrete houses, holding about ten to twenty men at a minimum and fifty to sixty in their largest.

These little garrisons were mostly machine gunners and picked men, especially trained for outpost work, and could inflict great damage on an advancing battalion, so that the forward lines passing through and beyond them would be spent and weak. Then behind, in reserve, lay the German shock troops, specially trained also for the counterattacks which were launched with strong striking forces against our advanced lines after all their struggle and loss.

The Formidable Blockhouses.

Those blockhouses proved formidable things—hard nuts to crack, as the soldiers said who came up against them. There were scores of them, whose names will be remembered through a lifetime by the men of many battalions, and they cost the lives of many brave men.

Beck House and Bairy Farm belong to Irish history. Wurst farm and Winnipeg, Bremen redoubt, and Gallipoli, the Iberian and Delta farms, are strongholds around which many desperate little battles, led by young subalterns or sergeants, took place on the last day of July and on many days since.

English and Scots have taken turns in attacking and defending such places as Fitz Clarence Farm, Northampton Farm, and Black Watch Corner, in the dreadful region in Inverness Copse, and Glencorse Wood. Today the hard nut of the concrete blockhouse has been cracked by a new method of attack and by a new assault planned with great forethought and achieved so far with high success.

I should like to give full details of the preparations which made this success possible, and the methods by which some, at least, of the terrors of the blockhouse have been laid low; but it cannot yet be done, and it is enough now that good results have been attained.

Weather Against the British.

One thing was against the British as usual. Last night, after several fine days, the weather turned bad again, and last night many men must have looked up at the sky, groaned and said: "Just our luck!" At half past ten it began to rain heavily, and all through the night there was a steady drizzle. It was awful to think of that ground about the woodlands, already full of water-holes and bogs, becoming more and more of a quagmire as the time drew near when the men would have to rise from the mud and follow the barrage across that ground.

All through the night the British heavy guns were slogging, and through the dark, wet mist there was the blurred light of their flashes. Before dawn a high wind was raging at thirty miles an hour across Flanders, and the heaving, waterclogged clouds were only 400 feet above the earth. How could the airmen see? When the attack began they could not see. Even when they flew as low as 200 feet they could see nothing but the smoke, which clung low to the battlefield, and could only guess the whereabouts of the German batteries. Later, when some progress had been made at most points of the attacking line, the sky cleared a little. Blue spaces showed through the black storm clouds, and there were gleams of the sun striking aslant the mists.

Aircraft Busy at Work.

This sky over the salient was a strange vision, and I have seen nothing like it since the war began. It was filled with little black specks like midges, but each midge was a British airplane flying over the German lines. The Germans tried to clear the air of them and the anti-aircraft guns were firing wildly, so that all about them were puffs of black shrapnel. Behind, closely clustered, were the British kite balloons, like snow clouds where they were caught by the light staring down over the battle and in wide semi-circles about the salient.

The heavy British guns were firing hammerstrokes, followed by the shrill cry of traveling shells, making a barrage before the troops and having blockhouses for their targets and building walls of flying steel between the Germans and the attacking troops.

In the near distance were the strafed woods of old battle grounds, like Wychtshaete Ridge and Messines, with their naked gallows trees all blurred in the mist.

The troops had lain out all night in the rain before the attack at something before 6 o'clock. They were wet through to the skin, but it is curious that some of them, whom I saw today, were surprised to hear that it had been raining hard; they had other things to think about. But some of them did not think at all. Tired out in mind and body under the big nervous strain which is there, though they may be unconscious of it, they slept.

"I was awakened by a friend just before we went over," said one of them. "The anxiety of the officers was intense for the hours to pass before the enemy should get a hint of the movement."

It seemed that in one part of the line the Germans did guess that something was in the wind, and in the midst, (this was on the line facing Glencourse Wood,) for an hour or two before the attack, they put over a heavy barrage, but most of it missed the heads of the battalions. There were some casualties, but the men stood firm, never budging and making no sound. They all thought that some of their comrades must have been badly caught, but far as I can find, it did not do great damage.

All along the line the experience of fighting was probably the same, apart from local details and difficulties. The ground was not quite so bad as had been expected, though bad enough, being slippery and boggy after the rain, but not impassable. The shell holes were waterlogged and dangerously deep for badly wounded men, who might fall in. But for the others there was generally a way round over ground which would hold, and the assaulting waves, who led the advance, were lightly clad and could go at a fair pace after the barrage.

"I saw wounded men fall in the shell holes," said one lad today, "and God knows how they got out again, unless the stretcher bearers came up quick, as most of 'em did."

The barrage ahead of them was terrific, the most appalling fence of shells that had ever been placed before advancing troops in this war. All the men describe it as wonderful. "Beautiful" is a word they use, too, because they know what it means in safety to them.

In the direction of the Polygon Wood the plan of attack seems to have worked like clockwork. The assaulting troops moved forward behind the barrage, stage by stage through Westhoek and Nonneboschen and across Hannebeke stream on their left with hardly a check, in spite of the German blockhouses scattered over this country. In those blockhouses small garrisons of picked troops had been demoralized, as any human beings would be by the enormous shellfire which had been flung around them. Some, but not all, it seems, of the blockhouses had been smashed and in those still standing the German machine-gunners got their weapons to work with a burst or two of fire, but then seeing the British troops on them, they were seized with fear and made signs of surrender.

Swift Morning Advance.

At 9 o'clock this morning the good news came back that the troops were through Glencorse Wood. A later message showed that the troops were fighting their way into Polygon Wood. They swept over the strong points at Black Watch Corner, Northampton Farm, and Carlisle Farm. There was stiff fighting round the blockhouse, called Anzac Corner, east of Hennebeke stream, and it was necessary to organize two flank attacks and work round it before the machine gun fire could be silenced by bombs.

In another case near here the Germans came out of a blockhouse, ready to attack, but when they say the British swarming up, they lost heart and held up their hands.

It is difficult to know how many prisoners were taken i nthese woods and strong points. The men's estimates vary enormously, some speaking of scores and others of hundreds.

All this time the German artillery reply was not exceptionally heavy and though it was prompt to come after first S O S signals went up from the lines, it was erratic and varied very much in different sectors of the line according to success of the British counter-battery work which all through the night and for days past had been smothering the foe's guns.

South of the attack in Glencorse and the Polygon Woods the assault in Inverness Copse and Shrewsbury forest and across the boglands round Dumbarton Lakes went with equal success. It was the vilest ground, low lying and flooded, strewn with broken trees and choked with undergrowth, but the troops here kept up a good pace and flung themselves upon the blockhouses which stood in the way.

At an early hour the British were reported to be on the ridge southeast of Inverness Copse and going strong toward Veldhoek. The German barrage came down too late and one officer, who was wounded by a shell splinter, led his men, 160 of them, to their first position with only nine casualties.

Most of the British losses today were from machine gun fire out of blockhouses and that varied very much at different parts of the line. There was some trouble at Paopotje Farm where a party of German machine gunners put up a desperate resistance, shutting themselves in behind steel doors before they were routed out by bombing.

The fight southward from the strong point, called Groenberg or Green Bug Farm, to Opaque Wood by the Ypres Comines Canal was successful, though the Germans are still holding in Hessian Wood, where they are defending themselves in a group of blockhouses.

I have dealt so far with the centre of the attack, and I know very little as to the fighting on the north, except that the British have swept past the whole system of blockhouses like Beck House and Bairy Farm, running up through Gallipoli, Kansas Cross, and Wurst Farm across Langemarck and the Zonnebeke Road.

Wounded Carried in Trolleys.

All through the morning slightly wounded men came filtering down into safer places in the Ypres salient, and then to the quiet fields behind. They were in good spirits, in spite of the mud which caked them and the smart of their wounds. Some of them were brought down on trolley trains, which go almost as far as the battle line, and some in open buses, and some by German prisoners; but there were many Germans among the wounded—some of them with very ghastly wounds—and these took their places with the British and mingled with them in the dressing stations and received the same treatment.

The British wounded told some strange tales of their experiences, but there was no moan among them, whatever they had suffered.

German Snipes His Own Officer.

One man described to me how he saw a German officer run out of a blockhouse which had been blown in at each end by heavy shellfire and make for another one which still stood intact. With some of his comrades the Englihsman chased him, and there was a great fight in the second blockhouse before the survivors surrendered, among them the officer, who gave to my friend a big china pipe and a case full of cigars as souvenirs. He was killed afterward by one of his own men who sniped him as he was walking back to the British lines.

In another strong point there was a great and terrible fight. The Prussian garrison refused to surrender and a party of British fought them until they were destroyed.

"It was more lively than Wychtschaete," said a man who was in this fight, "it was less tame-like, and the Fritzies put up a better show."

They fought hard here and there, round the Prince's House and Jarrocks Farm, and Pioneer House, not far from Hollebeke Château.

Prisoners Badly Shaken.

The prisoners I saw today were shaken men, most of them young fellows of 21, belonging to the 1916 class, and there was none of the youngest boys among them but they were white-faced and haggard, and looked like men who had passed through a great terror, which, indeed, was their fate. They belonged mostly to the 207th Prussian Division and had suffered before the battle from the great shell fire, which caused many casualties among their reliefs and ration parties. Many other prisoners belonged to the 121st Division.

I can give only this glimpse or two of the crowded scenes and many details of today's battle. Tomorrow there will be time, perhaps, to write more, giving an insight into this day of good success, which is cheering after so much desperate fighting—over the same fields, although never to so far a goal.

KERENSKY TACKLES BOLSHEVIK PERIL

CRISIS BECOMING ACUTE

Revolutionary Committees Seize Power in Several Provincial Towns —Finns Plan New Move.

By HAROLD WILLIAMS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PETROGRAD, Wednesday, Sept. 19.—I am perfectly convinced that Russia will in the long run surmount her difficulties, and that stability and continuity of authority will be secured. The prospects for the immediate future, however, are not encouraging. The Bolsheviki or Leninites are again very active.

As I have already reported, the Soviet has summoned what is known as a democratic conference for next Monday. This is a conference of all bodies who accepted the resolution proposed by Cheidse at the Moscow conference; that is to say, it will be a Socialist caucus. The Bolsheviks are now making every effort to capture this conference and make it serve as the instrument of their own purposes.

The more moderate Socialists assert the caucus will reaffirm the principle of a coalition Government, and will sit for only four or five days. The Bolsheviks, on the contrary, aim at making the assembly a kind of Parliament, which will elect a Socialist Ministry, seize all power, and then remain in session as a legislative body. The Bolsheviks alone are not strong enough numerically to carry through such a policy, but they are encouraged by the ambiguous attitude of the social revolutionaries led by Chernoff.

Chernoff, since he left the Government, has been carrying on a curious agitation. Immediately after his resignation he placarded the whole town with a proclamation to peasants and soldiers assuring them that though no longer Minister he would work harder than ever in their interests. He inundated his organ, the Dyelo Naroda, with articles full of insinuations and open charges against Kerensky, charges which the Premier, in The Volia Naroda, the organ of the pro-war minority of the Social Revolutionary Party, flatly stigmatized as lies. Chernoff, moreover, has been very active in the Soviet and the idea of a Democratic Conference is directly attributed to his suggestion. It may be that the exposures of The Volia Naroda will provoke a schism in the Social Revolutionary Party, but meantime the Central Committee and its following are entirely in the hands of Chernoff.

However that may be, with or without the connivance of the social revolutionaries, the Bolsheviks are working hard to secure victory. The very fact that the Government, in its efforts to suppress the Korniloff movement, was compelled to fall back on the Left for support stimulated the Bolshevik agitation. Various committees, formed to combat the counter-revolution, show no disposition to disband. The workmen have not been disarmed, and the adoption of a Bolshevik resolution by the Petrograd Soviet led to the resignation of the more moderate executive, including Tcheidse and Tseretelli.

From other towns come reports that Bolshevik tendencies are dominant and that revolutionary committees are seizing power. The Moscow Soviet has passed a resolution even more radically Bolshevik than that passed by the Petrograd Soviet. It demands not only the establishment of a Socialistic Government, but the publication of secret treaties, immediate declaration of peace, immediate transfer of all lands to the peasantry, and the attribution of legislative functions to the Democratic Conference. In Kharkov and several other towns the local Soviets have seized administrative power. In Tiflis the Government Commissaries for the Caucasus have been ousted by the Socialist Committee.

All these facts indicate that the moment of decisive conflict cannot long be postponed.

Strange news comes from Finland. It is reported that the Finnish parties are holding secret consultations, and that, using as a pretext the proclamation of the republic in Russia, they are prepared to reassert their claim for independence. This movement obviously is not wholly unconnected with the demand of the Moscow Soviet that all nationalities, and particularly Finland and Ukraine, should have complete liberty to decide their own fate.

The Government is preparing its own measures. It intends forming a coalition Government this week so as to face the Democratic Conference with the accomplished fact. It is carefully watching Finland, and altogether it is thoroughly aware of the possibilities of the situation.

BEAT GERMANS BACK ON THE RIGA FRONT

Russians in Counterattack Inflict Heavy Losses—Rumanians Lose Ground.

PETROGRAD, Sept. 20, (British Admiralty per Wireless Press.)—The Russians yesterday on the Riga front repulsed an attack by the Germans with great losses to the invaders, according to the statement issued today by the Russian War Office. The Rumanians were compelled to abandon enemy positions that they had occupied in the region of Ocna. The text of the statement follows:

Northern, Western and Southwestern (Russian) Fronts: Yesterday in the direction of Riga the enemy's infantry conducted an offensive in the region east of Lemburg. In a daring counterattack by Letts, with the energetic co-operation of our artillery, the enemy was driven back and suffered great losses. In other sectors on these fronts there were fusillades.

Our airmen successfully bombed enemy depots in the region of Podrezyn, on the north shore of Lake Narocz. Enemy airmen dropped bombs in the neighborhood of the railway stations at Dubno and Radzivilov.

Rumanian Front: In the region of Ocna the enemy counterattacked Tuesday, forcing the Rumanians to abandon a sector of enemy positions that they had occupied. In the region south of Grozechti the Rumanians took prisoner two officers and thirty-three men. Yesterday nothing of material consequence occurred on this front.

Caucasian Front: East of Van our troops have been engaged in battle with a band of Kurds. The snow in places is four feet deep in the mountain theatre. In the region southwest of Kalkit and southeast of Erzignan a snowstorm is raging, accompanied by a freezing temperature.

PAINLEVE UPHOLDS ATTITUDE OF WILSON

PARIS, Wednesday, Sept. 19.—(Delayed.)—Premier Painlevé made a speech in the Chamber of Deputies today in the debate which preceded the vote of confidence in the Government by 378 to 1, the Socialists abstaining from voting.

Replying to interpellations by Deputy Frederic Brunet, who asked the Government to associate itself with President Wilson's refusal to treat with the German people so long as they were submissive to the military caste, and advocating the institution of a society of nations, the Premier said he had made every effort to preserve collaboration with the Socialists.

"I failed and I regret it," he said.

The Chamber applauded the Premier's allusions to the society of nations and President Wilson's message as principles to which France fully adhered, thereby showing her abnegation and moral grandeur.

Alexandre Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, told the Chamber that all documents concerning France's agreements with the Allies were ready and could be published tomorrow, but that the Entente allied nations must be consulted, saying "the nearer we reach the end of the war the closer must be our unity with them." M. Ribot added that France could not reply to Pope Benedict's note without an agreement with her allies, but "our war aims are known and we are ready to constitute a society of nations when we have the necessary guarantees."

After paying a tribute to Albert Thomas's services, the Premier said that the absence of Socialist Ministers would make no change in his policy. He declared his determination to proceed energetically against all intrigues and certain foreign agents, but added that he did not intend to allow these scandals too much publicity in the press because they were picked up abroad and weakened the country's morale.

This part of the Premier's speech was interrupted, especially by the Left, as were his declarations that the censorship was necessary and ought to be respected. The Government, he said, hoped to remain in agreement with the press by appealing to the newspapers to maintain their own discipline.

ASQUITH TO COMBAT PACIFIST AGITATION

Back From the Front, He will Speak at Leeds Meeting on War Aims.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Ex-Premier Asquith has returned from a visit to the western front, where he has been the guest of Sir Douglas Haig. He will speak next Wednesday at a meeting at Leeds arranged by the War Aims Committee, of which the late Premier and the present Prime Minister, Lloyd George, are the Presidents.

Mr. Asquith's speech is looked forward to by the whole country. The Daily Chronicle says he "is always playing the part of a high-minded patriot, and his views on both war and peace exercise more influence upon public opinion here than those of any other individual in this country."

The necessity for effective leadership of public opinion here at this particular juncture is everywhere recognized, for the small peace-at-any-price party is getting more sympathetic hearing in various parts of the country than it received in the past. The Chronicle and other papers of repute testify that the nation, which hitherto has not paid much heed to the advocates of a premature peace, is not likely to have its purpose shaken by the new campaign of pacifists.

A counterpropaganda, which as yet has not attained the dimensions of the one it is designed to offset, has been begun by the War Aims Committee, and a number of leaflets are being circulated. These include the full text of President Wilson's reply to the Pope, which is coming more and more to be which is coming more and more to be regarded here as the creed of democracy, interview with Sir William Robertson, which ended with Mr. Wilson's words, "The world must be made safe for democracy."

Leaflets are not considered enough and more energetic platform propaganda is demanded. It is hoped that Mr. Asquith's lead will be followed by other members of the Liberal party, such as McKenna and Runciman.

Mr. Asquith is expected to set the public mind right in regard to the character of the operations on the western front and particularly to remove the impression which exists in some quarters that Sir Douglas Haig's offensives this year have been failures in the sense that they have not broken through the German lines. It may be stated emphatically that the highest military authorities are satisfied with the results achieved during the Summer, the military objectives aimed at in practically all instances having been attained.

Rhondda said that he welcomed the appointment of Louis P. Sheldon as representative of the United States Food Administration in London. Mr. Sheldon's work already has been productive of excellent results, and Baron Rhondda suggested that Canada should make a similar appointment.

"I hope the exportable surplus of Canadian and American primary foodstuffs will be much larger than the present estimates, as the result of food economies by which the United States and Canadian homes are helping to win the war just as surely as is the productions of munitions," Baron Rhondda said. "Every American woman is in a position to bring nearer the inevitable atonement for the brutal outrages in Belgium, Armenia and Serbia, the sinking of the Lusitania and other horrors, by her day-by-day economies. There need be no fear that the sacrifices will be wasted here.

"Unless the Entente Allies are able to import the supplies necessary for the armies and the populations, victory may slip from our united grasp.

Move to Check Profiteering.

"In regard to prices today, we are paying the United States and Canada more than double the range that existed before the war. I have heard it asked, 'What does that matter as long as the purchases are financed by the United States?' My answer is that unless prices determined upon are fair, an unnecessary burden is placed on the backs of the allied Governments, European consumers, American and Canadian taxpayers, and, reactively, on every food consumer in America for the sole benefit of a small section of the community.

"I am now able to limit the profits derived by those engaged in the food industries of the United Kingdom. We examine the books and apply a system of cost and expense. I expect to hear that Mr. Hoover and Mr. Hanna have taken similar steps, so that we will be able to assure the people that the existing high prices of imported food do not represent profiteering.

"In this connection I am anxiously watching the price and the available supply across the water of foodstuffs for cattle, upon which depends largely the price of meat. Unless the existing high levels are reduced, the poorer classes in the United Kingdom, France, and Italy are faced with many privations."

Baron Rhondda said that he expected soon to register all food traders here, and that if a few persisted in disobeying orders they would be struck off the list and forced out of business.

ALLIES WILL CONTROL WORLD'S SUGAR TRADE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—An international sugar committee of five members has been formed in order to give the United States and its allies absolute control of the sugar output of the world. This committee will arrange for the distribution of the sugar and, by centralized action, control prices.

The allied Governments have selected for this important work, which it is believed will result in an absolutely stabilized market, Sir Joseph White-Todd and John V. Drake, Sr. The two American members of the commission selected by the Food Administration are Earl D. Babst, President of the American Sugar Refining Company, and William A. Jamison of Arbuckle Brothers, neither of whom is interested in any way in the production of Cuban sugar. George M. Rolph, head of the sugar division of the Food Administration, will be the fifth member of the committee.

The Cuban Government's Sugar Commission, delegated by President Menocal to confer with Herbert C. Hoover and the United States Food Administration, met in Washington today. Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes, Cuban Minister to the United States, heads the commission, and the other members are Colonel José Miguel Tarafa, President of the Cuban Agrarian League, and Senor José Ignacio Lezama, both sugar growers. Statistics and other data will be offered by the Cuban representatives in an effort to defend the present prices of raw sugar.

The Cuban cane sugar producers are prepared to contend that as matters now stand, a non-producing element of the sugar industry has been placed in a virtual domination of the producing interests. The commission will seek to show Mr. Hoover the present price of Cuban raw sugar is not only justified "but will be essential to the salvation of the growers from business disaster." They urge a Federal investigation and revision downward of the refiners' profits.

The Food Administration has appointed the following committee to handle the details of the distribution of the beet sugar: H. A. Douglas, Detroit; E. C. Howe, Denver; W. H. Hannam, San Francisco; S. H. Love, Salt Lake City; W. S. Petriken, Denver; S. W. Sinsheimer, Huntington Beach, Cal., and W. P. Turner, Detroit.

An announcement by the Food Administration today said that all differences over the beet sugar situation had been adjusted, and that an agreement had been reached on the part of the producers to loyally assist in carrying out the proposed program for sugar control.

"One hundred per cent. of the beet sugar producers have signed the contract presented by the Government," says the statement, "and the result is not only gratifying to the Administration but should be to the consuming public, as it assures a maximum price for beet sugar of $7.25 per hundred pounds, cane basis, at seaboard refining points, as soon as the crop is available. This will be about the middle of October. The western section of the country, where beet sugar is now being produced, will reap the benefit on Oct. 1, and the Eastern section will feel the effect as soon as the beet crop is in full swing.

"Within a few days the food administration will issue a statement covering the entire situation in regard to prices in the different sections of the United States."

O'LEARY OPPOSED RIDDER'S LOYALTY

ASSAILED HIS MOTIVES

Propaganda of Truth Society Head Disclosed in Federal Court—His Paper Barred.

A nation-wide propaganda the purpose of which is to discredit and handicap in every possible way the Government of the United States in its prosecution of the war against Germany is at work in this country and this propaganda is supported by a great number of publications, some printed in English and others in various foreign languages, according to the sworn statement of Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson, filed in the United States District Court here yesterday afternoon.

The affidavit was filed in support of the Postmaster General's action in excluding from the mails the pro-German publication known as Bull, of which Jeremiah A. O'Leary, head of the "American Truth Society," is the directing head. The publishers sought to have the ruling of the Postmaster General set aside, and Mr. Burleson's statement was filed in answer to that application. Judge Charles M. Hough, who heard arguments in the case, sustained the Postmaster General's action.

With his affidavit Postmaster General Burleson filed a photograph of a letter written by O'Leary to Bernard H. Ridder, President of Staats-Zeitung Company, on Aug. 9 last, in which O'Leary advised Mr. Ridder to "take heart" and "fight" and to express publicly what O'Leary said he knew to be Mr. Ridder's private views regarding the war.

"Don't tell me about the patriotic stand of your newspaper," O'Leary wrote the editor of the Staats-Zeitung, "when I know that you have adopted your present policy because you figured Germany was going to win the war and you said, 'What's the use of getting into trouble with the damn fools over here who think they can change the result?'"

Denounces Mayor Mitchel.

In other parts of his letter O'Leary denounces Attorney General Gregory, Mayor Mitchel, and vents his wrath on those German Americans, mentioning by name Herman A. Metz, who have made it known that now that the United States is at war, they are with the Government to the finish. The men who voted in Congress to back the President when he called for a declaration of war against Germany O'Leary brands as individuals who will some day "be cursed in heaven and on earth before God and man."

In his deposition filed with the District Court Postmaster General Burleson recites that Bull obtained second class mail privileges on May 31 of last year, and that these privileges were revoked on Aug. 16 of this year, under the provisions of the recently enacted espionage law.

Concerning the alleged mission and activities of the barred publication, the Postmaster General in his deposition says:

The deponent further says that the examination of copies of this publication by him showed that it had its birth during the present European war (1916) that its mission is to breed discontent with the conduct of the war in which this nation is now engaged, especially among Americans of Irish birth or extraction to belittle all of the activities of the United States in the conduct of the war; cast suspicion and discontent upon the motives of the United States in entering and prosecuting the war; to create a general spirit of hostility with respect thereto; that the publication throughout evinces a purpose and intent on the part of the publisher of Bull to willfully make or to convey false reports or false statements with intent to interfere with the operation or success of the military or naval forces of the United States, to promote the success of its enemies during the present war, and willfully cause and attempt to cause insubordination, disloyalty, mutiny and refusal of duty in the military or naval forces of the United States, and to willfully obstruct the recruiting or enlistment service of the United States to the injury of the service of the United States, and that such is the actual effect of the circulation of said matter has been brought home to deponent from many complaints against the circulation of such publication through the mails in which the makers of such complaints have assured the deponent that the effect of the circulation of said publication is as aforesaid, and that the circulation of said matter is causing antagonism and resistance among the people to the conduct of the war with respect to enlistment, execution of the draft and the sale of bonds to raise revenue to carry on the war, in violation of said Espionage Act.

Advocacy of Treason.

The deponent further says that the circulation of said matter throughout the country he believes has inflamed a number of people to such an extent that the said matter constitutes in effect the advocating of treason, insurrection, and forcible resistance to the laws of the United States.

The deponent further says that from matter received at the Post Office Department from various sections of the country, he finds that there is an organized propaganda to discredit and handicap in every way the Government in the prosecution of this war, with the clear and unmistakable object of defeating the purposes for which the Government is spending billions of dollars and will probably be called upon to sacrifice thousands of lives;

That the publications forming this propaganda, in many cases, so guard their utterances as the editors may think will keep them out of prison; they are, nevertheless, united in publishing the same class of matter whether true, half true or wholly false, and are daily accomplishing results clearly in violation of the act of June 15, 1917;

That the publications forming this propaganda attempt to reach and influence every element of society through means most available for each individual publication. Americans of German birth or extraction are reached by German press of this character. He finds that in this country there are some newspapers of nearly every foreign language being used to further the objects of this propaganda;

That in addition to many foreign language publications, there are other publications in the English language claiming to represent industrial, revolutionary, as well as pacifist, and other organizations, all closely connected with and knowingly aiding directly or indirectly this propaganda;

That a characteristic means used in the furtherance of this propaganda is appeal to class or racial prejudice or hatred, such as is much of the matter contained in Bull, an instrument of this propaganda.

At this point Postmaster General Burleson introduces into his deposition the letter written by O'Leary to Mr. Ridder. Nothing is said which indicates how this letter came into the possession of the Government. The letter is written on the stationery of the American Truth Society, 210 Fifth Avenue, this city.

O'Leary's Letter to Ridder.

The letter, with one paragraph which attacks England in language that is unprintable deleted, follows:

AMERICAN TRUTH SOCIETY.
New York, 1912.
Jeremiah A. O'Leary, President.
Gen. Whitefield Mead, Ph. D., Secretary.
Gustav Dopslaff, Treasurer.
TRUTH. JUSTICE. PEACE.

August 9, 1917.

Mr. Bernard H. Ridder, President Staats Zeitung, Spruce & William Sts., City.

My dear Ben:—

Your resignation as trustee of the American Truth Society received. I am afraid you have taken the wrong course—a course that will not be approved by your own people. I am sorry that "Bull" was compelled to take note of some things you have done. The Thompson apology was terrible, but your action in telling Francis and La Guardia to vote for war was unwarranted. You should have consulted with me about that. My work for both of them entitled me to that at least.

However you feel about what has been said there is only one way you can find justification, and that is in that accursed "expediency" and "policy" that makes cowards of us all.

Whatever may be said of the matter—at least this much must be admitted: I stand where I have always stood—loyal to principles even in the face of war. That is my American heritage—that is my American right. You, who opposed sending ammunition to kill your own flesh and blood, certainly cannot now approve of sending men of German blood to finish the work—do you? Of course, you don't; but dare you say so? Was it right to stab the Mayor of Chicago in the back to satisfy the base cravings of the Mayor of New York? Shame on the German-American who attacks (by inference) an American of Scotch-Irish stock for his brave, red-blooded Americanism! I resent that. The German-American who would do such a thing deserves censure.

Ben—you will regret this. You are wrong. You are opposing your own best interests. Your strength lies in consistency. Your best Americanism is the inalienable rights you have cast from you and your paper with both hands.

Don't worry about the Government suppressing your paper. It would not dare. It couldn't if it would. They who say "it can" "it will" are alarmists. But if you admit weakness—if you hesitate—if you surrender—why then, of course, you invite suppression.

The most valuable part of your paper is its free speech. Surrender that and your paper is gone. You may do it for the sake of your paper, but can't you see that your own readers will suppress your paper more effectively than ever the Government could do? What your paper needs is suppression by the Government. Why as a result of an attack on Bull last month we sold out our issue—had to make an additional run—and now we have been compelled to add 5,000 more copies for the month! Bull is now going over. Why? Because we are showing the spark you have destroyed.

Praises German Herold.

Come out and fight, man—don't quit. The German Herold is fighting cleverly. Fight as it is. It is getting your readers. Everywhere I have heard complaints. "The Staats—ah—it is terrible—it is terrible!" This is what they are saying: "The German Herold—ah it is fine—brave!" Now, you don't want this. These things should not be said.

We are leading the way for you. The Masses is making your fight. See what Judge Hand said. That view will be sustained.

Remember what Brutus said to Cassius,—"A friendly eye would never see such faults." That's what you have said to me. Cassius answered,—Yes, a flatterer's would not though they be huge as high Olympus."

From all over the country we have received approval of the attack on Metz. We have received subscriptions and donations in goodly amounts.

I am sorry you have placed yourself in this position. I am sorry for your paper. It will all react after the war. It is not too late to change, and pray Heaven you will do so.

I don't care about your resignation—you had to do that. But I do care about your own interests. Ben—those fellows you are catering to hate you and hate your people, and believe me, you will never get anything from them but the displeasure of your own people.

Take heart! Fight! There are greater things now than newspapers. Fight for them and your newspaper will live again greater, stronger than ever before. You never made any mistakes in following my advice. I know you always had the idea I was radical—you told folks that, but, Ben, I know this thing—I know how it's going to come out—and I tell you as a friend—you are going to lose. There is going to be a terrible awakening from all this business and those who surrendered are going to suffer.

In my coming article I have taken another smash. I had to do it. I simply had to say it. I handed it to Francis and La Guardia and I handed it to you for telling them to vote for war. What a terrible—what a wrong thing that was to do! How you failed to look ahead to consider the future—to see the day when the men who cast that vote would be cursed into heaven and on earth—before God and man.

I am sorry, Ben, but even if you are angry—you must remember that I have placed the cause above every personal consideration—that, therefore, it has been for the sake of the cause for which I am willing to surrender all—even friends, who should be the last to go—particularly when they are men of German blood.

Give me the justification at any time and I will be ready to testify with praise.

In the meantime I am going to keep up the policy of attacking German-Americans when they need it. They are their own worst enemies. Strange to say, they approve my course. I have the proofs from all over the country. Why Bull never woke up until it struck out. As a newspaperman don't this mean anything to you?

Those who laughed at Bull at first are now praising it. Gradually they are learning its real purpose and the power of its attack. Hearst has bought Puck and has imported Raemakers as the most effective way of winning back British cable service that apparently he considers of more importance than his German-American readers. If the Government bothers us we will gain quicker. If they don't the fight will be harder, but we're going to win it just the same.

The fight for Americanism must go on. I claim the right to attack German-Americans as their fellow citizen. As my fellow citizens, they owe me the duty of insisting upon their rights. By surrendering their rights they encourage oppressive power to take mine away. Is this not true? All rights are more or less relative. A surrender by one citizen affects the rights of all.

Out in Chicago Horace Brand has been fighting valiantly for free speech and doing effective work. Why don't you start a campaign against the Tribune? Hit them and hit them hard. They are afraid of the German-American and don't forget it—but when you weaken you encourage their hatred to drive them from one aggression to another.

Fight for free press and free speech, and above all fight for your German language. Fight the men here and there who are driving it from the schools. Do what the French are doing in Canada. I make these suggestions in all kindliness and interest which I have not by any means lost, even though I have been driven to attack by your weakness.

I would be very pleased if from time to time you would call anything to my personal attention which I could use to comment on favorably along the lines I have indicated. If you supply the material you will find me not only ready, but eager, to help you; but Ben, I can't stand for crawling to Mitchel—that degenerate Irishman—and I didn't like the Balfour business. It was very, very weak and got you nothing from Mitchel or anybody else.

If you would follow your friends' advice once in a while and advise with real friends—you would avoid much trouble. That gang you have been friendly with will always keep you in trouble with your best friends. To tell me you have taken a "patriotic stand" is alright for the record, for the censor that reads my mail, but it isn't the way you feel about the situation, and when a fellow don't feel that way he isn't patriotic.

Ridicules Patriotism.

Don't tell me about the pariotic stand of your newspapers when I know that you have adopted your present policy because you figured Germany was going to win the war, and you said—"What's the use of getting in trouble with the damn fools over there who think they can change the result?"

I say this is not American ism because it involves a surrender of your private opinions that now should be public opinions. The question in my mind is,—my country—my own United States—is it going to be a British colony or a free independent nation—and Ben, I say to you, straight from the shoulder—you and your newspaper are now working hard to make it a British colony—and yourself and myself—British slaves.

I wish you would read this letter before your board. Perhaps they are at fault. Even they may be wrong. Their money does not make them right. It makes many of them base cowards. Cowards are never right. They are losing ground daily and ruining the Staats-Zeitung besides destroying the minds of a large number of people who are foolish enough to follow its policy. But, my dear Ben, these very people will be your most bitter enemies when the mask has been torn from their eyes, as soon it will be.

Get busy—retrieve yourself. Put a poker in your paper. Don't let Victor frighten you to death. He's a fine fellow, but he's scared to death. All he can see is Germans hanging from lamp poles. Tell him not to worry. Put the punch in your editorials. Study Bull for American ideas. I have three good minds going over things, and every number now will be a popular brief for peace; against sending troops to Europe, against foreign loans—for free speech and free press and on things that can legally be discussed under the American Constitution.

There's no reason why we should fall out because I am more friendly to your cause publicly than you are willing to publicly acknowledge yourself.

Our private views agree. My public and your private views are identical. Your public views are wrong. If your public views differ from mine you are a proper subject for criticism in Bull and you should be willing to stand for it. Surely you who have stood for so much from a whelp like Mitchel and his gang and yet remain on friendly terms—you are not going to turn away from a friend merely because he has been loyal and devoted to a cause for which you more than he should be willing to make every sacrifice?

It is strange how a man can be so friendly with his enemies and so hostile to his friends. Is this going to be the philosophy of the coming peace? Is this a trait of German character? If it is, there will be no lasting peace, because the nation with such character is a fit subject to become the dupe of British intrigue.

Yours very truly,
JEREMIAH A. O'LEARY.

Many Letters of Protest.

The Postmaster General, continuing, takes up the case against Bull in detail, and refers by captions to many articles which have appeared in the last two issues of that publication, as well as a reference to the many anti-American cartoons and cartoons holding up to scorn and ridicule the allies of the United States which have been printed in the O'Leary paper.

In addition to the affidavit of the Postmaster General, the Government filed in support of his action in the Bull case an affidavit made by Walter L. Lamar, the Solicitor of the Post Office Department.

"Before and since the passage of the Espionage act there have come to the attention of the Government," Mr. Lamar said, "numerous communications from Postmasters and others throughout the country relative to publications which are opposing the position of the Government in the present war, and among these letters are numerous ones protesting against the circulation through the mails of such papers as Bull." Excerpts from ten of the letters protesting against the circulation of Bull are included in the affidavit.

Carlton Strong of Pittsburgh in his letter said: "I respectfully invite your personal attention to the publication and to its obviously treasonable aims and purposes." H. H. Rosmer of Cleveland wrote: "I was appalled at the freedom of expression and impertinent lack of attempt to cover the sentiment expressed, and which was so disloyal to our flag, our President, our Congress, and our people."

C. R. Davis of New Orleans wrote: "This paper is being passed around (sample copies) in New Orleans by a German lawyer, Solomon Wolff. * * * This man is very prominent in this city, but is a German sympathizer and should be headed off. * * * As an American citizen with sons at the front, offering their lives for the vanquishing of the German vampire, I take pleasure in giving you this information."

In the course of a letter of protest R. L. O'Brien of Galveston said:

"It would occur to me that such a publication should not be allowed to exist for one moment, and that the editor of the same should receive some of the treatment for offenses of 'lese majeste' of the country he so highly extols—Germany."

Sees German Peace Plea.

C. W. Seeley of Akron, Ohio, wrote thus to the Postmaster General:

"I do not believe it necessary to be pro-British in order to be a good American, but by the same token I feel that the continued publication of this and similar sheets is not alone a direct affront to one of our allies, but that its plain intent and purpose is to foster the feeling among our people that we have no just cause for war, that we are fighting England's battles for her, and that inasmuch as participation in the war by the United States is contrary to the wishes of the majority of our citizens, that an early peace with Germany on any terms so long as Germany is not too badly hurt is a consummation devoutly to be wished.

"It is my feeling that to this sheet and others of a similar disloyal and scurrilous nature is traceable to a considerable degree the apparent apathy which exists in certain sections of the country toward the prosecution of the war, not to mention the hatching of innumerable plots and counterplots against our Government, for which the abuse of a free press has been greatly responsible. I sincerely hope that you will take such action as will at least deny Bull the privilege and use of the United States mails, if its publication cannot be suppressed."

C. D. Ebner of Mount Angel, Ore., under date of May 29, 1917, writes:

"Inclosed please find a copy of the paper called Bull. There was a copy sent to about each family here, and looking it over I can see plainly for what purpose it was sent, this being a German community."

A letter from Joel C. Glore of Cincinnati, dated June 15, 1917, regarding Bull, says:

"A number of our citizens have had this publication mailed to them and are very much incensed over it and believe that some steps ought to be taken by the Government to stop it."

The argument before Judge Hough yesterday afternoon lasted less than ten minutes. Assistant United States District Attorney J. A. Burdeau, representing the Government, was not called upon to utter a word. While counsel for Bull was talking Judge Hough glanced through a few copies of the paper. The lawyer among other things said that worse papers than Bull were published in this country in 1812. Before he had finished his argument Judge Hough ruled that the Postmaster General was exercising his legal powers.

Ridder Repudiates O'Leary.

Bernard H. Ridder, in an interview given at his Summer home near Amagansett, L. I., last night said that he had received the O'Leary letter which is included in the Burleson affidavit.

"All that I care to say tonight," said Mr. Ridder, "is that O'Leary did not write the truth in that letter. His statement that my private views as to this war differ from my public ones is false in every word. My own private opinions are the same as those publicly expressed through the columns of the Staats-Zeitung. O'Leary's letter was written in anger because I had refused to indorse his attitude as regards the war, and had declined to have anything to do with his propaganda.

"I wish also to add that O'Leary has no way of knowing my private opinions on any subject. I have not seen him since the breaking off of diplomatic relations, and I would also like to say that I have not attended any meeting of the American Truth Society, of which he is the head."

GRAND JURY CALLS SOAP BOX LEADERS

Officers of Friends of Irish Freedom Ordered to Bring Papers Pertaining to Meetings.

MOFFETT GIVES HIS SIDE

Writer Also Appeals to Governor Whitman in Plan to Stop Un-American Meetings.

The whole question of anti-American speeches on street corners will come up today when the American Defense Society will place before the Grand Jury stenographic reports of the Broadway meetings of the Friends of Irish Freedom, which were broken up by the police on the ground that traffic was being blocked. Frederick M. Hume, publicity man for the society, and the stenographers who took notes on the speeches of John D. Moore, National Secretary, and Stephen Johnson, National Organizer, were subpoenaed yesterday to appear in the Grand Jury room with all documents pertaining to the meetings.

Cleveland Moffett, head of the Vigilantes of the American Defense Society, was a witness before the Grand Jury yesterday morning. After he had been heard Assistant District Attorney Neilson Olcott said that if the evidence given by Mr. Moffett could be substantiated in legal form "striking developments would follow." Although he had previously criticised the District Attorney's office, Mr. Moffett was quoted yesterday by Mr. Olcott as saying he was "in entire accord with the District Attorney's office."

After telling the members of the Grand Jury of the things he had heard the speakers for the Friends of Irish Freedom say in their anti-British campaign, Mr. Moffett recommended to the Grand Jury that for the duration of the war all street meetings be prohibited unless permits are granted by the city authorities, after those in control of the meetings have filed the names of the speakers and the substance of what they will say.

Mr. Olcott also subpoenaed several newspaper men, who were present at the Friends of Irish Freedom meetings. He said that since the investigation had begun in earnest persons were hourly offering to give testimony against the alleged seditious speakers.

Mr. Moffett sent a letter to Governor Whitman yesterday asking that he lend his support to the proposal for licensing street meetings. In his letter to the Governor, Mr. Moffett wrote:

"As a trustee of the American Defense Society and as an American citizen who has suffered arrest for his patriotic convictions, I appeal to you for your approval of a simple method of dealing with seditious street gatherings in New York City and elsewhere. You doubtless know that there has been serious disorder on Broadway, New York, during the past month in connection with street meetings, at which our ally, Great Britain, has been publicly insulted and our national policy of military service has been violently denounced. Mayor Mitchel has ruled that the New York police shall arrest street orators who blackguard Great Britain or attack the President of the United States, but this deals with the evil only after it has occurred and makes possible continued scenes of street violence with the possibility of bloodshed, especially now that public opinion has been aroused to the treasonable or near-treasonable nature of these utterances.

"There are thousands of loyal New Yorkers who will no longer stand by patiently while seditious street orators shout forth their poison and un-American propaganda. There have already been riots on Broadway and there is danger of more serious riots unless wise and firm action is taken immediately.

"I respectfully ask that you give your support, in whatever way seems best to you, to a plan of licensing all street meetings in New York city and throughout New York State during the course of the war; this plan would provide that no street speaker shall be allowed to address audiences unless they have first received authorization from the police authorities to do so, and such authorization or license shall be granted only to loyal Americans whose purposes are in accord with our national military policy.

"I call your attention to the fact that this method of licensing street meetings (and all other meetings where speeches involving national issues are to be made) has been adopted in Philadelphia since the beginning of the war with the best results. I have recently visited Philadelphia and talked with the Superintendent of Police, James Robinson, who assured me that there has been no disorder or show of disloyalty in that city, although they have a considerable German population. They simply do not allow any disloyal meetings to take place. Objectors to this ruling have recourse to the courts, but in practice they do nothing, and the streets of Philadelphia have remained orderly and free from sedition, whereas the streets of New York city have been disorderly, with a possibility of greater disorder as the fires of disloyalty are fanned by political interests and jealousies."

An application by the four members of the Friends of Irish Freedom, who are being prosecuted for disorderly conduct as the result of soapbox meetings, for a stay of proceedings until the Appellate Division has passed on the recent ruling by Justice Mullan upholding the complaints against them was granted yesterday by Justice Goff.

Assistant District Attorney Johnstone opposed the stay on the ground that the defendants were attempting to delay final action in their cases and in the meantime to continue their unpatriotic utterances, but Justice Goff replied that as long as he sat on the bench he would give every person a reasonable opportunity to appeal. Counsel for the defendants said he could argue the case on Oct. 19 and Justice Goff granted a stay until that time.

BRITISH HOLD MAIL OF SWEDISH ENVOY

PROTEST ON LUXBURG ACT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Four diplomatic mail pouches sent by the Swedish Foreign Office to the legation in Washington are being detained at Halifax by the British authorities. They were taken from a steamer on which were Dr. Hjalmar Lundvohm, who is coming to the United States as a special envoy, and First Secretary Reuterswerd of the Swedish Foreign Office.

No reason for the detention of the mail could be obtained here today, the British Embassy being without information on the subject.

Baron Akerhielm, the Swedish Chargé, called at the State Department today and was understood to have taken up the matter with officials there in an effort to have the mail quickly forwarded to its destination. Whether he made a formal protest on behalf of his Government was not announced.

The pouches were said to have contained, among other mail, statistics on consumption, production, importation, and exportation of foodstuffs and other commodities in Sweden, which were requested by the United States in its negotiations with the Swedish Commercial Mission now in this country seeking to reach an agreement on exports to Sweden.

The mission of First Secretary Reuterswerd to this country was not disclosed, but Dr. Lundvohm comes to replace Dr. Herman de Lagerkrantz, who was the head of the Swedish Commercial Mission. Axel Robert Norval, who has been acting head of the mission, went to New York today to meet Dr. Lundvohm and First Secretary Reuterswerd.

CRONHOLM MAKES DENIAL.

Says He Gave Eckhardt No Information from Germany's Foes.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 20.—Folke Cronholm, former Attaché of the Swedish Legation here, in a statement to The Associated Press today, denied that German Minister von Eckhardt offered or promised him a decoration in a German order, or that he received any such decoration. Cronholm also denied that he had furnished the German Minister with information "gathered among the enemies of his country in Mexico."

Previous to making this statement Cronholm had maintained silence regarding the dispatch made public by Secretary Lansing, in which Minister von Eckhardt recommended Cronholm for a decoration. Cronholm said:

"I am not in a position to make any statement, this being contrary to the diplomatic principles of my country, as I am only an executive organ of my Government and still ignorant of the statement that the Government may have issued on the subject. Once in possession of an authentic text of such a statement, I may be able to add some complementary remarks.

"Referring to the decoration mentioned in this connection, I hereby declare that the German Minister, Mr. von Eckhardt, has not offered me any decoration, nor has he promised me such, and neither have I received any. The allegation made by a certain class of newspapers of this city that I have furnished the German Minister with information gathered among the enemies of his country in Mexico is just as false as it is ridiculous."

SWEDEN PROTESTS TO BERLIN.

Serves Notice That Its Confidence Has Been Seriously Abused.

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 20.—It was announced at the Swedish Ministry of Foreign Affairs today that after the publication by the Washington State Department of the code telegrams forwarded by Count von Luxburg, the German Minister to Argentina, through the Swedish Legation at Buenos Aires, the Swedish Government on Sept. 10 asked through the intermediary of the Swedish Minister at Berlin whether it was true that the German representative at Buenos Aires had dispatched, and the Ministry of Foreign Affairs at Berlin had received, the telegrams in question.

When the reply was received the Swedish Minister at Berlin on Sept. 15 was instructed by the Swedish Government to hand to the German Government a strong protest in consequence of these incidents, and to lay stress on the fact that it had been confirmed beyond doubt that German officials had abused very seriously the confidence of Sweden.

The communication made by the German Minister at Stockholm to the Swedish Minister of Foreign Affairs, mentioned in the Swedish official statement of Sept. 17, had no connection with the protest made by the Swedish Government.

BIG PROTEST IN MONTEVIDEO.

MONTEVIDEO, Sept. 20.—More than 20,000 men marched through the principal streets of Montevideo last night to register their protest against the action of Count von Luxburg in sending cipher telegrams suggesting that Argentine vessels be "sunk without a trace." There were no disorders.

Strong police forces are protecting the German bank, clubs, and business houses.

PROPOSE OPEN DIPLOMACY.

Luxburg Incident Inspires Radical Swiss Suggestion.

GENEVA, Sept. 20.—Several Swiss newspapers suggest that, in order to avoid a repetition of the Luxburg affair, the Swiss Government, which has nothing to hide, should abandon the secret diplomatic system and send its reports openly.

The newspapers advise that all Governments, especially neutral ones, adopt this method during the war.

TAKES 12 PERSONS ALOFT THREE MILES

Lieut. Resnati Achieves New Feat—Lane to Fly With Him to Washington.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Sept. 20.—Carrying twelve passengers in a Caproni triplane, Lieut. Emelie Resnati, the Italian aviator, attained an altitude of 17,000 feet today at Langley Field near here. This was 1,000 feet higher than the previous American record with a single passenger, made here by Victor Carlstrom, an American aviator, who was killed several months ago in the fall of his machine, and was regarded as a remarkable performance.

The Caproni machine used by Lieut. Resnati has a wing spread of 70 feet, and is propelled by three engines of 160 horse power each.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—When the fleet of four Italian airplanes flies from Langley Field, Va., to Washington Saturday the passengers will include Secretary Lane, Howard Coffin, head of the Government's Aircraft Production Board; Major Gen. Squier, Chief Signal Officer of the Army, and several members of the Senate and House.

It was announced today that the Italian officers in charge have been asked to make this flight an official one, with no passengers except men connected with the Government in some capacity.

The fleet will leave Langley Field about 8 o'clock in the morning and is expected to alight at Potomac Park in about two hours. The return flight to Langley Field will be unofficial, as will also be a later trip from Langley Field to New York.

The Government representatives will observe closely the working of the Caproni machine with its smaller companions and make comparisons between the working of the Italian engines and that of the new Liberty motor.

moral force, but cannot be mediators. The only effective mediator is the monarchy itself."

The monarchy, Count Karolyi said, was the first power to demand peace without annexations, and the differences of opinion among the various nationalities forming it would secure the necessary elasticity of outlook. Besides, the monarchy was not one of the chief antagonists, which were England and Germany. At the same time the monarchy was in a position to exercise powerful pressure in carrying through the task of mediator.

Some months ago, when Count Czernin declared in favor of peace without annexations, it had seemed to Count Karolyi that this policy would prevail. He had believed that Czernin would keep the banner of peace flying, but in that he had been disappointed.

Karolyi concluded by urging that representatives of all classes, not only Socialists and Catholics, should come from all States to meet and discuss peace in a neutral country.

Commenting on the Count's speech, the Pester Lloyd considers that Karolyi has definitely broken with Czernin. Hungarians belonging to the Karolyi party who have been recently in Switzerland say that the practical prospects of peace are not promising. Control of Hungary is virtually in the hands of the Germans, who are in a position to repress any separatist movement, and, if necessary, Hungarian officials showing signs of wavering would be promptly replaced by German sympathizers.

GERMAN FEELERS SPURNED.

British Warnings Against Yielding to "Peace Plot."

LONDON, Sept. 20.—The attempt by the German press and officials to create an atmosphere of what is believed here to be another peace manoeuvre is given prominence again in the morning newspapers, which are of the unanimous opinion that there can be no peace until Prussian militarism is crushed. The Daily Mail, under the caption "The Hun Peace Plot," says:

"The true friends of peace are the allied armies of the Governments which are striving to remove the cause of all of this misery, unrest, and bloodshed by destroying Germany's military autocracy."

The Daily Mail rebukes the pacifists, saying:

"President Wilson has shown how these people can be handled. He is the most scrupulous of democrats, but he knows that liberty at such moments as this has the most to fear from its pretended friends. Peace agitation in the United States is no longer tolerated, and editors of journals printed in the German language are no longer permitted to cry fretfully for peace with dishonor."

The Times says:

"While the well-disciplined German press affects to maintain an agitated discussion as to whether the forthcoming reply to the Papal peace note does or does not contain an offer to evacuate Belgium upon terms which would leave her in the perpetual servitude of her oppressors, the answer of the Allies to any proposals of the kind reaches Germany at the same time from both sides of the Atlantic. France is bleeding from three years of the frightful struggle against a foe which thought to crush her by a treacherous onslaught. The United States is but entering the fray for the defense of right and liberty. But from both comes the same clear refusal to listen to any insidious projects of Wilhelmstrasse for peace on terms of status quo. Status quo began the war; we will not revive it."

The Times quotes the Atlantic City speech of Secretary Lane, and adds that the war will end, as Secretary Lane says, "when Germany knows she must give hostages" for good behavior in the future.

The Express asserts that "the U-boat figures issued last night are the best commentary on Germany's desire for peace," adding, "They are the worst on record—for Germany." Continuing, The Express says:

"No peace on whatever terms can have any value unless those terms insure the impossibility of another German attempt to wreck the world."

The Daily Chronicle says:

"Great Britain, which strove the hardest to preserve peace, entered the war for certain definite ends, and primarily to fulfill its obligations of honor. If those aims are not achieved, the blood shed so lavishly for their fulfillment will have been shed in vain. God forbid that we should be guilty of any such recreancy to our heroic dead!"

The Morning Post says that it is only by means of the combined economic action of the Entente Allies that Germany can be taught to what disabilities prolongation of the war will subject her.

BRITAIN QUESTIONED VATICAN.

Query Was Passed to Teutons, Who Will Reply Through Pope.

ROME, Wednesday, Sept. 19, (Delayed).—Cardinal Gasparri, the Papal Secretary of State, said tonight to The Associated Press, that the reply of the Central Powers to Pope Benedict's peace proposals had not yet been received at the Vatican. The Cardinal believes that the reply was held up when Emperor William went to Riga and that it is not likely that it will reach the Vatican until next week.

The reply of the Entente Allies to the Pope's proposals must necessarily arrive after that of the Central Powers, because Great Britain, before the compilation of the Entente note, asked for some information of the Vatican, which, in turn, applied for it to the Central Powers. These powers notified the Holy See that the explanations asked for would be contained in their own reply to the Papal note. On these explanations, therefore, the answer of the Entente Allies, or at least that of Great Britain, will depend.

Rise in German "Peace Shares."

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 20.—Conditions in Russia caused a small peace boom this week in German stock markets. So-called peace shares, such as shipping and Colonial stocks, made gains, while munition stocks were correspondingly depressed. The movement, according to Berlin and Hamburg newspapers, was on a limted scope.

MITCHEL SPURS FUSION LEADERS

ment has already been started in Brooklyn to have Bennett, Wall, and Wilsey run on an independent ticket in the election. Petitions containing the names of these candidates, it was said, were sent to the printer yesterday and will be in circulation today. It was said that the same influences which put the Bennett ticket in the primary race were behind the movement to have the Bennett candidates run against the Mitchel candidates. Just what these influences are it was not stated, but politicians said it would have the support of Republicans who are dissatisfied with the Mitchel-Fusion ticket.

"I was counted out in New York County," said Mr. Bennett yesterday morning. "The Republican votes of Manhattan cast for me were not all counted for me. I will demand a recount and expect to be declared the nominee of the Republican Party for Mayor. The Republican Party in Manhattan is back on the level with the days of 'Jake' Patterson."

When Mayor Mitchel was asked if he was surprised at Wednesday's result, he said:

"I am surprised to see so strong a feeling of partisanship. I feel that now that the primaries are over and those who voted in it have made a decision the ticket will have the full support of the Republican organization, as well as the rest."

"Mr. Bennett says he will demand a recount,'" the Mayor was informed.

Mayor Not Against Recount.

"I have no objection," he replied. "He may have a dozen recounts for all I care."

"Were you surprised at the large vote Mr. Bennett received?"

"That may be answered yes and no," said the Mayor. "We made no answer to the primary fight conducted by Bennett. I didn't suppose that it would deceive so many people or probably we would have made a reply."

"In the event that Mr. Bennett shows that frauds were committed, what would you do?" the Mayor was next asked.

"I cannot speculate on a matter like that," he replied. "If a recount shows that Bennett got the votes, then he is the nominee of the Republicans for Mayor. If there was fraud, it ought to be corrected, no matter who is hurt."

When Republican County Chairman Samuel S. Koenig was asked regarding the Bennett charges, he said:

"I have no comment to make on his statement. If Mr. Bennett knows that fraud was committed at the primaries it is his duty to expose it. Mr. Bennett has a right to contest the primary election if he believes he did not get a square deal. So far as I know, the election was honest."

Politicians said last night that if Mr. Bennett should apply to the Supreme Court for an order directing the Board of Elections to show cause why the primary ballots should not be recounted and should win and the recount should show that he was the nominee of the party, it would remove Mayor Mitchel's name from the election ticket. In case the recount showed that there was no fraud and that Mayor Mitchel was nominated and Mr. Bennett decided to run independently, he would have until Oct. 12 to present his petitions which would have to contain the names of 1,500 enrolled Republicans to entitle him to a space on the Republican election ballot. In case Mayor Mitchel's name is ruled off the ticket he also would have the same time to present his petition as an independent candidate for Mayor under a Fusion emblem.

It was recalled last night that at a recent meeting in Brooklyn Mr. Bennett declared that if he was beaten in the primaries he would support the successful candidate.

Predicts a Hylan Victory.

William F. Schneider, Chairman of the Democratic Fusion Committee of 170, made this prediction last night:

"Judge Hylan will beat John Purroy Mitchel for Mayor by 150,000, judging by the feeling against the Mayor among Republicans, as demonstrated at yesterday's primaries. The vote, to my mind, is unmistakably a vote of protest against the Mitchel administration, its land scandals, and its complete surrender to the influences of the Rockefeller-Wall Street element. That it is such a vote of protest is undeniable when you compare the vote which Bennett received with the vote cast for Theodore Roosevelt in the Republican primaries in this city in 1912. Mr. Bennett, a comparatively unknown Republican, without a campaign fund, without any organization, and with the Mitchel newspapers ignoring him, received a much larger vote than that given Colonel Roosevelt."

Luther B. Little, campaign manager for the Republican-Fusion Committee, said:

"The vote in the primary yesterday is indicative only of the desire of some Republicans to vote for a Republican for Mayor. The same sentiment existed four years ago when Mayor Mitchel was nominated by the Republican Party in spite of similar opposition. The vote of the delegates in the designating convention four years ago was in about the same proportion as at the primary yesterday. But loyal Republicans are at the same time loyal citizens of the city. They are still opposed to Tammany Hall and what it stands for, and are for decent, honest, and efficient administration in public office now just as they were four years ago."

Commenting on the vote he received in the Democratic primaries, Surveyor of the Port Thomas E. Rush said:

"Apparently 40,000 votes were cast out of a total enrollment of 194,000, so that approximately only 20 per cent. of the enrolled Democrats of Manhattan and the Bronx were sufficiently interested in the primaries to come out and vote. Assuming that this 20 per cent. was an expression of the tangible machine vote, with Mr. Murphy's leadership the sole issue, it is evident that the latter's control of the party is limited to but 12 per cent. of the actual party enrollment.

Difficult to Beat Machine.

"The difficulties of an independent fight against the machine can readily be understood when we appreciate that the machine has a trained Captain in every polling place and four election officers selected by that Captain from the machine in his election district, two Inspectors, a ballot clerk, and a poll clerk. The machine starts off with the nucleus of an organization by five trained workers in every election district in Manhattan and the Bronx. An independent candidate who gets any vote at all is in great luck. However, it is remarkable that three Assembly districts were carried against the machine candidate, including that controlled by Thomas F. McAvoy, Chairman of the Executive Committee of Tammany Hall. The total result only shows that the time is not yet ripe, but may be soon, for the conscientious objectors in Tammany Hall."

The Board of Elections will not make a complete county of Wednesday's vote on city candidates until next week. The police returns from five Assembly districts, however, showed that comparatively few Democrats took the opportunity to write in the name of Mayor Mitchel on the Democratic ballot as a protest against the selection of Judge Hylan. In the First Assembly District seven voters wrote in the Mayor's name. In the Third District there were twenty-six, in the Fifth eleven, in the Eighteenth four, and in the Fourth none. It was stated that the final count would show that not more than 500 or 600 voters wrote the Mayor's name on the ballot.

Yesterday's conference of Mitchel-Fusion leaders at the Union League Club lasted from 10 o'clock until noon and was participated in by the Mayor, Controller Prendergast, William Hamlin Childs, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Fusion Committee; Luther B. Little, campaign manager of the Fusion forces; Charles Steckler of the City Democracy, Eugene McGuire, leader of the anti-Tammany forces in the Bronx; Treasurer Samuel Lewisohn of the Fusion Committee, and Robert Binkerd of the same committee. Besides deciding to make a vigorous campaign from now on, the question of finances was discussed.

Surprises in Brooklyn.

One of the surprises of the primary election in Brooklyn was the victory of Surrogate Selah B. Strong of Suffolk County in the Republican contests for Supreme Court nominations. By landing a place on the ticket, Strong completely upset the calculations of the party leaders in Kings, Queens, Nassau, Suffolk, and Richmond, the five counties comprising the Second Judicial District. The leaders had agreed that Justice William J. Kelly, a Democrat, renominated by his own party, should also be named by the Republicans. Without any organization behind him, Surrogate Strong entered the primaries, and the returns indicate that he has crowded Justice Kelly off the Republican ticket.

The other Republican nominees for the Supreme Court in the Second District are County Judge Lewis L. Fawcett of Kings, and Leander B. Faber of Queens.

The Democrats nominated for the Supreme Court in the Second District are Justice Kelly and former Secretary of State Edward Lazansky, both of Brooklyn, and Richard S. Newcombe of Queens.

Probably the most disappointed politician in Brooklyn yesterday was Republican Executive Chairman Jacob A. Livingston. While not expressing himself publicly in the matter, Leader Livingston was sadly figuring out in private what might have happened had Justice James C. Cropsey elected to enter the race for the Mayoralty nomination. Taking the vote cast for Bennett in Brooklyn, where the former Senator had no personal following, Livingston and the other Cropsey men figured that a candidate so strong locally as Cropsey would have beaten Mitchel by two to one in Kings and won the nomination.

Livingston's own Assembly district, the Twenty-second, was one of the Bennett banner districts. The candidate received 1,542 votes there and Mitchel 602. According to the returns, the Mayor suffered his worst defeat in Brooklyn in the Twentieth Assembly District, of which William Schnitzpan is the leader. The vote there was Bennett, 2,280; Mitchel, 528. Schnitzpan's district club was one of the few in Brooklyn which opened its doors to Mr. Bennett during his campaign.

McCooey's candidates, Daniel J. Griffin for Sheriff and Richardson Webster for Register, won easily.

Borough President Lewis H. Pounds of Brooklyn won a renomination in the Republican primaries. He defeated Senator Robert R. Lawson by more than 7,000 votes. Lewis M. Swasey is the nominee for Sheriff and John T. Rafferty the nominee for Register on the Republican Fusion ticket in Kings.

Sees a Blow to Boss Rule.

According to City Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, who is running for District Attorney on an independent ticket, the primary results prove the people of New York are tired of boss rule and will welcome an opportunity to vote for an independent candidate. He said:

"The time is past when the party label on a man is sufficient to insure his election. The voters are using their heads as well as their hands in marking their tickets. The result in Brooklyn, where the people showed their personal preference for Mr. Bennett, convinces me that had Frank Moss remained on the ticket for District Attorney of New York County he would have carried Manhattan against Ransom.

"On the other hand, to analyze the Democratic vote, the salient fact is that out of an enrollment of 197,348 only about 26,000 were sufficiently dominated by the machine (notwithstanding the energetic efforts of the leaders) to go to the polls. There is no question in my mind that boss rule is passing, and the people are coming into their own.

"The election yesterday proves beyond the shadow of a doubt that at the coming election, the voters of New York County will give definite expression of their determination to take the District Attorney's office out of politics, and place in it a man pledged to no party and responsible only to the people and his own conscience."

Sheriff Alfred E. Smith made this comment on the result:

"Governor Hughes said that the direct primary is the best possible means of ascertaining the sentiment within a party."

MEANS ONE PRICE TO ALL

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—President Wilson today approved an agreement entered into by the War Industries Board, by which the United States Government, its allies and the public will obtain copper at twenty-three and a half cents a pound, free on board New York.

The price is subject to revision after four months if conclusive evidence is presented to show that it should either go up or down. The price of twenty-three and a half cents, about three cents below the prevailing market, was fixed by agreement between the Government and the leading copper producers.

Apparently the President is determined to enforce his edict if any producers are recalcitrant. A formal statement, issued tonight, said that the proper departments would be asked to take over mines and plants of those who balked.

This probably would be accomplished by commandeering for Government use the mines of objectors and using the output of mines which held to the agreement for other than Government interests. The power of commandeer is lodged in the War and Navy Departments, where Government needs are involved. The Administration, however, has not, without further legislation, the power to seize mines and output for supplies required by the Allies or private industries.

The price for steel will next be fixed by the Government and, working with the copper price of twenty-three and a half cents as a basis, some observers feel that not less than $68 a ton will be agreed upon for the steel output. Men who know something about the steel situation have been wavering during the past week or ten days between $62 and $68 as the price.

The copper price announcement was confirmation of statements that the President had in no wise weakened in his position, taken some weeks ago, that there should be one price in regard to all essential materials. It is the first step which the Administration has taken in carrying out such a program in regard to wartime commodities over which the Government has not complete control in the Food bill.

Severe restrictions are placed about the agreement. It is provided that sales shall be directed through the War Industries Board, in order to keep output out of the hands of speculators; that wages in the copper industry, now at a high level, shall not be lowered; and that output shall be kept at a maximum.

Copper has been selling at 26 to 27½ cents a pound in the market, but recently was at a much higher figure. It has been stated that the price during the last few days was kept hammered down because of the knowledge that the Government soon would make a definite announcement as to fixed prices.

Radicals Disappointed.

Those who have argued against Government prices, which they feared might be so low as to hinder production and disorganize the industry, expressed the opinion tonight that the Government's copper price was an all-important step in the right direction, especially if it might be accepted as a forecast of action on other basic commodities. The announcement was not hailed as a great victory by "radicals" who wanted copper hammered down to a very low level.

It was not many months ago that Bernard M. Baruch sought to obtain a price of between 16 and 17 cents for copper for Government use, but the operators at that time held that such a figure could not obtain for all interests and permit the payment of high wages necessary to increased production demanded by war needs.

The figure arrived at is accepted generally as a compromise agreement to which the producers, or the majority of them, have agreed in order to meet the conditions imposed by the President's "one price to all" policy. That the price of 23½ cents may stir some of the radicals to action when the hearings on the Pomerene bill begin before the Senate Commerce Committee tomorrow is conceded.

Here is the formal statement issued tonight:

After investigation by the Federal Trade Commission as to the cost of producing copper, the President has approved an agreement made by the War Industries Board with the copper producers, fixing a price of 23½ cents per pound, free on board, New York, subject to revision after four months. Three important conditions were imposed by the board. First, that the producers would not reduce the wages now being paid; second, that the operators would sell to the Allies and to the public copper at the same price paid by the Government, and take the necessary measures, under the direction of the War Industries Board, for the distribution of the copper, to prevent it from falling into the hands of speculators, who would increase the price to the public, and third, that the operators pledge themselves to exert every effort necessary to keep up the production of copper to the maximum of the past, so long as the war lasts.

Wages at Highest Notch.

The War Industries Board felt that the maintenance of the largest production should be assured and that a reduction in wages should be avoided. The stipulation that present wages shall not be reduced compels the maintenance of the highest wages ever paid in the industry, which without such stipulation would, with the reduction made in the price of copper, be reduced under the sliding scale so long in effect in the copper mines. Within this year copper has sold as high as 36 cents per pound, and the market price would now be higher than it is had it not been well known for some weeks that the Government would fix the price.

The principal copper producers throughout the country have evinced an admirable spirit and for weeks have promptly supplied every request of the Government for copper without awaiting decision as to price and agreeing to accept the price which the board should ultimately fix. The proper departments of the Government will be asked to take over the mines and plants of any producers who fail to conform to the arrangement and price, if any such there should be.

An indication that a price in the neighborhood of 23 cents would not be unacceptable to the copper industry was given by the dealings yesterday in copper stock, which closed at from one to five points above the opening quotation, this movement being based, it was said, on the belief that the Government would fix a price somewhere from 22½ cents to 25 cents a pound.

The four-months clause in the agreement gives the Government the opportunity to lower the price if it is shown that proper conditions can be maintained in the industry at a lower figure than that fixed today. A downward revision later might bring on protests from the industry, and that is where the Pomerene bill, if enacted into law, would place a powerful weapon in the hands of the Government. It would give the Government power to take over all mines and output—power similar to that over the coal supply which is contained in the Food Control bill.

TO HEAR COAL OPERATORS.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A bureau of investigation is to be organized by the Fuel Administration and Federal Trade Commission to determine the merits of complaints made by bituminous coal operators against the prices for coal at the mine fixed by President Wilson. This bureau will have a number of investigators who will, when protests are received, go to the mines involved and inspect books, records, and conditions among the workers.

On the report submitted by these operatives will rest the decision of the Fuel Administration concerning further hearings to be granted to the coal producers.

This plan was decided upon today at a conference attended by Fuel Administrator Garfield and Secretary Bracken of the Trade Commission. So many protests against the prices fixed by the President have been received that it was felt more rapid progress would be made by the adoption of a system which would not hamper Dr. Garfield's efforts in other directions by calling for a personal consideration of all complaints by him.

STEEL MEN IN WASHINGTON.

Advance Guard Arrives for the Price-Fixing Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Steel men began to congregate in Washington today in anticipation of tomorrow's public hearing before the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate of the Pomerene bill, which provides for power to fix prices on iron, steel, and their products. The hearings will begin tomorrow morning.

Among those here to watch the controversy is Charles M. Schwab of Bethlehem Steel; President Farrell of the Steel Corporation, and President Grace of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, are expected.

The bill is said to be an Administration measure, and represents another step in the program to regulate prices by statute, if industries are recalcitrant. It was introduced Aug. 8, and, its backers say, will be pressed in the Senate at the conclusion of the hearings.

GARY CALLED TO CAPITAL.

To Discuss Fixing of Steel Price with Government Officials.

Elbert H. Gary, Chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, was summoned to Washington yesterday in his capacity as President of the American Iron and Steel Institute and head of the committee of steel makers which assisted the Council of National Defense earlier in the year. Judge Gary was requested by the Defense Council to ask such steel men as he should select to accompany him. He declined to make any comment on the trip, but it was assumed in the steel trade that he had been called into consultation by the Government officials in regard to the price to be fixed for steel and iron to be used by the Government.

Judge Gary's meeting with the men at Washington is scheduled for this morning. It is expected that President James A. Farrell, of the corporation, will attend the meeting, going from Atlantic City, and that among the others probably will be E. W. A. Clarke, head of the Lackawanna Steel Company; E. G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, and John A. Topping, Chairman of the Republic Iron and Steel Company. The question of pig iron prices is understood to be the particular matter necessitating the presence of the manufacturers at Washington, although the whole steel price situation revolves closely around iron quotations.

NEAR AGREEMENT ON WAR TAX BILL

NEW MAIL RATES ADOPTED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Complete agreement on the War Revenue bill seemed near at hand tonight, after a day of tranquil debate among the conferees, following the turmoil of yesterday. Acrimony did not creep in today, and the conferees came to a final agreement upon everything, it is understood, except the war profits tax.

The break over the publishers' tax was patched up by a compromise that went even further than before in the way of yielding on the part of the House conferees. As the new schedule of publishers' tax was finally agreed upon, the rate, it was said tonight, starts at one-fourth of a cent a pound, to be applied after the first zone, the distance being changed from 300 miles to 250 miles. This one-fourth of a cent a pound is to be imposed in addittion to the existing 1 cent pound flat rate. contemplates a graduated tax which would reach a maximum below 6 cents a pound. The conferees adopted a schedule of time, to run with the new rates, so that the entire tax would not be operative until the end of a four-year period. The tax is calculated to yield much less than either the original House zone system or the McKellar substitute.

Although the conferees had decided to apply a graduated tax upon war profits, to run after the House exemption of 8 per cent., there was a hitch today over the definition of capital stock upon which the exemption would be applied. The House insists upon its original definition, and the Senate conferees want the one adopted by the Senate. Financial experts were called before the conferees to explain the difference between the House and Senate definitions.

The conferees were still struggling with the technical niceties of the problem at the end of the day. They will take it up again tomorrow. With only the technical feature of capital stock to be disposed of, it was said tonight that the conferees were in position to report to their respective houses Saturday.

Coincident with adjournment of the conferees, a meeting of the House Ways and Means Committee, which drew the original bill, was called for tomorrow to discuss the situation, and some Western and Southern members of the committee announced that they would demand an increase in the Senate excess war profit figures from $1,060,000,000 to $1,500,000,000.

It was explained that the Ways and Means Committee would try to induce the conferees to accept the larger figure. Should this fail high-tax advocates declared they would carry the contest to the floor of the House. They said that recent announcements that approximately $2,500,000,000 more money would be needed this year than already provided made it certain that unless a start were made now to further increase taxes the country would be swamped with bonds.

WANT TAX AMENDED.

Partnerships More Burdened Than Corporations, Brief Asserts.

Counsel for a number of individuals and partnerships subject to heavy taxation under the War Tax bill pending in Congress have prepared a brief to be presented to the Conference Committee of Senate and House asking that certain provisions of the measure be altered. Among the organizations for which the brief was prepared are R. H. Macy & Co., Abraham & Straus, and the Association of Partners of Stock Exchange Firms.

"There are manifest inequalities under the act of March 3, 1917," says the brief, "between individuals and partnerships, on the one hand, and corporations in the same business, on the other, and the new acts should be so framed as to eliminate them.

"As between a private corporation, whose stockholders are also its officers, and a partnership, both engaged in the same business with equal capital of the same amount, part of which is the accepted good-will for each, and each having the same profit, the corporation would be entitled to deduct from the net profits not only the salaries for its officers, which the partnership cannot deduct, but also the exemption on the entire capital, while a partnership can only deduct on capital represented by actual tangible assets. It can readily be seen that this will operate disadvantageously to partnerships by requiring them to pay on a far larger proportion of profits, thus not only increasing the excess profits tax on the partnership, but also on the individual partners."

The attorneys suggest that the inequality could be eliminated by allowing to partners the same salaries as corporations similarly situated are permitted to deduct from net profits and by also permitting to the partnership the same deductions that a corporation would be allowed to make, regardless of whether those assets were entered upon the books of the partnership or not.

The brief is signed by Charles Henry Butler and John A. Kratz of Washington, D. C.; Edmond E. Wise of 15 William Street, and Stuart McNamara of 30 Pine Street, this city.

BOND BILL PASSES SENATE.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The Senate, by viva voce vote, today adopted the $11,538,945,000 bond issue bill as reported out of joint conference. The measure was not changed by the conferees. It provides for $7,538,945,000 of convertible 4 per cent. bonds, $2,000,000,000 of war certificates and $2,000,000,000 of certificates of indebtedness.

Before the vote was taken, Senator Weeks asked Senator Stone, sponsor of the measure, to explain the policy of the Administration in its apportionment of loans to the Allies, for which $4,000,000,000 is provided in the bill, and also what was the Administration's policy in all the vast expenditures authorized by Congress.

"In this bill there is provision for $4,000,000,000 more of bonds to provide a fresh loan to the Allies," said Senator Weeks. "I am disturbed, as every other thinking man in America is disturbed, I assume, regarding the huge amounts of money we are appropriating for all kinds of purposes. I am chiefly concerned about what is to be done with the money.

"I would like to know if all this money is to be expended wisely and if there is to be a concerted plan governing expenditures, military and otherwise."

Senator Stone replied that the money appropriated by Congress was being expended for war uses where the President regarded it as of the greatest advantage.

"The Senator from Massachusetts knows that," remarked Senator Stone.

"I don't know it," returned Senator Weeks. "I am asking for information."

Senator Stone wound up the colloquy by suggesting that, if Senator Weeks wanted information he ought to go to the executive department for it.

ARBITRATION ENDS SHIPPING STRIKE

RISE FOR WARD LINE MEN

After tying up New York shipping for four days the longshoremen have decided to arbitrate their dispute with the International Mercantile Marine Company over Foreman Frank Larbardo, and the 6,500 strikers will go back to work today. The 300 men who quit on Saturday on the Ward Line piers, at the foot of Wall Street, have accepted the new scale of 45 and 65 cents an hour, and will be at their jobs today.

The steamship lines have lost $100,000, the shippers of freight as much more through damage to cargoes, demurrage, and delay, and the longshoremen are out $25,000 in wages.

The acceptance of arbitration was announced by John F. Riley, President of the District Council of the International Longshoremen's Association after a meeting held yesterday morning in the Grand Opera House, Twenty-third Street and Eighth Avenue, which was attended by 1,400 members of the union, and presided over by Thomas V. O'Connor, President of the organization.

The case will be taken up today by the National Adjustment Committee appointed by the Secretary of War and the Secretary of Labor some months ago. Its members are R. B. Stevens, Vice Chairman of the United States Shipping Board; W. A. Lippman, Assistant Secretary to the Secretary of War; T. V. O'Connor, President of the International Longshoremen's Association, and P. A. S. Franklin, President of the International Mercantile Marine Company.

Mr. Franklin agreed to suspend Larbardo until the question shall be definitely disposed of by the committee. If the decision is against him Larbardo will be dismissed and if the men lose he will be retained as foreman on Pier 60. In either event the strike is over because the longshoremen have agreed to abide by the decision.

While the longshoremen were listening to their leaders in the Grand Opera House yesterday forenoon a message was received by Mr. Riley from the Chief Clerk of the Foreign Post Office in Merton Street, saying that a liner had just docked with 5,000 sacks of long delayed mail on board, the greater part of which was from American soldiers in France and England to their families at home, and that there were no men to unload it from the ship. On receipt of this message Mr. Riley went outside, where fully a thousand longshoremen were waiting to hear the result of the voting, and read the message to them. Two hundred of the men volunteered to unload the 5,000 sacks of mail and left for the pier.

A little later another 300 longshoremen went to the Chelsea piers and started discharging sixty carloads of chilled beef which had been standing there since Tuesday morning for shipment to England.

The meeting was addressed by Mr. O'Connor and Mr. Riley, the men's leaders; Mr. Stevens, and Captain William B. Baker of the United States Army Transport Service. Mr. Stevens appealed to the patriotism of the longshoremen and pointed out that they were injuring the American soldiers in France by holding up the shipment of supplies from this country. He was backed up by President O'Connor, who said it was necessary for the longshoremen to co-operate with the Government at this time if they did not desire their union to rest under the stigma of disloyalty.

Following up the statement in yesterday's TIMES regarding military intervention if the strike was continued, Captain Baker told them that if they voted for arbitration they would get a square deal. If they failed to do that, he felt confident that the Government would make New York a military port, and then the longshoremen would have to work whether they liked it or not.

After the meeting the strikers agreed that Captain Baker's remarks on the possibility of the Federal authorities taking over of the port had influenced them in voting for arbitration.

URGES WAR ADVERTISING.

Governor Edge Says Propaganda Should Be Mixed with Business.

Governor Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, addressing 200 members of the Advertising Club at a luncheon at their clubhouse at 47 East Twenty-fifth Street, urged them yesterday to convert their advertisements into war propaganda. He said advertisements could be so worded as to point to the needs of the nation, while, at the same time, exploiting the commodities sought to be sold. Mr. Edge was an advertising man before becoming Governor.

"The war will be won," he said, "by maintaining prosperous business conditions. I do not want to see business decline. It must be kept up to a high standard, and it is here that the advertising men can help. They must know all classes of business to be successful advertising men, and are therefore peculiarly qualified to give service. In writing your copy, try to see the national question at the same time. Insert a line here and there, to give the people a little more knowledge of the war and its needs. We are not yet at war as a whole, many do not realize the fact of war and the immense task before us."

TO PRINT PAPER IN ENGLISH.

The Oregon Deutsche Zeitung Becomes The Portland American.

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 20.—The Oregon Deutsche Zeitung today changed its name to The Portland American. Its editor, Max Lucke, who has been under investigation by the Government, and other German employes have been dismissed, according to A. M. Kern, its publisher, and hereafter it will be printed wholly in English.

Kern said the changes were made because he had been notifed the paper would be suppressed if it attempted to continue publication in German.

PRESIDENT TAKES CONTROL IN STRIKES

Reed are business men, Mr. Walker and Mr. Marsh are Presidents respectively of the Illinois and Washington Labor Federations. Mr. Frankfurter is a special assistant to Secretary Baker, and has acted confidentially in a number of labor situations involving the War Department. It is expected the commission will begin its investigation in about a week.

Creation of the commission was urged upon the President long before the shipyard strikes on the Pacific Coast started. Shipping Board officials hope to be able to compose these strikes within the next week. Chairman Hurley today conferred with the General Manager of a Seattle shipbuilding company whose granting of union wage demands has been a strong influence in promoting strikes for similar wages in other yards. After other conferences with Seattle builders and labor representatives tomorrow, Mr. Hurley expects to reach some basis for settling strikes in Seattle, Portland, and other places. Reports from San Francisco today indicated that progress was being made toward settling the strike there.

It is understood special attention will be given by the President's commission to charges made to the American Federation of Labor officials that employers in Arizona have encouraged and even financed I. W. W. activities for the sake of discrediting the labor movement among miners and other employes. Recent deportations of workers also will be the subject of inquiry.

While the President did not specifically mention in his memorandum the activities of the Industrial Workers of the World or other pro-German propagandists, it is known that he has full information of what has been going on. He recently sent Federal Judge Harry Covington to make an investigation and has received his report. The result of this investigation has not been made public. The facts obtained, it is said, were placed in the hands of the Department of Justice.

TALK OF EXHUMING MRS. BINGHAM'S BODY

Rumors of Suspicious Circumstances About Death of Former Mrs. Flagler.

GUARDS SET OVER GRAVE

Special to The New York Times

WILMINGTON, N. C., Sept. 20.—Following a series of rumors that originated here and in Louisville, it is reported tonight that members of the Kenan family of this city have practically decided to exhume the body of Mrs. Robert W. Bingham, formerly Mrs. Henry M. Flagler, and before her marriage a Miss Kenan, which is buried in Oakdale Cemetery here, to determine definitely the cause of her death and set at rest the stories that have been in circulation.

While no statement has been issued by the family it is generally understood that the protest that has been made against the codicil of the will of Mrs. Bingham in which she left her husband $5,000,000, is not based solely on the money involved, but that whatever action may be taken is with the desire to clear up all the circumstances of her death.

It is understood that a permit has been given by the County Board of Health to Dr. Charles T. Nesbitt, County Health Officer, for the disinterment of the body, but when this will take place, if at all, is not known, for no statement can be obtained from the family, who look upon any attempt to get information as an intrusion.

The plot in the cemetery where Mrs. Bingham is buried is guarded day and night, and has been since yesterday, when newspaper men, hearing that the body had been exhumed, went out to make an investigation. They were not recognized by the Superintendent, and he telephoned to the family. This morning the Superintendent had instructions to warn all persons to keep away.

It is believed here that if an autopsy is performed it will be by some noted medical men from outside the city.

Dr. Nesbit refused today to say whether he had issued a permit for the exhumation of the body.

Mrs. Bingham inherited a fortune estimated at $70,000,000 from Mr. Flagler, her first husband, one of the organizers of the Standard Oil Company. She married Judge Bingham in November, 1916, and died on July 27 at Louisville. Relatives are protesting a codicil of Mrs. Bingham's will bequeathing $5,000,000 to Judge Bingham.

Mrs. Bingham's death followed an illness of two weeks. The cause of death was said to be "acute heart disturbance."

Mr. Bingham was formerly a Judge of the Circuit Court and Mayor of Louisville. He and Mrs. Flagler had known each other since childhood and were said to have been sweethearts before Mrs. Bingham's first marriage.

Her marriage to Judge Bingham took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, 5 East Sixty-first Street, New York City. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. George Morgan Ward, for fifteen years pastor of the Poinciana Chapel on the Flagler estate at Palm Beach. It was then supposed that Judge and Mrs. Bingham were to make their home in New York, but ultimately they decided to live in the South.

The provisions of her will caused surprise among the friends of Judge Bingham, who contended that he should have received at least $25,000,000, but he declined to contest it.

Upon being urged by friends to contest the will he replied that he and his wife had entered an ante-nuptial agreement that was entirely satisfactory to him.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Sept. 20.—Developments at the time the codicil to the Bingham will was filed here, bequeathing $5,000,000 to Judge Robert Worth Bingham, indicated that the contest would be based on the supposition that Mrs. Bingham was under the influence of a drug when the document was signed.

W. W. Davies, for years law partner of Judge Bingham, who drew the codicil, denied under cross-examination that he knew that Mrs. Bingham had received an injection of drug on the day the document was signed, or that she had ever been given such treatment by her doctor, M. L. Ravitch.

Attorneys here for both sides are silent on the story of exhumation of Mrs. Bingham's body. Judge Bingham is on his way home from Virginia.

In Jefferson County Court today a motion to set aside an order designating additional administrations of the estate left by Mrs. Bingham was overruled, and some think this foreshadows an agreement in the case. Helm Bruce, attorney for Mrs. Louise Wise Lewis, Mrs. Bingham's niece, conferred in New York with his client, and it is said an agreement may be reached by which Mrs. Lewis will receive about $60,000,000 and Judge Bingham $5,000,000, as provided in the will.

ACCUSES MRS. PHINNEY OF TRYING TO KILL HIM

Col. Cromwell Gibbons Has Her Arrested After Scene in His Jacksonville Office.

Special to The New York Times.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 20.—Declaring that his life was threatened last Friday by Mrs. E. G. Phinney, wife of a New York lumber broker, Colonel Cromwell Gibbons, one of the South's best known lawyers, swore out a warrant alleging Mrs. Phinney made an assault upon him with a pistol on Sept. 14 with intent to murder. Mrs. Phinney was arrested this afternoon in a fashionable hotel after a search by officers since Friday, and arraigned for preliminary trial.

Colonel Gibbons testified that he was visited by Mr. Phinney, who is now in this city, to confer upon important matters concerning the divorce suit instituted by Mrs. Phinney, when the latter entered and sought to draw the pistol from a handbag, but before she could use it Mr. Phinney interfered. Clerks in an adjoining office rushed in and in the confusion Mrs. Phinney escaped in a waiting automobile.

In asking the court to make a sufficient bond to protect him, Colonel Gibbons said that Mrs. Phinney was either a lunatic or a criminal and that she should be in a jail or an asylum.

Interviewed by a NEW YORK TIMES representative, Mrs. Phinney said that jail held no terrors for her and that when the public knew the facts it would not blame her.

Mrs. Phinney's father, W. W. Bussey of Augusta, Ga., has been notified and will arrive here tomorrow.

Mrs. Willie Pearl Bussey Phinney of Jacksonville, Fla., and New York is the daughter of Dr. William A. Bussey, a prominent physician of Atlanta, Ga., and was married to E. G. Phinney, head of the Angel Forwarding Company and the E. G. Phinney Company, at the Madison Avenue Baptist Church, Dec. 23, 1914, by the Rev. Dr. Charles Eaton. She was 30 years old and her husband, who had been married twice before, was 52. The couple took up their residence at 460 Riverside Drive. After many quarrels they separated, and in Novemebr, 1915, Mrs. Phinney brought suit in the Supreme Court here for a separation. Subsequently Mr. Phinney started a similar action in Jacksonville, Fla., which he said was his home.

Jacob Mascia, alleged slayer of Policeman George A. Eppley, and John Costello, an alleged accessory, were held without bail to await the action of the Coroner. The two men were also charged with assault and battery with intent to kill John H. Maurer, an assistant District Attorney, who was with Carey at the time of the attack. Five accomplices of the accused men who have not been arrested are alleged to have participated in the attack.

Following the hearing District Attorney Rotan announced that the evidence did not warrant the prosecution by his office of Mayor Smith and other city officials on a charge of conspiracy in connection with the case, but added that private citizens were not prevented from doing so.

This statement followed an announcement made earlier in the day that a warrant for the arrest of Mayor Smith would be sworn out as a result of charges made by Isadore Stern, a member of the State Legislature, that he had warned the Mayor of the importation of the gunmen. Mr. Stern charged that Mayor Smith ignored his appeal for protection in the ward in the face of proof that the gunmen were responsible for the attack on the Finletter Republican Club a few hours before Policeman Eppley was slain. The Mayor denied that he had any knowledge that the men were to be brought here and said he was ready for any warrant of arrest.

"All the power of my administration," he added, "will be used to assist the District Attorney's office in ferreting out the crime and fixing its responsibility upon the real criminals."

Five Investigations Started.

The affar has aroused the city as probably no other of a similar nature in its history. In addition to the investigation by District Attorney Rotan, inquiries were under way today by the Coroner, the Detective Bureau, the Police Department and the Citizens' Committee.

After an examination of witnesses to the shooting which continued virtually all night, Mr. Rotan said:

"I found outrageous conditions in the Fifth Ward. It seems that six or eight men committed this assault absolutely without provocation, and only two have been arrested. There is no question but that these gunmen were brought here by somebdy for a definite purpose."

Harry McNichol, son of State Senator James P. McNichol, a Republican leader in this city, was among the witnesses who testified before the District Attorney. He said, according to Mr. Rotan, that the gunmen first attacked Carey and Maurer, and that Carey fell after being struck with a blackjack, and a bullet intended for him fatally wounded Policeman Eppley. Other witnesses testified that uniformed policemen made no attempt to quell the disturbance.

Deutsch, who apparently was defeated by Carey in his candidacy for Select Council, disclaimed responsibility for bringing the out-of-town men here, and stated he had no knowledge of their presence.

Carey, who was blackjacked, suffered a relapse at his home today and was fined to his bed. At midnight it was reported that he was dying as the result of a fractured skull.

OUR FORCES TO USE GAS AND LIQUID FIRE

Each of the Three Armies to Have a Regiment of Engineers for This Purpose.

GAS SCHOOL UNDER WAY

War Department Order Provides for Large Number of Technical Troops of Various Kinds.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Plans have been made by the General Staff of the army, with the approval of the President and the War Department, for the American forces to use gas and liquid flames when they begin operations against the Germans. The use of such methods by the enemy forces the United States to retaliate with similar measures.

A general order issued by the War Department today carries into effect directions given by the President for the organization of a special "gas and flame service" regiment for each army now being trained. There are three such armies—the regular army, the national army, and the National Guard army—and each will have a gas regiment.

The War Department has been paying particular attention to the "gas and flame" innovations which the Germans introduced. The Pershing force has been undergoing intensive training in the use of gas masks, and in this country a large number of medical officers and officers of the Medical Reserve Corps have taken a special course of instruction at the Army Gas School, which has been established at Fort Sill, Okla.

The order issued today provides for the formation for each army of the following special and technical troops:

1. A gas and flame service, consisting of a regiment of engineers.

2. A mining service, consisting of 1 regimental headquarters and 6 mining egineer companies.

3. A water-supply service, consisting of 1 regimental headquarters and 6 mining companies.

4. A general construction service, consisting of 1 regimental headquarters and 6 engineer companies.

5. An engineer supply service, consisting of 1 regimental headquarters, a battalion of 3 companies of supply engineers, a battalion of 3 companies of workshop engineers, and a service battalion of 4 companies.

6. A surveying and printing service, consisting of 1 battalion of topographical engineers.

7. A road service, consisting of 1 regimental headquarters, 4 battalions of road engineers of 3 companies each; 6 service battalions of 4 companies each, 10 truck companies of 31 trucks each, and 5 wagon companies, with 61 wagons each.

8. An army pontoon park.

Big Railway Force.

For the line of communications the order provides for the formation of the following special and technical engineer troops:

1. A general construction service, consisting of one regimental headquarters, six engineer construction companies, and six service battalions of four companies each.

2. An engineer supply service, consisting of one regimental headquarters, two battalions of engineers (supply) of three companies each, two battalions of workshop engineers of three companies each, and three service battalions of four companies each.

3. A forestry service, consisting of one regimental headquarters, ten battalions of forestry engineers of three companies each, and nine service battalions of four companies each.

4 A quarry service, consisting of one regimental headquarters, two battalions of quarry engineers of three companies each, and three service battalions of four companies each.

5. A light railway service, consisting of one regimental headquarters, five battalions of railway engineers of three companies each, and three service battalions of four companies each in its construction department, and one regimental headquarters, four battalions of railway engineers of three companies each, and three service battalions of four companies each in its operation and mechanical department.

6. A standard gauge railway service, consisting of a construction department, an operation and maintenance department, and a mechanical and supplies department. The construction department will consist of five regiments of railway engineers, to be known as the Eleventh, Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, and Eighteenth Railway Engineers of the national army, and eight service battalions of four companies each. The operation and maintenance department will consist of two regimental headquarters, six battalions of railway engineers of three companies each, and three service battalions of four companies each. The mechanical and supplies department will consist of one regiment of shop engineers, to be designated the Nineteenth Engineers of the national army; one battalion of railway engineers, consisting of three companies, and one service battalion of four companies.

Provides for Many Officers.

The various service battalions will be transfered from one service to another as may be necessary. Engineer troops of a special service may also be utilized in another engineer service in the discretion of the Commanding General.

Each of the regimental headquarters will have a Colonel, a Lieutenant Colonel and three Captains and thirty-eight enlisted men. Each of the battalion headquarters will have one Major, two Captains, and a First Lieutenant and twenty-four enlisted men, and three engineer companies. Each engineer company will have one Captain, three First Lieuetnants and two Second Lieutenants, as well as 250 men.

The new army pontoon parks, authorized in today's general orders, will each consist of three pontoon divisions and one supply division complete, will be officered by two Lieutenants and have 181 enlisted men.

AMERICAN SCHOONER SUNK.

The Ann J. Trainer Torpedoed Off Brest—All of Crew Saved.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—News of the sinking of the Ann J. Trainer, an unarmed American schooner, on Sept. 16, was announced today in a consular telegram to the State Department. The crew of seven men was saved. Whether the vessel was sunk by a submarine or a mine was not stated. The Trainer hailed from Calais, Me., and registered 366 tons net.

The Ann J. Trainer left here Aug. 2 with cargo for Havre, France. Cable advices received by the Ocean Transportation Company, agents for the schooner here, were that she was torpedoed while off Brest. Captain A. Morrison was in command.

Kansans Start Fund and Hope Some German Will Try for It.

MULVANE, Kan., Sept. 20.—Twenty Mulvane men pledged themselves today to give $50 each as the first thousand dollars toward a million dollar reward to be paid to the man of any nationality who will get the Kaiser. They believe such a reward, if the notices were properly scattered across German lines, might get results and would be one of the surest and quickest means of an early peace.

They would broaden the offer and pay the reward to the estate of the man should he lose his life in the successful prosecution of that purpose.

ITHACA, N. Y., Sept. 20.—The removal of Robert M. La Follette, Asle J. Gronna, and William J. Stone from the Senate is asked in a petition started at a meeting of the Ithaca Rotary Club and since signed by a large number of business and professional men of Ithaca. The petition follows:

> To Senator William M. Calder and Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., Senators from the State of New York in the United States Senate:
> Whereas, Senator Robert M. La Follette, Senator William J. Stone, and Senator Asle J. Gronna, and others are deliberately and maliciously obstructing, delaying, and endeavoring to kill legislation designed to enable the United States to vigorously and effectively prosecute the war,
> Therefore, we, the undersigned, residents of Tompkins County, State of New York, respectfully request that you take such immediate action as will remove such enemies of the country's welfare from the United States Senate.

TELLS OF AIDING PRISONERS

Miss Letha Watts of Relief Society Has Found Jobs for 9,500.

Miss Letha Watts, Treasurer and acting head of the Prisoners' Relief Society of Huntington, W. Va., who has devoted herself to the work of the society since its foundation three years ago, spoke at the New York Rotary Club's luncheon at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday. She is the first woman invited to address this body of business men. The Rotary Clubs of the country were the first group of employers to aid the work of the society. E. E. Dudding, an ex-convict, whose experiences in rehabilitating himself brought about the founding of the society, accompanied Miss Watts.

"In spite of many obstacles and with practically no capital, except the small sums donated from time to time, we have been able in the last three years to place more than 9,500 convicts in good positions," Miss Watts said. "Out of that number less than 5 per cent. have disappointed us, simply because there is just about that percentage of people in the jails who cannot be reformed. These should really be in asylums and not in prisons.

"Three years ago we started with almost nothing—except enthusiasm. We sent a form letter to 10,000 employers of men and women throughout the country. Just one, a railroad President, answered favorably, and offered to give situations to ex-convicts who had given us their pledge. Now we have thousands of employers who will give them a chance to work up again. We are now in touch with every prison in the country, both State and Federal, and aim to place upward of 20,000 men and women who will be paroled to us this year."

ALIEN PROBLEM TO WILSON.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A slight hitch occurred today in the Congressional plans to enact a thoroughly drastic law under which nearly every one of the 1,275,000 aliens of draft age in this country would be made to serve in the army if necessary. Representative Rogers of Massachusetts laid his proposals before Frank Polk, Counselor of the State Department, but it was thought advisable to consult the President on the Rogers plan before giving Administration approval to the matter.

Tomorrow the Military Affairs Committee of the House is expected to hold an executive session on the Chamberlain bill to draft aliens into the military service; and if it is learned that the President is not in favor of the more drastic terms proposed by Representative Rogers, that committee will not accept the Rogers amendments. In that case, Representative Rogers will attempt to force his amendments into the bill from the floor of the House.

The Rogers amendments are framed to give aliens who can claim exemption under treaty provisions the choice of waiving such provisions or forever losing the right to become citizens of the United States. Also, it allows the President to order them deported if he sees fit, or to keep them here if the labor situation demands it.

ROOSEVELT OFF FOR WEST.

Special to The New York Times.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt left this afternoon for Kansas City where he will make an address next Monday. In the course of his trip he will speak also at Minneapolis, Racine, and Johnstown, N. Y. "Americanism and the War" will be the keynote of his addresses. Before leaving Colonel Roosevelt spoke of combating pro-Germanism, and suggested that vigilance was the best method of fighting the evil. He commented on the workings of the I. W. W. and the Socialist Party.

"Whatever may have been our judgment in normal times," the Colonel said, "we are convinced that today our most dangerous foe is the foreign language press. Professional pacifists should be regarded as traitors to the great cause of justice and humanity. The only peace is the peace of overwhelming victory."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Another death of a member of the American Expeditionary Force was reported to the War Department today by General Pershing. Private Raymond W. Harris, of one of the engineer regiments, was accidentally killed Sept. 13. His next of kin is his father, Walter Harris, of 681 Brook Street, Bridgeport, Conn.

WARNS THE NATION TO END PROFITEERING

Secretary of Labor Demands That Both Employer and Employe Submit to Restrictions.

WELCOMES FIXING OF PRICES

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 20.—The sessions of the conference of the war convention of American business, called at the instance of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, were devoted chiefly today to problems of banking and to the possibilities of America's commerce as to which widely varying opinions were expressed. The Resolutions Committee will probably spend most of the night considering the various proposals before it and the convention will take action on them tomorrow. Another member of the Administration warned the meeting today against profiteering, but this speaker, Secretary of Labor William B. Wilson, himself a union man for forty-four years, said that labor and capital in time of war must both submit to restrictions.

One resolution which is almost certain to be adopted tomorrow puts the conference on record as strongly approving of the Webb bill permitting combinations of American business men for the export trade. Several speakers expressed approval of it today, and their sentiment was summed up by Alba B Johnson, President of the Baldwin Locomotive works, who said that for the last twenty years Americans had been worshipping the false god of unrestricted competition which had at last fallen under the strain of war conditions.

It was announced shortly before midnight that the following resolution had been approved:

> Resolved, That no attempts be made by business to change labor conditions and that labor make no efforts to force union recognition or changes in standards; that there be no profiteering in business to give rise to labor unrest; that business recommend to the Government creation of a Government board representing labor, capital, and the public, to settle all major disputes, and that the board's decisions be binding on both sides; that industry call on labor to co-operate in making it plain there will be no strikes or lockouts while adjustments are being made; that Government employment agencies be developed and extended by Congressional appropriation, and that industry institute a study of conditions looking toward the alleviation of conditions during times of industrial depression.

There is likely to be some sort of approval of greater powers for the Advisory Commission of the Council of National Defense which may amount to the recommendation of a central war board to co-ordinate practically all the industrial activities of America's prosecution of the war.

Secretary Wilson's Speech.

Secretary Wilson in the course of his address said:

"Employers and employes should both be willing to yield something for industrial peace, should both be willing to make sacrifices in order to keep our industries running smoothly. I have said to employes that this is no time to insist on recognition of your union, no time to insist on the changes of standards in work. I have told them that if they have been unable to gain recognition of unions in normal times they should not endanger their country's future by insisting on it in these abnormal times.

"But I also want to say to you employers that this is no time to stand upon your prejudices, no time to insist on profiteering. If you have been unable to gain big profits in normal times you should not take advantage of your country's necessities by insisting on abnormal profits in these times.

"Did it ever occur to you that the story has gone forth among laboring men that business men are not patriotic, and that the workingman has said to himself that he will insist on getting his share of the swag? Now my position is that there should be no swag.

"Many of you are wondering why there is a spirit of unrest among the laborers of the country. Many of the troubles which have come from this unrest the Department of Labor has been able to adjust by negotiation before they reached the strike stage. Did it ever occur to you that the greatest reason for the unrest that exists among the workingmen of this country is that the story has gone forth that corporations engaged in the iron and steel industry, for instance, are making a profit of from 200 to 400 per cent. a year; that corporations engaged in the shipbuilding industry are making enormous profits; that corporations engaged in mining and lumbering are making enormous profits?"

Explains Failure of I. W. W.

The Secretary declared that the I. W. W. had been unable to make much progress because the American workingman was educated and intelligent enough to see the fallacy of their doctrines. He spoke optimistically of the good results that might be expected from price fixing, declaring that this action would stabilize industry and stabilize the price of labor, thereby making wage-fixing by governmental action unnecessary. But while condemning both syndicalism and paternalistic wage-fixing, he told the business men frankly that the reason many business men wanted to "deal with their men individually" was because such a condition gave the employer overwhelming power. No matter how good the intentions of the employer, he said, such a course would not be profitable to either side.

"There is a limit to which employers can go," he said.

"No matter how generous they may be, and that limit is the extent to which they are forced by their less generous competitors. So far as the employe is concerned he may appreciate your generosity, admire your charity in the housing conditions and other fine surroundings in which you place him; but perhaps he would rather live in a log cabin, a home of his own, and on hominy of his own production than live in a palace and feel that it came from charity. The employe wants the right and privilege of doing something for himself. Now, you employers have the advantage of experience. Your contact with the world gives you a broader view than the employe can possibly have. It is only when he has the opportunity of selecting skilled men to speak for him that he comes anywhere near you in advantages."

Discuss Banking and Finance.

Various phases of banking and finance under war conditions were discussed this morning at a group conference under the presidency of P. W. Goebel, President of the American Bankers' Association. Mr. Goebel, Lewis E. Pierson, Chairman of the Board of the Irving National Bank of New York and others advocated the use of trade acceptances for the expansion of credit and "making our dollars fight as hard as they can" and it was proposed that the Chamber of Commerce of the United States appoint a committee of three to co-operate with similar committees from the National Credit Men's Association and the American Bankers' Association to try to popularize this form of commercial paper.

"Foreign trade, How It May be Made to Help Win the War," and "The Needs for After-the-War Adjustments" were discussed in two sessions, morning and afternoon, under the Chairmanship of Alba B. Johnson, President of the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

"For the last twenty years," Mr. Johnson said, "this nation has been offering a great sacrifice on the altar of a false god. Happily through the war this false god has been overthrown, temporarily, at least. This false god of whom I speak is the principle of unlimited destructive competition. The foundation on which the temple of this deity has been raised is the Sherman anti-trust act, and the results of this act have meant the sacrifice of millions of dollars to American business.

Plea for Reasonable Profit.

"If there is any one thing this war has determined it is that the Sherman act will not stand the strain of a national crisis. The Government itself has come to realize this fact, and recognizes that business must be conducted on the basis of a reasonable profit. And the only way to determine a reasonable profit is through a conference of all concerned in any particular business. The future of business is not at all clear, but it is certain that at the end of the war the American business man will be face to face with two conditions—a tremendous overhead which he will have difficulty in carrying, and the necessity and possibility of extending his business to foreign countries sufficiently to carry this overhead."

In discussing foreign trade nearly every speaker showed much respect for German business organization, and most of them expressed the opinion that American business men would have to work hard and intelligently and ought to receive as much governmental encouragement as possible in order to meet the competition of the better organized European countries after the war.

James A. Farrell, President of the United States Steel Corporation and Chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council, who was introduced by Mr. Johnson as "holding the greatest business position that any American can hold," declared that the war had become an economic conflict and said that the secret of victory lay in the production of ships.

"In the last analysis," Mr. Farrell said, "this is a contest which will be decided by superiority in economic resources. At the beginning of the war, both sides were in possession of these to a lavish degree. By dint of prodigal use by all of the combatants, these resources have been very seriously reduced, and in the case of Germany they must be approaching exhaustion. There can be no question on which side lies the preponderance of economic strength. If it were merely a question of matching the resources of the Entente Allies with those possessed by the Central Powers, weight for weight, or bulk for bulk, the war would speedily come to an end. But the war is prolonged because of the skill and determination which Germany has brought to the organization and coordination of all the material forces available to her. It is here that an imperative obligation rests on American business to contribute its intelligence, its energy, and its tenacity, whole-heartedly and unselfishly, to the problem of how all the resources at joint command can be best employed in the service of the war.

"The United States is called upon to do its share of a tremendous task with a meagre merchant marine. It is freely admitted that Great Britain at the outset of the war allowed a vast amount of merchant tonnage to be wasted through lack of centralized power, and it is doubly important that the United States should profit by the lesson by avoiding any such loss in efficiency."

Sees Chance for Export Trade.

George E. Roberts, assistant to the President of the National City Bank of New York, outlined the increasingly strong economic organizations of European countries, but declared that there was a great opportunity for development of American export trade.

Fred I. Kent, Vice President of the Bankers Trust Company of New York, declared that America and all her allies should make some such arrangements to see that none of their citizens entered into business relations by which neutral customers might make use of American or allied credit to the ultimate advantage of the enemy.

John D. Ryan, President of the Anaconda Copper Company, predicted that Americans need not worry much about Russian trade, as Germany was likely to get the great bulk of it as soon as the war was over, and A. W. Douglas of Arkell & Douglas said he was afraid that Germany would also recover a great part of her South American trade. Charles W. Boynton, President of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce, thought that this country had an excellent opportunity to win a good share of business in Russia.

MERCHANTS TO AID IN SAVING

M. Friedsam to Represent State in Federal Conservation Body.

It is probable that representatives of merchants in every State in the Union will soon meet in Washington to consider with Herbert C. Hoover, the National Food Administrator, a plan for co-operation with the Government in the conservation of the necessities of life. Michael Friedsam, President of B. Altman & Co., who has been selected to represent New York State in the merchants' organization that is to be a part of the Food Administration, said yesterday that he could not discuss any plan of campaign, as he had just learned of his appointment by Mr. Hoover. Mr. Friedsam was one of the first ten State's representatives to be appointed. The plan for aiding conservation work for the Government will be worked out after all the merchant representatives are appointed and there has been opportunity for conference. The campaign will be conducted in each State upon lines best adopted to meet the needs and conditions existing there.

Mr. Friedsam is one of the executors of the estate of Benjamin Altman. He is 54 years old, and grew up in the Altman business. He was born in New York, and is a son of Morris Friedsam, who for twenty-five years was Collector of Internal Revenue and a personal friend of President Arthur. He was 17 years old when he went to work for the Altman firm. He rose in rank until he became manager of the firm, and a partner in 1890. Nine years later, when the firm was incorporated, he was made Vice President. Having come up from the ranks, he has always taken a personal interest in the employes of B. Altman & Co., and he has done much for their betterment. In the recent Red Cross drive he headed one of the teams and personally raised a large sum for the organization. He donated to the Red Cross the use of two floors in the building 389 Fifth Avenue, owned by the Altman estate. For this he was thanked publicly by a vote of the Executive Committee of the American Red Cross.

WON'T COMMANDEER NEUTRAL TONNAGE

Exports Board Expects Agreement Whereby Vessels Will Be Used in Coastwise Trade.

HOUSE TO PAVE THE WAY

Bill Being Drawn Up to Permit Foreign Ships to Enter This Traffic While the War Is On.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—There were reports today that the State Department and Exports Administrative Board were near an agreement with the members of the Dutch Commission and representatives of other neutral countries over the disposal of tonnage held up in Atlantic ports as a result of the embargo which has been declared against the northern neutrals of Europe.

It is possible that much of this tonnage will soon find its way into the coastwise trade, as the diplomats have found that this Government is firm in its position not to permit the use of the ships to carry foodstuffs to Europe which may leak into Germany.

For several days there was talk about commandeering these neutral vessels, but this has now stopped, and the attitude of the Government apparently is against such drastic action. This is taken by many to indicate that developments of importance, which will bring about a compromise, may be expected before long.

At present, it has been estimated, there are more than 400,000 tons of neutral vessels tied up in the Atlantic ports, loaded with wheat, corn, and cattle fodder. The Administrative Board of the Exports Council has been urging that these ships be unloaded and put into other trade, as the United States would not permit them to sail under the original charters.

The Dutch Minister, who refused to consider such a proposition, has been recalled, and the Dutch mission is now in full charge of the negotiations with the United States.

Congress, and not the President, will determine the limitations under which foreign ships may engage in the coastwise trade of the United States, according to a bill which will soon be introduced in the House from the Committee on Merchant Marine. The Committee ordered a favorable report on a bill today, after a series of hearings in which it became evident that Congress will never accede to the request of the Administration to allow the President to determine the conditions and limits under which foreign vessels could engage in coastwise trade.

The bill, which will be written by Chairman Alexander of the Merchant Marine Committee, will permit the President to suspend the present provisions of law and permit vessels of foreign registry and foreign built vessels admitted to American registry under the act of Aug. 18, 1914, to engage in coastwise trade until 120 days after the war ceases.

The act of Aug. 28, 1914, permitted foreign vessels to be taken into American registry under certain conditions as an emergency measure. The present bill, however, will not permit foreign vessels to engage in coastwise trade with Alaska.

The Merchant Marine Committee of the House heard that Canadian transcontinental railroads were preparing to gobble all business between the United States and Alaska under the proposed act, and for that reason wrote into the bill a specific exception in the case of Alaska.

The proposed bill also will allow Canadian vessels on the Great Lakes to engage in traffic between United States ports.

"That during the present war and for a period of 120 days thereafter the United States Shipping Board may, if in its judgment the interests of the United States require, suspend the present provisions of law and permit vessels of foreign registry and foreign-built vessels admitted to American registry under the act og Aug. 18, 1914, to engage in the coastwise trade of the United States; provided, that no such vessel shall engage in the coastwise trade except upon a permit issued by the United States Shipping Board, which permit shall limit or define the scope of the trade and the time of such employment; and provided further that in issuing permits the board shall give preference to vessels of foreign registry owned, leased, or chartered by citizens of the United States or corporations thereof; and provided further that the provisions of this act shall not apply to the coastwise trade with Alaska or the trade between Alaskan ports."

The original proposal was incorporated in a bill by Representative Alexander providing that the President "may, if in his opinion the interests of the United States so require, permit, by proclamation, vessels of foreign registry to engage in the coastwise trade within such limits and under such conditions as he shall deem wise."

DINING CAR STEWARDS NAME BEEFLESS DAY

After Oct. 2 None Will Be Served on Tuesdays on Railroads Here.

It will be useless for railroad travelers to ask for roast beef, steaks, filets of beef or even beef broth in any dining car on any Tuesday after Oct. 2, for the American Association of Dining Car Stewards has decided that Tuesday will be a beefless day for the duration of the war. This was announced yesterday, with the approval of Herbert C. Hoover, National Food Administrator, by John McE. Bowman, head of the Department of Hotels and Restaurants of the Food Administration, who has just returned from a conference with the Dining Car Stewards in Chicago. Thirty-two members of the association were present, and they agreed upon a plan of food conservation on railroad trains.

The first result of the Chicago conference is a folder issued by the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for display on tables in its dining cars. This reads:

> UNITED STATES FOOD ADMINISTRATION.
> Eat Plenty—Eat Wisely—But Without Waste.
> Food Will Decide the War.
> Save the Wheat
> Save the Meat
> Save the Fats
> Save the Sugar
> Save the Fuel
> For

In addition to the beefless day the stewards' association also agreed not to serve wheat bread unless it was asked for. The plan of economy, however, will extend to every item on the menu. Care will be taken to eliminate waste in the proportioning of food. The association, Mr. Bowman said, resolved not only to print the general plea of the Food Administration on all menu cards, but it was also resolved to enlist the employes of dining cars in the service of food conservation. To this end they are to be asked to sign a pledge and every one of them will wear the badge of the national Food Administration.

The Lackawanna Railroad, he said, did not wait for the convention of the dining car superintendents to take action. Howard Boardman, Superintendent of the Lackawanna serivce, went ahead with the plan, and has had the regulations of the Food Administration printed on his menu cards. He has also adopted the plan of serving "war portions," which consists of one half to two thirds of regular portions and at a corresponding reduction where the cost of service permits.

LADIES' TAILORS STRIKE.

Demand Union Shops, 48-Hour Week, and Higher Wages.

The cost of women's clothes this Fall will go still higher if the ladies' tailors win their demands, to obtain which a strike of 8,000 members of Local 80 of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' Union was called yesterday. Accounts differed as to how many left their work; the union headquarters said all the 8,000 members quit; the manufacturers said only a few were out.

Ladies' tailors' strikes have not been very successful in the past. The workers are not as well unionized as in the cloak and suit trade, which manufactures ready-made garments for women. The shops of the ladies' tailors are "open" shops, while the cloak and suit shops are "closed."

The chief demands of the strikers are for a union shop, a 48-hour week, $30 a week minimum flat for tailors, $26 for bushelmen, $20 a week for male helpers, and $18 a week for female helpers. The men and women called out are workers in "Fifth Avenue" shops and in department stores.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

John Galsworthy's latest play, "A Bit o' Love," will be produced here by Henry Miller in November with O. P. Heggie in the chief role. The piece was given a few preliminary performances in San Francisco during the Summer.

This play, which was formerly known as "The Slacker," has been in rehearsal for two weeks, and will be offered here next month. The cast includes Emmet Corrigan, William H. Thompson, Harry C. Browne, Allan Dinehart, Pauline Lord, and Lizzie Hudson Collier.

A new one-act play by Barrie, entitled "Barbara's Wedding," has been received by Charles Frohman, Inc.

Fred Stone and the company which will play "Jack o' Lantern" will leave for Philadelphia by special train tomorrow morning. The piece will be played there for about a month and will then come to the Globe.

Julia Sanderson and Joseph Cawthorn have been added to those who will perform for the Seventy-first Regiment at the Hippodrome on Sunday night.

William A. Brady's next production will be "The Land of the Free," in which Florance Nash will be featured. Fannie Hurst and Harriet Ford are the authors.

Edward Abeles has been added to the cast of "On With the Dance," now in rehearsal.

"Yes or No," a drama by Arthur Goodrich, has been accepted for production by Anderson and Weber. Mary Boland and Emily Polini will have the principal roles.

Tottola de Valencia, a Spanish dancer, has been engaged for the Century revue by Messrs. Ziegfeld and Dillingham. Senorita de Valencia is now in Spain. Her salary is announced as $500 a performance.

Arthur Hammerstein's new musical production, "Furs and Frills," had its premiere last night at Parson's Theatre, Hartford. It will be brought to New York after a short engagement on the road.

NEW YORK, FRIDAY, SEPT. 21, 1917.

TIME TO WAKE UP.

It is a characteristic of primary elections that the professional politicians, the "workers," the trained bands, are sure to vote in them, while the great body of the party keeps away. The vote in the Republican primaries Wednesday showed the usual power of a party minority. It was not an ordinary primary, however. It was a party primary to pass on nonpartisan nominations. The strength of Mr. BENNETT came largely from the lingering partisan resentment which had made itself so conspicuous, especially in Brooklyn, against the nomination of a Democrat for Mayor.

In spite of the remarkable achievements of the Fusion administration, in spite of the earnest appeals of the most distinguished Republicans, Mr. ROOT, Mr. HUGHES, Mr. ROOSEVELT, to support it; in spite of the clear perception and statement of all the Republican leaders able to look beyond their noses that the best course for the Republican Party was to identify itself with municipal good government and "the best administration New York has ever had," Mr. MITCHEL got only 1,119 votes more than Mr. BENNETT, a politician who, before the primaries, was not regarded seriously, and who is now giving fresh evidence of his intellectual calibre by crying "Fraud!" and demanding a recount.

Mr. BENNETT is entitled to all the satisfaction which may accrue to him, though not to his party, from the fact that he carried the Boroughs of Brooklyn, Queens, and Richmond. Too many Republican Fusionists looked upon the victory of Mr. MITCHEL as a certainty and didn't take the trouble to go to the polling places. On account of unadvertised changes in the geography of Assembly districts many voters had great difficulty in finding their election districts; and, doubtless, many failed to find, and gave up the search for, their proper polling places. So the party primary, carried after all by the nonpartisans, was even more meagre of attendance than could have been predicted.

In 1916 Mr. HUGHES got 111,037 votes in Manhattan. The Manhattan Republican primary vote Wednesday was 23,603. In Queens County Mr. HUGHES got 34,609. The total Republican primary vote Wednesday was 5,671. In Kings County Mr. HUGHES had 118,962. The Brooklyn total Republican primary vote Wednesday was 34,158. In the Bronx Mr. HUGHES had 40,192. Mr. MITCHEL and Mr. BENNETT together got 7,430. In Richmond Mr. HUGHES got 7,174. The combined Mitchel-Bennett vote was 1,291. The Republican vote for President in the whole city in 1916 was 311,974. The Republican primary vote in the whole city was 72,173, less than one-fourth.

Only a small part of the Republicans were heard from Wednesday. None the less, the fact that a partisan combination, aided by exterior and suspect elements, came so near defeating Mayor MITCHEL is regrettable in so far as it shows the still considerable power of partisanship when nonpartisan City Government has become an accepted idea of thoughtful citizens, and when it has been carried to so fruitful and splendid performance for nearly four years. On the other hand, the friends of Fusion have a needed notice and warning. They are now constrained to make the most active and vigorous and multifarious campaign which can be planned.

They have thought, and were justified in thinking, that the work of Mayor MITCHEL'S administration, its honesty, its trained competency, its visible and palpable service to the city, its freedom from the old corruptions and favoritism and scandals that were Tammany, its moral reconstruction of the Police Department, its admirable improvements in the Fire Department, in the Board of Education, in Charities and Correction, in every branch of the municipal government, were more than sufficient titles to continuance. So they are and should be; but in reforming and reinvigorating the City Government, by every change for the better, by loyal, constant service with an eye single to the public good, a crop of enemies is created; and, powerless to find considerable real faults, those enemies invent and spread fictions. It is for the friends of good government to spread the true record before the people. Perhaps Mr. BENNETT is rather to be thanked than blamed. To him we shall owe the new spirit and vigor with which Fusion will henceforth attack all the forces that seek the restoration of the old order of City Government for politics and graft.

Not the least of the city's obligations to Mayor MITCHEL is on account of his ardent Americanism, loyalty, and patriotism, qualities that, singularly enough, have added to his enemies. The dignity, personal distinction, and grace and force of speech with which he has met the representatives of our foreign comrades in the war for freedom have been deeply appreciated by all loyal citizens. The crime of skilled administration is even subordinated, by some of his opponents, to the crime of patriotism. New York will support him for the things he has done and the enemies he has made; and, doubtless, most of the men who voted against him in the Republican primaries will faithfully uphold him at the polls. Before it has really begun, the Fusionists have felt that their campaign "lagged." Now it will speed.

THE CHIEF OF STAFF.

The permanent appointment at this moment of a general officer of the experience and fitness of Major Gen. KUHN to the post of Chief of Staff would have a heartening effect on the nation. A temporary appointment now, even to do honor to so valuable an officer as General TASKER BLISS, who is nearing the age of retirement, might have a different effect on the public mind. The people are thoroughly alive to the need of speed in our war preparations, and the promotion of General KUHN would be received as an indication that the Government intends to expedite the mobilization. Inevitably, the assembling of the drafted contingents has been much delayed. September is well advanced and not half of the men already drafted have been called to the colors. For those who have been called the equipment is not yet complete. The appointment as the military head of the army of an officer in the prime of life, of the most extensive military training, who has seen the European armies at work, who has won the respect and admiration of his brother officers and the confidence of the country, should not be longer delayed.

General KUHN has had a brilliant career. Lately, honors have fallen to him quickly, but they have been deserved. In a little more than two years he has risen from a Lieutenant Colonelcy to a Major Generalship. In army circles he has frequently been spoken of as the most fit officer for the foremost position. The duties of the Chief of Staff are not negative. He should be more than a figurehead. Our defective National Defense act somewhat restricts his powers, and the law should be amended to give him full authority as the military head of the army.

The general belief is that General KUHN is the kind of officer who will at all times exert the full measure of his authority and impress upon his civil superiors the wisdom of giving him a free hand. As head of the War College he has had considerable influence already. He is one of our best equipped military engineers, and there are huge engineering problems to be solved in preparing for our operations in France. It is rumored that the General Staff may be quartered in France after our soldiers are engaged at the front. That would be a military innovation without precedent, but in this great war precedents do not count for much. The English Chief of Staff remains on the English side of the Channel, to be sure, but that is not 3,000 miles from the seat of war.

THE MEN, NOT THE MACHINES.

"The war will be won," said Major Gen. LEONARD WOOD, addressing his contingent of the national army in camp, "by well-trained and well-disciplined men." That is the essential fact. Unless we can produce in time the needed millions of men who are not only willing and physically fit, but have been thoroughly disciplined and trained, we cannot win. Not 16-inch field guns and high explosive shells, shrapnel and machine guns and tanks, airplanes and their bombs, Admiral FISKE's aerial torpedo or Mr. EDISON's many inventions, can win; it must be the men. We have men in sufficient quantities, but as a nation we have hitherto lacked a sense of the need of discipline; while we have neglected military training, which we must never neglect in the future, until the last moment. We are beginning well to atone for our neglect. The country responds nobly to the call. Secretary BAKER says we shall soon have 2,300,000 men under arms. But when we have a full million thoroughly trained and well-disciplined men we shall be warranted in feeling secure. Not until then.

A deficiency bill is to be passed to provide for increased supplies of ammunition and arms and to pay for additional construction work. These things are necessary. We must have all the machinery needed for war, and there will be no lack of money to pay for it. We must have all the airplanes that we can build, and our air engines must be perfect. But, above all, we must have the trained and disciplined men. The work that has now been begun at the sixteen cantonments of the national army, and in the various camps of the troops drafted from the National Guard of the States, is by far the most important that we have in hand. Our skill in invention and in engineering, in planning and building, has often been proved. Nobody who has driven around the vast circumference of the greatest reservoir in the world, in the Ashokan district, can doubt that the nation which produced the men who designed and built that mighty work is a hard nation to defeat in modern warfare. But we have started on our first attempt to train and discipline quickly millions of men for soldiering. That the attempt will be successful we do not doubt. But its success depends upon hard and persistent labor directed with the highest intelligence, and the patient and earnest co-operation of all the American people.

MR. KITCHIN'S FIGURES.

In a speech delivered in the House of Representatives a few days ago in which he advocated an increase in postage rates on second-class matter, newspapers and periodicals, Representative KITCHIN of North Carolina was pleased to make use of THE TIMES as an example in support of his argument. He contends that by charging rates that do not pay the cost of carriage and distribution the Government is really paying a subsidy to newspapers and periodicals enjoying the second-class privilege. Our neighbor The Tribune, which from its familiarity with its own business ought to have perceived the misleading character of Mr. KITCHIN'S statistics, inclines to the opinion that until his figures are "successfully challenged "the public will take little stock in "the argument that the Government "is now carrying second-class mail "matter at reasonable rates." With that argument we have no concern. If the rates are not reasonable they should be raised. THE TIMES is contending, not that the second-class rates as a whole are reasonable, but that the proposed increase now in consideration in the Conference Committee, so far as it applies to newspapers, is not based upon reason, has not been determined by any proper computation of cost, and that it has the appearance rather of an attempt to punish the newspapers and their readers than of a sincere effort to get revenue for the Government.

We quote that paragraph of Mr. KITCHIN'S speech in which he attempted to show that THE TIMES is in receipt of a "subsidy" from the Government:

> Now, take the case of a big city daily like THE NEW YORK TIMES. Last fiscal year the Government carried and distributed through the mails 10,023,200 pounds of this daily at a cost for transportation (average haul 300 miles) of $150,348 and for handling and distributing of $400,928. The total cost to the Government of the service rendered was $551,276, for which it received only $100,232, making a clear loss to the Government of $451,044 and giving a clear subsidy to the publishers of THE TIMES of $451,044.

Mr. KITCHIN presumes to give "the cost to the Government" of transporting and distributing 10,023,200 pounds of THE TIMES in the last fiscal year as $551,276. He states that as a fact. It is not a fact, it has no relation to fact. Mr. KITCHIN evidently reaches this figure by assuming that the cost to the Government of THE TIMES service bears the same ratio to the total cost of second-class mail carriage and distribution that the 10,023,200 pounds of copies of THE TIMES carried bears to the 1,202,470,676 pounds which is the aggregate of all second-class matter. There is no truth or fairness in that ratio, it is miles away from the truth, for the second-class total includes many million pounds of magazines and other periodicals circulated all over the continent and costing the Government for handling and distribution vastly more than the cost incurred for handling and distributing newspapers, either in the aggregate or per copy. Yet it is upon these figures that Mr. KITCHIN'S subsidy argument is based, and they are false.

Moreover, on more than one-third of the whole bulk of copies of THE TIMES sent through the mails the Post Office Department incurs no cost whatever for handling or distribution. Its total cost is that of transportation. These copies are put up in bundles and delivered, not to the Post Office, but to the railroads transporting them, and they are thrown off on the stations at their destination, the Government performing no further service. The copies of THE TIMES sent through the mails direct to subscribers are put in mailbags at the office of THE TIMES, and likewise transported by it to the railroad stations, classified according to destination, thus relieving the railway postal clerks of the labor of sorting. These copies are distributed like other local matter through the Post Office. The cost of that distribution service and of carriage is the only cost incurred by the Government. In the total it is very far below the figure given by Mr. KITCHIN.

In order that a judgment may be formed as to the truth of the often-repeated assertion that the Government carries newspapers as second-class matter at less than the cost of transportation, we present the subjoined table showing the amount actually paid by THE TIMES for transportation by express to the cities named, and for comparison the amounts that would be paid to the Post Office were the same weight of papers sent by mail:

It will be seen that this service is performed by private concerns, the express companies, at substantially one-half the rate charged by the Government, 1 cent a pound. Newspapers sent to Boston by express on passenger trains go at the rate of three-eighths of 1 cent per pound, against 1 cent per pound charged by the Government. To Baltimore and Washington the rate is one-fourth of 1 cent per pound, three-fourths of 1 cent a pound less than the Post Office rate. To points beyond Chicago, as far, for instance, as St. Paul, newspapers may be sent by express at $1 per hundred pounds, the very rate now paid to the Government, which the House insists is unremunerative as a whole, although more than nine-tenths of newspaper distribution will be included in a zone of very much less than 1,200 miles radius. In payment of postage on copies of THE SUNDAY TIMES sent through the mails THE TIMES pays the Government $928.54, while the cost of sending many more than twice the same number of copies by express is only $800.75.

THE TIMES desires no subsidy from the Government or from any other source. It is receiving none, it will accept none. It firmly believes that if the Post Office Department were capable of ascertaining and accurately apportioning its costs it would be found that THE TIMES pays in full the total expense it incurs in transporting and distributing copies of this newspaper. But the costs of newspaper service are so inextricably confused with the far greater costs of magazine service that the Post Office Department is quite unable to determine what, separately, they are. Even if Mr. KITCHIN'S figures bore a recognizable relation to fact, the sum of $451,044 which he represents as "a "clear subsidy to the publishers of "THE TIMES" is not a subsidy to the newspaper. If it were a subsidy to anybody, which it is not, it would be to the readers of THE TIMES. If it were a subsidy to the newspaper, it would be either paid to this newspaper or else paid for a service for which otherwise THE TIMES itself would have to pay. Neither is true. Newspapers do not pay the postage charges, they are paid by the readers of newspapers. The increased rates now proposed would of necessity have to be charged by newspapers to their readers receiving the paper through the mail. The point of chief objection is that the rates are so outrageously high for remoter destinations as to be prohibitory. The effect, therefore, would be not to get revenue for the Government, but to prevent the circulation of newspapers at points distant more than a few hundred miles from the office of publication. If this is not the object of the increase so zealously urged by Mr. KITCHIN and other members of the House and so much clamored for by the Post Office Department, then we are quite unable to discover what its object is.

THE GOVERNMENT'S ANTI-TRUST POLICY.

Washington dispatches say that the Government is about to request the indefinite postponement of the cases against the trusts which now are on the calendar of the Supreme Court. That is not the best way of settling the embarrassment of the Government, the court, and business interests, but there can be no bad way of getting rid of that troublesome matter. The best way would be such a reaffirmation of the rule of reason as should leave no doubt of its meaning, and should end the controversy on its merits. The next best way would be for the Government frankly to admit its error in prosecution and move for dismissal. Or the Government might do as the trusts do, plead nolo contendere and drop the matter, because it can no more convince the Supreme Court than the court can convince the Department of Justice.

In whatever way the axe is removed from over the necks of good trusts, it is too plain for argument that it is not possible either to enforce unreasonable restraints of trade or to conduct business without reasonable agreements in technical restraint of trade. The list of violations of the Sherman law, as unreasonably construed, with public benefit in the prosecution of the war, makes it necessary that the Government should reconcile its preaching with its practice. The war could not be won, and prosperity after the war could not exist, if the Government should persist in the policy which it is possible to believe it is now reconsidering.

The President has been so much wiser than his advisers in this matter that it is a wonder he has so long supported them in a forlorn hope. It is better that he should have done so, thereby causing their apparent confession that at last they have reached the end of their rope, yielding to superior forces of both a legal and a practical character.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A Market Mystery Explained.

Mr. HOOVER, in addressing the War Convention of American Business Men in Atlantic City, expressed an earnest desire to remove from the public mind an illusion as to the powers of the Food Administration Board, of which he is the head. It is indeed well that illusions should be removed from minds of any sort, and there is consequently advantage to be derived from the information which Mr. HOOVER proceeded to give. It was to the effect that the authority and efficiency of himself and his associates are strictly limited by law to the domain that lies between the producer and the retailer, and covers neither of those extremes. In other words, Mr. HOOVER cannot coerce the raisers of food, or the ultimate sellers of it, and such help as he can give to those who pay for and eat it is indirect and, as it were, incidental.

That will be news to a great part of the public, not because they ever were told anything else, officially, but because, upon the natural assumption that governmental food control had for its chief, if not its only, object the keeping down of the prices of the necessities of life for the consumers of this and other countries, they had founded the equally natural conclusion that the law was so drawn by our legislators as to bring about that certainly desirable result. So Mr. HOOVER'S statement, while it will not go far, or any distance at all, toward contenting the consumers who have been waiting impatiently, and as yet in vain, for a decrease in their grocery bills, will at least explain to them why their confident expectations have not been fulfilled.

For the householder, as a rule next to invariable, never enters the domain to which Mr. HOOVER'S activities are confined. The householder does not deal with producers, and he has nothing to do with distribution. All his dealings are with the retailer, and experience has taught him gravely to doubt if happenings in Mr. HOOVER'S field of operation have any large or immediate effect on the retailer except to give him an occasional excuse for raising prices. They do not compel him to lower them. Now, as before, only the competition of other retailers does that, and current prices in the retail markets hint that competition no longer has the efficacy ascribed to it by the older economists.

The "lesson" of Mr. HOOVER'S revelation seems to be that the food law was ill drawn and needs amendment in the way of broadening its incidence.

Another Plea for Oleo.

There is one simple and easy way in which Congress could effect an almost instant and a considerable decrease in the cost of living. It is a way far from as safe for the members of Congress as it is simple and easy—that must be confessed—but what is danger to men as brave as they—to men whose one thought is the general public interest, men haughtily indifferent to the interests of special classes, no matter how well organized or how efficient on Election Day? The thing for Congress to do, if it really wants to attack the high-price citadel at one of its most vulnerable angles, is to repeal the Federal law that taxes the manufacture of oleomargarine of any kind, and very much more heavily taxes that substance when it is prepared in the only manner that makes it a competitor on fair terms with butter.

The only imaginable reason why even the white oleomargarine that next to nobody will buy is taxed and can be sold only under an elaborate system of licenses, and why, if it be colored exactly as is all except a very little of the very best butter, and so made largely salable, the licensing system is still further elaborated and the tax many times multiplied—the reason for all that is because the dairymen want it to be so. They have never been able to deny that oleomargarine is as wholesome and nutritious as their own product. Everybody who has given the matter any attention knows that it is—that in every essential quality it is exactly the same thing, and that its better grades are to eye and taste practically indistinguishable from butter by anybody before whom the two may be set unlabeled.

Whether made of beef fat or of any one of several pure vegetable oils, there is absolutely nothing to be said against oleomargarine as food and much to be said in its favor. Even to the imagination it ought to appeal more effectively than butter, for it is of far cleaner origin, and there is no suspicion, as in the case of butter, that it sometimes carries the germs of disease.

And were oleomargarine permitted to come into the general use for which it is fully qualified, not only would it save money as a cheap substitute for butter, but it should and would decrease the prices of milk and of all the milk products, especially cream, the cost of which is fast approaching the prohibitive point.

Criticism Was Not Detraction.

One of THE TIMES correspondents seems to have found something objectionable in the regrets recently expressed of Mrs. GERTRUDE ATHERTON and others that some of the American soldiers in France were not as tactful as they should be, and that they were giving something of offense there by acting and talking as if they had crossed the water to show more experienced soldiers than themselves how to whip the Germans.

Our correspondent's displeasure was expressed in a line that ran—"small talk about politeness is somewhat ill-timed."

That is a mistaken idea, at least about the politeness, however it may be as regards "small talk" about it; and in gentle exhortations to present modesty as the highest form of courtesy there is not, as this critic seems to think, betrayal of the slightest inappreciation of the task which the United States has taken up, no reflection on the intrinsic merits of the men who have devoted their lives to the performance of that task, and no minimizing of the gravity of the situation which we all expect them to help efficiently in settling and settling right.

Nobody can doubt that American assistance was needed by the European antagonists of the Central Empires—nobody dreams of hinting that the assistance will not be bravely and vigorously given. But it is nevertheless desirable that our new armies should remember how very new they are, how much they have to learn, and how well equipped the British, French, and Italian soldiers, from Generals down to privates in the ranks, are for teaching them a lot that they do not know.

DRAFTING ALL THE SONS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The writer noticed in today's TIMES that the District Exemption Board, of which Judge Hughes is the Chairman, has adopted a resolution to the effect that "the existing emergency does not require that more than two sons of one family should be called for military service, even in the absence of pecuniary dependency of a parent or other relative."

The writer represents the War Department before Local Board 170, and his experience there confirms the necessity for the immediate enactment by Congress of some law, or the immediate adoption by the War Department of some regulation, which will prevent the drafting of all of the young sons of one family. The writer has in mind especially the case now before our board of three brothers—Abraham R., Milton R., and Oscar R.—all of whom are between the ages of 21 and 30 years, all of whom have been summoned in the first draft, and all of whom have been taken for military service. Under the present regulations neither the local board, the district board, nor the writer may lawfully consider the injustice arising from this situation.

Under the present statute any number of sons in one family, if called for examination and passed, must be taken for service unless there is some independent ground for exemption. It would seem, since the draft law was intended to be a selective service law, that not all of the sons of one family should be taken, at least not in the first call. The present emergency does not demand this extreme step, and there are sufficient remaining men available for service without going to such lengths.

I. MAURICE WORMSER.

Army Cooks.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In replying to Soldier Daniel J. Maher of Company L, Twenty-second Regiment, Fort Hamilton Garrison, relative to his recent explanation of army rations and bountiful meals, in order to disprove what my previous written article in The Times Magazine section told, Sept. 2, it is necessary to detail some matters.

Army rations are bountiful and well cooked when prepared by the trained cook of regular army accomplishments; but there has been no surplus of this rare article since war was declared, until recently, when training is being done along those needed lines.

Soldier Maher missed the main point of my article, which was, not to impress with the facts of a 40-cent allowance per man, per day, being insufficient, but rather boldly to state that the army ration, when handled by army cooks who know their business, top to bottom, has no bugbear of a 40-cent allowance per day, per man. The "inference" was that all other cooks should pattern after the army cook and the army ration is what it is intended to be—all right.

The previous article stated this point clearly. Only the inexperienced camp cooks are unable to make ends meet on that 40-cent basis. The mess sergeant's manual, given them as an aid, often proves a puzzle to the youthful cooks, who, with a fear of going beyond that 40 cents per day, are limited to only a few foods, though the book embraces a number of foods—many of them reckoned as "extras" by the men of the company. They frequently have to make up the cash differences for food used at meals. The men call this "chipping in." It surely and slowly drains their monthly salary.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read Mrs. Atherton's letter and your editorial comment concerning the attitude of our soldiers in France. The alarm expressed seems unnecessary unless we have lost all sense of proportion.

France fought splendidly, for what? In defense of invaded lands, ruined homes and outraged womanhood. Do we doubt for one moment that our men would not have fought as gloriously and as bitterly if their homes had been attacked?

Our soldiers have left the homes of their childhood and, braving the dangers of a submarine-infested sea, have gone to a foreign land to fight, for what? For a principle, that "the world may be made safe for democracy." The nature of the case demands that they ride on the crest of the emotional wave. If, in their cheerful assurance to the people around their encampment that they are there to win the war for them and for the world, they shout a little too loud, who shall say them nay? Back of their careless big brother attitude there may be a lump in the throat as a wave of longing for the hills of their native land comes over them with heartbreaking force. Is it not natural to hide homesickness with a little honest bluff? Let them strut a little; they have earned the right.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Here and there throughout our country there is a man whose present status in life is definitely unsettled. Temporarily he has not been drawn in the first draft, physically he is not qualified for service in the army or navy, and presently he is not working. The ever present question in his mind is, "What shall I do?" and candidly there comes another question in his mind, "Is there not some phase of Government work in which I can be engaged?"

After considering the greatness, composition, and organization of the Government's military institution, it seems there ought to be places of employment for those men who are not qualified for military service. But how can he inform his Government of his qualifications and abilities so that the Government can make definite use of him?

The writer, being somewhat physically handicapped, is anxious to know how he can engage himself in some definite way for his country. Perhaps, in answer, a good suggestive letter in your paper might be of significance to a number of such young men.

JAMES B. HAWLEY.

THE VOLUNTEER.

My country needs me. On her lips today
I hear the bugles calling to my heart,
And at the sound my sluggish pulses start,
And every blood-drop seems at once to say,
"I am a patriot! You but lead the way!"
So comes the summons, ringing over seas—
The clarion warning, pealing on the wind—
I wake to action, willing, brave, resigned.
My country's fate is mine! Then let the fray
Wax hot and hotter, till the end appears;
Those born in freedom scorn all weakling fears!
My country needs me! Hark! Again the cry!
I go to serve, to conquer, or to die!

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The marriage of Miss Daisy Polk of San Francisco to General Marie Joseph Louis Robert de Buyer of the French Army, which took place in the village of Vitrimont, near Lunéville, in Lorraine, yesterday, was the culmination of a romance begun nearly a year ago when Miss Polk's automobile broke down one day near Vitrimont, where she has been in charge of the reconstruction of the village. General de Buyer happened to pass by and offered the services of his chauffeur to repair the break, thus beginning the acquaintance which led to yesterday's ceremony.

The marriage took place in the church, which was the first building restored in the village, thanks to Miss Polk's work. It was followed by a breakfast in the second building which had been completed. The ceremony was of the simplest possible order, as the General's nephew was killed at Verdun a month ago, but all the villagers seized the opportunity of paying homage to their benefactress.

Miss Polk by her marriage becomes Countess de Buyer-Mimeure, as General de Buyer bears the title of Count de Buyer-Mimeure. After leaving St. Cyr Count de Buyer-Mimeure entered the cavalry and at the beginning of the war was a temporary General of Brigade, taking command of the Sixth Brigade of Cuirassiers. He was appointed to the command of the Third Cavalry Corps in 1915 and in 1916 of the Second Army Corps. He was cited in January, 1915, for brilliant service performed on Nov. 11, 1914, and was made a Commander of the Legion of Honor in July, 1916.

The civil ceremony yesterday was held in the temporary Town Hall, which had been decorated for the occasion. The music at the religious ceremony was furnished by Miss Ethel Mary Crocker and Miles. Guerin, Keller, and des Garas. Village girls served the wedding breakfast at the inn, which was decorated with American and French flags. M. Mirman, Prefect of the Department of Meurthe et Moselle, gave the bride away. Others present were Mme. Mirman and her daughters; Count Pierre de Buyer, Baron du Ball, Mme. and Miles. de la Boulueiere, Mayor Kellier of Lunéville, and the Marquise d'Eyragid.

HOUSTON BUYS SEED CORN.

Agriculture Department to Resell It to Farmers in Texas.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Inaugurating the Department of Agriculture's first undertaking for the sale of seed to farmers as provided by the food production law, Secretary Houston today authorized the purchase of 25,000 bushels of seed corn in Northern and Northeastern Texas for sale to farmers in the counties of that State where this year's corn crop failed.

The seed will be bought at market prices and sold at cost plus the expense of distribution. A department statement said it was believed the corn could be furnished the farmers at approximately $3 a bushel.

The department has already arranged with the food administration for selecting and storing Spring seed wheat in the Spring wheat region. Distribution of seed, it was announced, would be done without interfering with the regular seed trade, but rather by supplementing the facilities of commerce and by making demonstrations in seed selection.

BARS MORE WAR REPORTERS

Cable Service Would Not Suffice for Them, Baker Says.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—In denying a request by Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts that representatives of local papers be permitted to accompany various State units of troops to France, Secretary Baker today said that aside from military reasons to increase the number of correspondents with the troops would do more harm than good from a news viewpoint by reducing the amount of news each writer could send by cable. The sixteen correspondents now in France, he explained, are utilizing all cable facilities.

The best news from the soldiers, the Secretary added, will come in letters to their friends, and arrangements are being made for facilitating the transmission of such letters.

DANISH PLEA FOR SUPPLIES.

Must Ship Cattle to Germany if American Fodder Is Cut Off.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 20.—The National Tidende reminds the British press that Denmark's neutrality cannot be carried out in the commercial sphere except by dividing Denmark's products among both parties.

If American supplies are stopped, Denmark must reduce its stock of cattle, and the paper points out that great quantities of slaughtered animals could not be preserved and there would necessarily be a highly increased export to Germany, thereby helping Germany more than under the previous arrangements.

The Tidende says that Denmark is chiefly dependent upon Germany for coal and drugs, which can be obtained only by the exchange of Danish agricultural products, and asks whether obliging the Danish factories to stop operations, thus throwing many out of employment, and forcing hospitals to cease aiding the sick, would be in agreement with the principles of humanity and the rights of small nations, for which the British and American Governments declared they entered the war.

HUGE SPAN IN ITS PLACE.

Structural Part of Quebec Bridge Virtually Completed.

QUEBEC, Sept. 20.—The central span of the Quebec cantilever bridge was successfully bolted into place this afternoon at 3:28 o'clock, linking together the arms of the largest bridge of its kind in the world. The hoisting operation began last Monday morning and the span, weighing 5,000 tons, was lifted by hydraulic jacks a distance of 150 feet from pontoons on the St. Lawrence River.

Today's work brought to an end the critical part of the operation, virtually completing the structural part of the bridge. An effort last year to raise a similar span in place resulted in disaster when the link slipped from its supports, causing fourteen deaths, and in 1907 a bridge in the same place collapsed when it was practically complete, killing seventy.

The successful completion of the bridge will mean the fulfillment of a fifty years' engineering dream. When the bridge is completed the running time between Halifax and Winnipeg will be reduced half a day. The painting of the bridge, it is estimated, will take three years and cost $35,000.

KING OPPOSES ROYAL MATCH

ATHENS, Sunday, Sept. 16, (delayed.)—The prospects of a matrimonial alliance for King Alexander are being widely discussed, and have become an affair of State.

Since he ascended the throne and Greece joined the Entente, the view has been held that the marriage of the young King with a Princess of one of the Entente countries would be more in the interests of Greece than a private alliance. King Alexander has made it known that he did not approve this view, his desire being to marry a young Greek woman of high character, the daughter of a court official.

The issue thus remains open, as to whether the decision will conform with what are considered the State's interests or with the private inclinations of the Monarch.

MAYOR'S PLATFORM UPHOLDS PRESIDENT

DEFENDS THE GARY SYSTEM

Speaking before the Women's Committee of One Hundred for a nonpartisan city government at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday, Mayor Mitchel outlined part of his campaign program by declaring that he stood for a strong and aggressive pro-American government in the City of New York that could be relied upon to uphold the hands of President Wilson and the National Administration in the prosecution of the war. The Mayor had been asked to talk on campaign issues, but he said he would not go into the subject until Oct. 2, when he expected the real Fusion campaign to open.

The Mayor reviewed the work of his city departments at length, and said he stood for every point made in the platform of the women's committee which is supporting him. The affair was a luncheon given the Mayor by the committee, and a number of women also spoke, including Miss Elisabeth Marbury, Dr. Katharine B. Davis, Chairman of the Parole Commission, and Mrs. Frederick Nathan of the Consumers' League. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman presided and introduced the Mayor, who congratulated the women upon their organization.

"It is one that can perform a great good," he said. "It has a real place in the community, for it can make an appeal such as a men's organization never could do. I've read your platform and program, and they fit in with mine. All your principles and most of your details are entirely acceptable to me. It will take eight or ten years to put your entire program into effect, and it will cost lots of money, but it can be done."

Backs Nation's War Policy.

The Mayor was vigorously applauded when he spoke of the necessity of the city government backing up the national war policy. He said:

"I do not regard this meeting as the opening of the campaign. That will be opened on the second of October. Therefore, I will not discuss the issues of the campaign. I will discuss the items of this program. If I were to discuss with you the issues of the campaign I should begin with the most important of them all, the maintenance of a stable, a secure, a strong, and an aggressive pro-American government in the City of New York, a government that not merely by lip service but by record of achievement may be relied upon to support the hands of President Wilson and the Government of the United States in the prosecution of this war, in every phase, until it has been consummated in victory for the American and the allied armies, and a government that cannot be seduced from that purpose by political influence or by the fear of what may follow from dealing either with seditious action or seditious utterance."

The Mayor then launched into a strong defense of the Gary school system, which is one of the projects the women's committee is in favor of. He said the plan was initiated in New York by Thomas W. Churchill, then President of the Board of Education, and himself after a visit to Gary, Ind., and other middle western cities. He said:

"We brought back Dean Schneider of the University of Cincinnati to establish the courses in co-operation where industry, co-operating with the schools, supplied the practical side, while the schools supplied the theoretical side. We brought that back and we initiated those co-operative courses here to the advantage of the boys of the school system of the city. This will be extended; but we brought back, too, from Gary an idea that was far broader than mere vocational training. It touched the whole content of the school curriculum. It had to do with a richer education for the boys and girls of New York. The central idea, on the physical side, was that of the use of a school building not quite to twice the capacity, but practically 150 per cent. of the capacity of the old system, by organizing two schools, and while one was in the classroom the other would be in the workshop or the auditorium. Facilities in one school building, capable of accommodating two schools of equal numerical strength at the same time by alternating work. That was the economy side of the program.

Economy in Gary Plan.

"But this Gary plan was not adopted even partially, as it has been put into effect by the City Government and the Board of Education, as a scheme of economy, necessary as that was. It was adopted because it was believed to be a better scheme of education for the boys and girls of the city. It means, first, supplying full time instruction to all the children of the city. You know that New York for years has contended with the part time problem—for years it has been unable to eliminate part time—for years the demand for new school buildings to give a seat to every child has far exceeded the financial ability of the city to appropriate funds or the ability of the Board of Education, even with funds appropriated, to keep up construction to the increase in attendance. Therefore we had to find additional facilities for the seating of these children without the construction of the vast number of new school building required under the old plan, and that means lay in the double use of existing school buildings by adding to equipment, by adding playgrounds, workshops, auditoriums, swimming pools, libraries; in other words, bringing to the public school children of the City of New York the same advantages that had been enjoyed hitherto by the children of the well-to-do in private schools—what may well be termed a democratization of public education in the City of New York.

"There are many phases of this general plan, but one, at least one if there were no other, would recommend it to all the mothers of the City of New York, and that is supplied at the school recreation for the children of the city."

The Mayor defended the reforms which his administration has brought about in connection with public and private charities and at institutions. He told of the work at Randall's Island, where a new building was erected to care for public wards, and said that conditions there had been generally improved. He also spoke of the work being done by the Department of Correction and then told of the reforms that had been inaugurated in the Police Department.

"We now have among the police," the Mayor said, "a semi-military organization of men who are learning that their business is to prevent crime as well as to bring to justice the perpetrators."

The Mayor told what had been done in regard to the establishment of Food and Public Markets. Of the act creating the department he said:

"It was not until, under the stimulus of the campaign undertaken by Governor Whitman for adequate food legislation that the Legislature finally consented to enact a bill, pretty bad, pretty deficient, inadequate, but still containing the permissive power for the city to establish a Central Department of Markets."

JAPANESE TO GIVE UP TOWN.

PEKING, Saturday, Sept. 15, (Delayed.)—At the Chinese Foreign Office today it was stated that the Japanese had agreed to evacuate the Manchurian town of Tsianhsien, which they occupied after a clash between Chinese and Japanese soldiers and police over the question of Yalu River lumber interests. Up to the present time Japanese soldiers are still in possession of Tsianhsien, which is a town of 2,000 population, 170 miles northeast of Antung.

Chinese and Japanese officials here say the incident probably will be settled locally. The clash resulted in the killing of two Chinese and one Japanese and the wounding of many other persons.

MISS CONVERSE TO WED LIEUT. M'COOK

ON DUTY AT CAMP UPTON

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick S. Converse of Boston and Westwood announced today the engagement of their third daughter, Marie Tudor Converse, to First Lieutenant George A. McCook, the only son of General and Mrs. Anson G. McCook of 33 West Fifty-fourth Street, New York. Miss Converse is a sister of Mrs. Junius S. Morgan, Jr., of New York. Her maternal grandmother is Mrs. Frederick Tudor of Beacon Street.

Lieutenant McCook was graduated from Harvard with the class of 1916. He served on the Mexican border during the Summer of 1915 and received his commission at Plattsburg. Later he received further military instruction under the French officers at Harvard. He has been assigned to duty at Camp Upton, Yaphank, L. I.

The father of Miss Converse is best known to the musical world by his opera, "The Pipe of Desire," which was produced at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York, and by his romances for the orchestra.

General McCook is one of the family of "fighting McCooks," of the "tribe of John." After his civil war days General McCook served in Congress from 1877 to 1883. He was also one time Secretary of the United States Senate and was City Chamberlain of New York in 1897. His daughter, Miss Katherine McCook, married Hugh S. Knox, the second son of the former Secretary of State.

WED TO BRITISH OFFICER.

Miss Neysa Cheney Married Robert Perks, Baronet's Son, in Italy.

R., the only son of Sir Robert Perks, Baronet, and Lady Perks of 11 Kensington Palace Gardens, London. It was solemnized in Genoa, Italy, on Sept. 1 at the British Consulate and then in the Presbyterian Church, by the Rev. W. Burgess of Rome.

Lieutenant Perks's father has made several visits to this country within the last seven years. He was made a Baronet in 1908 and has been the principal partner of the firm of C. H. Walker & Co., who built the Manchester Ship Canal. He was a Liberal member of Parliament for twenty years. He has been called the foremost Methodist layman in the world.

NEW DEATH AT CAMP MILLS.

Alabaman Succumbs to Heart Trouble—No Meningitis There.

CAMP MILLS, HEMPSTEAD, L. I., Sept. 20.—The fact that another member of the Alabama Infantry died at the camp today caused considerable uneasiness among the officials there until the physicians from the Rockefeller Institute made the announcement that the soldier's death had been caused by heart trouble and not from meningitis, as was feared. The physicians also reported that they had carefully analyzed the cultures of about thirty of the men of the 167th Alabama Regiment and had found no traces of meningitis there. This was a great relief to the officers at the camp, who, despite the camp physicians, felt worried over the possibility of the meningitis spreading to other men of the command.

The soldier who died today was Hillary Jernigan, Company F, 167th Alabama Infantry. He is the sixth soldier to have died since Camp Mills was established. One of these cases, that of Leonard Melton of the Alabama Regiment, was diagnosed as meningitis, and then it was that the men with whom he had come in contact were isolated by the surgeons at the camp and their cultures taken by physicians on the staff of the Rockefeller Institute.

ENJOINS CLUB DE VINGT.

Court Says Mrs. Hawkesworth and Duchesne Shall Not Sell Liquor.

Supreme Court Justice Tierney granted an application yesterday for an injunction restraining Mrs. Anna M. K. Hawkesworth and William P. Duchesne from selling liquor on the premises of the Club de Vingt at 42 East Fifty-eighth Street, which property is owned by Mrs. Alice Vanderbilt. The application for the restraining order was made by owners of nearby property, who alleged that the place had operated without a liquor license for a time and that after the excise agents had raided the club and taken away the stock of liquor a license was taken out in the name of Duchesne. This license was later revoked by the courts. Mrs. Hawkesworth is President of the club.

The defendants contended that the liquor in some cases was obtained outside the club for customers who desired strong drinks, and that in other cases the customers rented lockers on the premises which they kept supplied with liquor. Justice Tierney ruled that since the serving of drinks was done by the club's servants it made no difference where they came from.

TELLS OF OPERATION ON MR. CLEVELAND

The full story of a secret operation performed on President Cleveland whereby his entire left upper jaw was removed and replaced with a rubber plate is told for the first time in the current issue of The Saturday Evening Post by Dr. W. W. Keen, Emeritus Professor of Surgery at the Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia. Dr. Keen assisted Dr. Joseph D. Bryant of New York at the operation, which was performed twenty-four years ago on Commodore E. C. Benedict's private yacht Oneida.

The operation took place soon after the beginning of the President's second Administration, but owing to the fact that Mr. Cleveland was then in the midst of his sound-money fight with Congress no detail was allowed to leak out concerning it. In spite of the fact that several newspapers printed articles intimating the facts, they were denied in toto, and until today the country had not been aware that anything out of the ordinary happened to the President.

Dr. R. M. Reilly, later Surgeon General of the United States Army, discovered on June 18, 1893, the first symptoms which led to the operation. He was asked to examine a slight roughness in President Cleveland's upper jaw and found an ulcer, the size of a quarter. The pathologist of the Army Medical Museum examined a fragment which Dr. Reilly removed (he was kept in ignorance as to the identity of the patient) and reported the growth to be malignant.

Date Fixed for Operation.

It was then determined to operate, and July 1 was fixed as the date. The President feared the effect on the public that the knowledge of his affliction would have, for the Vice President, Stevenson, was known to be opposed to his ideas on sound money. Hence, after a conference with Colonel Lamont, Secretary of War and Mr. Cleveland's warm, personal friend, it was decided to perform the operation on board the Oneida, where the matter could be kept quiet. That this was successfully accomplished is attested by twenty-four years of silence.

On June 30, after calling a special session of Congress for Aug. 7, the session which repealed the silver clause of the Sherman act, President Cleveland left Washington for New York, and, arriving here, went straight on board the Oneida. The yacht was lying at Pier A. In addition to the President there were on board Colonel Lamont, Commodore Benedict, Dr. Bryant, Dr. Keen, Dr. E. G. Janeway of New York, Dr. John F. Erdmann, and Dr. Ferdinand Hasbrouck, a dentist.

The operation was accomplished while the yacht steamed slowly up the East River. Dr. Keen describes what was done as follows:

"The entire left upper jaw was removed from the first bicuspid tooth to just beyond the last molar, and nearly up to the middle line. The floor of the orbit—the cavity containing the eyeball—was not removed, as it had not yet been attacked. A small portion of the soft palate was removed. This extensive operation was decided upon because we found that the antrum—the large cavity in the upper jaw—was partly filled by a gelatinous mass, evidently a sarcoma.

No External Incision.

"The entire operation was done within the mouth, without any external incision, by means of a cheek retractor, the most useful instrument I have ever seen for such an operation, which I had brought back with me from Paris in 1866. The retention of the floor of the orbit prevented any displacement of the eyeball. This normal appearance of the eye, the normal voice, and especially the absence of any external scar greatly aided in keeping the operation an entire secret."

On July 5, the Oneida took the President to his Summer home, Gray Gables, on Buzzards Bay, where he was able to walk to the house. On July 17 the same surgeons again met Cleveland on board the same yacht and operated again, removing all tissue about the wound which looked the least bit suspicious. The President attended the opening of the special session of Congress on Aug. 7, returning to Gray Gables four days later for "rest from his arduous and exacting duties."

After the first operation, while the President was at Gray Gables, Dr. Kasson C. Gibson of New York fitted Mr. Cleveland with an artificial jaw of vulcanized rubber. With this in place his speech was excellent, even its quality not being altered. On Oct. 14 Mr. Cleveland, in a letter to Dr. Gibson, expressed his lively satisfaction after trying a new and even better and more comfortable plate made by Dr. Gibson.

President's Speech Not Affected.

It is a remarkable fact that notwithstanding the nature of the operation President Cleveland continued to make public addresses, and on several occasions persons who heard him remarked on the clearness and vigor of his delivery. One of the most notable of these occasions was the celebration at Washington on Sept. 18, 1893, of the anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of the Capitol. This was a little more than two months after the operation had taken place. There had been many reports that President Cleveland was in ill health, and there was much curiosity on the part of many to hear him speak. In the report that appeared in THE NEW YORK TIMES on the following day was the following description of the scene on the Capitol Plaza as the President spoke:

"They saw a man in the flush of vigorous health, clear eyed, strong, and comfortable to look at, and when he spoke his voice rang out over the crowd so that it could be heard by the furthermost listener. Even the people at the back of the platform could hear him, although his words were spoken to the accompaniment of chimes at the top of the Library Building."

Mr. Cleveland died in 1908, fifteen years after the operation.

The estate of Mrs. Helen Cossitt Juilliard, who died on April 2, 1916, was appraised yesterday at $3,273,505. The appraisal shows that Mrs. Juilliard's bequest of one-fourth of her residuary estate to the Metropolitan Museum of Art amounts to $131,859. She also gave the museum two tapestries representing the "Signs of the Zodiac," appraised at $17,000.

Mrs. Juilliard left one-fourth of the residue and $100,000 after the death of her husband, Augustus D. Juilliard, to St. John's Guild. Upon Mr. Juilliard's death the Lincoln Hospital and Home will receive $100,000, and $50,000 each will go to the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, the Children's Aid Society, American Museum of Natural History, New York Orthopoedic Hospital, Y. W. C. A., and Y. M. C. A. Her husband received $500,000 outright and $500,000 in trust, the life use of the city residence at 11 West Fifty-first Street, valued at $30,000, and the country place at Tuxedo, worth $95,000. Her nieces, Mrs. Elizabeth C. S. Vatable and Catherine C. D. Rogers, got $100,000 each and a remainder interest in realty valued at $131,859. The rest of the estate went to nephews, nieces, cousins, friends, and employes.

Mrs. Juilliard's jewels were valued at $82,180, which included two pearl necklaces appraised at $30,000. She gave one of forty-nine pearls to her grandniece, Mary Dodge Rogers. The bulk of her estate consisted of real estate appraised at $1,623,420, and she had mortgages, notes, and personal effects wroth $239,702. The most valuable realty holdings were:

632 Broadway, $400,000; third interest in Studebaker Building, $263,777; 52 Varick Street, $270,000; 14 and 85 Leonard Street, $93,000 and $60,000, respectively; and third interest in 462 Broadway, $71,500.

The decedent's securities were worth $700,329, and included 300 shares of Central Trust Company, valued at $347,250; thirty-five shares of the Fifth Avenue Bank, worth $161,000, and 1,000 shares American Woolen Company, $99,000. The City of New York owed her $144,331 for condemnation of the Gray Building.

CITY COLLEGE RESPONDS.

1,200 Boys Will Begin Military Training Under New Law.

Almost 1,200 men responded to the call when the State military training law for youths between the ages of 16 and 19 was put into operation at a meeting of the students of the College of the City of New York yesterday. The action was taken in conformity with the Slater bill passed in 1916, which provides that opportunity will be afforded those coming within the specified ages to enroll and be assigned to groups for instruction and military training. To this end, the men will report next Thursday evening, Sept. 27, at the State Armory, 168th Street and Fort Washington Avenue.

Townsend Harris Hall, the preparatory department of the college, also comes under the order, and at a meeting held at the school it was found that 265 boys, almost one-fifth of the school, fall under the law. They will report at the same time as the college men. The City College is the first institution in the State to begin work in military instruction under the jurisdiction of the commission.

The condition of Rear Admiral Charles F. Stokes, U. S. Admiral Stokes had devoted the last three years to the cure of drug addicts as medical director of the New York City Board of Inebriety. Owing to ill-health he resigned from the Board of Inebriety on Aug. 16.

J. J. HILL'S ESTATE ABOUT $60,000,000

The holdings of the late James J. Hill, railroad builder, who died May 29, 1916, are disclosed in the transfer tax report filed yesterday by Appraiser Albert J. Berwin, and indicate that Mr. Hill's estate is at least $25,000,000 less than has been estimated. His total New York estate, which comprises real estate, personalty, and notes due Mr. Hill in this State, is valued at $802,088, of which $237,928 is in realty.

The value of the estate taxable in Minnesota, of which Mr. Hill was a legal resident, is $51,179,889. Mr. Hill also owned valuable real estate in other States, and securities not taxable in either New York or Minnesota, but the figures made public yesterday indicate that the total assets of the estate are not worth more than $60,000,000. This is approximately the value of the estate left by Mr. Hill's great rival in railroad building and development of the West, Edward H. Harriman.

Mr. Hill's New York realty consisted of the following parcels: Residence, 8 East Sixty-fifth Street, $360,000; vacant land, 8 East Sixty-fourth Street, $242,000, and 164 East Seventy-eighth Street, $28,000. His personalty comprised the following: Household effects, $49,408; paintings, $186,000; automobile, $2,520.

The list of paintings shows that a painting by Puvis de Chavannes, which hung in Mr. Hill's drawing room, was worth $12,000. The following are the paintings in Mr. Hill's library:

"The Tiger," (Delacroix,) $6,000; "The Lion Devouring," (Delacroix,) $5,000; "The Lioness," (Delacroix,) $4,500; "Village of Chailly," (Millet,) $10,000; "Water Mill," (Millet,) $10,000; "Woman Seated," (Corot,) $15,000; "Woman Standing," (Corot,) $12,000; "Dell in Helmingham Park, Sussex, (Constable,) $65,000.

The executors stated that a claim of Henry Caro Delvoille for $10,000 for paintings sold to Mr. Hill was settled for $3,500.

By the distribution of the New York estate Mrs. Mary Hill, the widow, received her dower interest of $62,792 in the realty and one-third of the personalty, $78,293. Each of the nine children got an equal share of the realty and divided the remaining two-thirds of the personalty. The shares going to the sons, James N., Louis W., and Walter J. Hill, and the daughters, Clara A. Hill, Charlotte H. Slade, Ruth Beard, Rachel Boeckman, and Gertrude Gavin, were appraised at $80,421 each.

Appraiser Berwin's report discloses for the first time the list of stocks and bonds owned by Mr. Hill, all of which was exempt from a tax here under the law in effect at the time of Mr. Hill's death. It shows that his stocks in banks throughout the country were more valuable than all his railroad shares, the appraisal being $24,812,000. His railroad stocks were worth $7,299,400, and his railroad bonds $7,164,000. A block of 1,500 bonds of the Anglo-French loan is worth $1,500,000.

Mr. Hill's most valuable block of bank stock is 22,050 shares of the First National Bank of St. Paul, worth $2,050,000 par, and having an actual value much greater.

3,200	Mille Lac Lumber Co.

The list of stocks and bonds includes some that are now of only nominal value, representing Mr. Hill's investments in enterprises in the Northwest which have not been profitable.

FIRST TWO WORLD'S SERIES GAMES GO TO CHICAGO, TOSS OF COIN DECIDES

WORLD'S SERIES TO START IN CHICAGO

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 20.—When the silver half dollar tossed by Frank Navin of the Detroit club fell tails up after President Harry Hempstead of the New York Nationals had called "heads," the National Baseball Commission here today officially announced that Charles Comiskey, owner of the Chicago Americans, had won the toss and had the privilege of saying where the first game of the next world's series should be played.

Shortly afterward it was announced the series will open on the grounds of the Chicago Americans on Oct. 6, while the second game will be played there on Sunday, Oct. 7. On Oct. 8 the two ball clubs will travel to New York, where the third and fourth games of the series will be played on Oct. 9 and 10. Oct. 11 will see the players traveling back westward, and the fifth game, if five games are necessary, will be played at Chicago on Oct. 12. Then, in case another game is found to be required, a two-day wait will take place, Saturday, Oct. 13, and Sunday, Oct. 14, being open, the sixth game being played at New York on Oct. 15.

President Hempstead Loses Toss.

In the toss of the coin Chicago was thrice lucky. The first toss made by Mr. Navin fell on the floor after Mr. Hempstead had called "heads," and was declared "no toss." The same thing happened to the second toss, but in each of these tosses it was found that the coin had fallen "tails up." It was not until the third toss had stayed on the table that Comiskey was declared the winner.

The commission selected Umpires O'Loughlin and Evans of the American League and Umpires Klem and Rigler of the National League to officiate.

That the soldiers who are now doing battle for the country, as well as those who are preparing to fight for liberty, were remembered was indicated by an announcement that a 1,000-word story will be cabled to France after each game, for the benefit of the soldiers there, while an exhibition game before the soldiers at either Rockford, Ill., or Mineola, L. I., will be played after the series is over.

President Wilson Invited.

In addition to this a special invitation to attend all of the games will be sent to President Wilson and Generals Barry, Carter, Bell, and McCain, while at the opening game in Chicago 1,500 seats have been reserved for the soldiers at Fort Sheridan. The commission also decided to give 1 per cent. of the total of the commission's revenue of the games to the bat-and-ball fund for the soldiers in France.

Previous to the taking up of the world's series matter the annual draft meeting of the National Commission was held, and at its completion it was found that the National League had drafted twenty-two players and the American League twelve from the minors. Cincinnati led all other clubs in getting players through the draft, seven men coming here. The Philadelphia Nationals obtained six men and the Washington Americans obtained three.

Cleveland, Detroit, New York Americans, Brooklyn, Boston Nationals, Chicago Nationals, and New York Nationals each obtained two, while the Boston Americans, Philadelphia Americans, St. Louis Americans, and St. Louis Nationals each obtained one.

The three New York clubs did not fare very well in the draft. The Giants drew one player, Roy Johnston, from McAlister. The Yankees got Beck from Milwaukee and Kane from Providence, while Brooklyn got Wise of Toledo and Schmandt from Lincoln.

The Ohio series between the Cleveland Americans and the Cincinnati Nationals will start in Cincinnati on Oct. 5. The second game will also be played in Cincinnati on Oct. 6. The second game will also be played in Cincinnati on Oct. 6. The third and fourth games will be played in Cleveland on Oct. 7 and 8, the fifth game in Cincinnati on Oct. 9, and the sixth in Cleveland on Oct. 10. Umpires Hildebrand of the American League and Harrison of the National League will officiate in the Ohio series.

The commission adjourned, to meet tomorrow morning, when a large number of miscellaneous cases will be taken up.

LEONARD TO BOX JOHNSON.

Lightweight Champion Disregards Precedent in Tonight's Battle.

Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, will disregard precedent tonight when he enters the ring of the Harlem S. C. to box ten rounds with Leo Johnson, the colored lightweight. This match will mark the first between a lightweight champion and a colored challenger that has been staged in many years. Johnson is the leading colored lightweight boxer in the ring today, but it is not expected that his efforts will furnish serious opposition to Leonard. Billy (Kid) McPartland, will referee the bout. In another ten-round contest Clay Turner, the Indiana light-heavyweight, will oppose the Jamaica Kid.

TILLMAN IN UPHILL FIGHT.

Fighting a great uphill battle all the way, Johnny Tillman, the Minneapolis boxer, last night earned the honors over Charley White of Chicago in their ten-round bout, which was the principal attraction of the all-star card at the closing show of St. Nicholas A. C. Tillman was outpointed in the opening two rounds and floored twice in the third session, on each occasion for a count of nine, but recuperated quickly, and carrying the fighting from the beginning of the fourth session to the finish, earned the honors of the contest.

The Minneapolis boxer failed to accomplish anything effective, but the fact remained that he landed practically all of the blows that went home after the fourth session. White seemed to be waiting for another opportunity to land his left-hand hook, the blow that had floored Tillman twice in the third session, but the opportunity never came. At 141½ pounds Tillman outweighed White by four and one-half pounds.

The opening bout of ten rounds brought together Jimmy Duffy of the west side and Frankie Conifrey, a Harlem lightweight, and at the final bell Duffy had a clear margin on points. Conifrey was put on in place of Joe Welling, the Chicago boxer, who could not go through with his engagement with Duffy because of an injured right hand. Duffy's aggressive work and his effectiveness at close quarters won the honors for him.

ELMER SMITH'S BAT AGAIN BEATS YANKS

There is something about this man Elmer Smith, the right fielder of the Cleveland Indians, that tosses great portions of fear among the ranks of the Yankee pitching staff. The Yanks had the game all won yesterday and put away on the shelf when this Smithie toddled up to the bat with the bases full. Smith cracked a three-bagger off to the right-field stockade and swept the bases as clean as a boy on the first schoolday of the year. The blamed old ball game went kiting with that slam, and the Indians won, 6 to 2. That makes six straight the Yanks have spilled.

Smith is particularly vicious against Shawkey and Shocker. The other day the cup of victory was right up at the Yankees' lips and they were taking a swig when Smith gave the cup a kick and beat Shawkey. Out in Cleveland one day this season Shocker went into the ninth with a five-run lead, and this same Smith was the big gun in the bombardment which robbed the Yank pitcher of the victory. When Shocker or Shawkey pitch against Smith, they have two kinds of luck—hard and bad.

The Yanks are going from bad to worse. The regulars and the recruits played a six-inning game early in the afternoon, and the recruits won by a 3-to-2 score. Nick Cullop pitched for the regulars, and one of the bush leaguers hit the ball so hard that when it hit Cullop on the leg he had to hurry to the garage for repairs.

The crowd, if you can call a few folks like that a crowd, was dozing off in a sort of state of anaesthesia when Umpire Tommy Connolly gave a touch of ginger to the matinée with a rapid-fire tilt of repartee with Leslie Nunamaker, the Yank backstop. Nunamaker said something to the umpire to the effect that he reminded him strongly of a wooden Indian. He also suggested that Connolly ought to be peddling fish instead of umpiring. Now, as it happens, Connolly has no ambition to be a fish peddler; in fact, the only interest he has in any kind of fish is on Herb Hoover's jolly meatless days.

"You've given away a good many," came back Connolly. "Go sit on the bench and send a good batter up here." To a man up a chimney it appeared as if Thomas had the better of the persiflage.

Urban Shocker and Ed Klepfer were having a tight pitching duel of it up to the fourth, when the Yankees woke up and got a couple of runs. It was hard to believe. Pipp walked, and was forced by Lamar. Vick singled to left, sending Lamar to second. Fewster singled to right and filled the bases. Nunamaker pasted a single to centre, scoring Lamar and Vick.

So it went up to the eighth, when the Indians tomahawked Shocker. This Sam Vick, the youngster who played right field, and Lamar, who was in centre, proved to be about the most porous pair of outfielders that have been seen here in ages. Vick couldn't play the hits off the right-field wall, and outfield errors aided in Shocker's downfall.

When Smith came to the bat everybody who knew anything about the Smith jinx on Yankee pitchers said good-bye to the ball game. Smith smeared a triple off the wall, sending Roth, Chapman, and Speaker over the plate. Then in the ninth inning the Indians got a couple of more runs off Shocker before he was relieved by Ray Fisher.

MRS. STOCKTON IS VICTOR.

Twenty-nine women golfers of the Metropolitan Golf Association played yesterday in a one-day tournament at the Ridgewood Country Club, Mrs. L. C. Stockton winning the honors of two events. She added to her point score by turning in the best low gross card yesterday, and winning the honors of a driving competition. Mrs. Stockton returned a score of 92, her complete card being 92, 1—91. Her winning drive was 211 yards.

The two-ball foursome resulted in a victory for Mrs. Fred Williams and Mrs. Barclay, both of Hackensack, and the low net prize was captured by Mrs. R. B. Neff of Montclair with 101, 15—86. Two members of the Ridgewood organization tied for second honors. They were Mrs. C. W. Hammerschlag, 103, 15—88, and Mrs. Hammond, 106, 18—88. The next one-day tournament for women will be held Tuesday at the Montclair Golf Club.

Allen, Papp's Jockey, Injured.

Word was received at the Aqueduct Racetrack yesterday that L. Allen, who has ridden George W. Loft's Futurity winner, Papp, in all his big races, had been injured at Lexington and would be unable to ride Papp in the Breeders' Futurity, in which the Eastern colt will meet the best of the Western juveniles tomorrow. Roscoe Troxler was at once engaged to pilot Mr. Loft's champion. He is one of the best handlers of two-year-olds and likely to prove almost as good as Papp's regular rider.

NEW RECORD FOR ENFILADE.

Records have been in danger ever since the Aqueduct meeting opened and yesterday a long standing mark fell when Morton L. Schwartz's Enfilade fought her way to the front and defeated a field of high-class fillies in the Beldame Handicap for two-year-olds that was the feature of the card. The imported daughter of Ramrod-La Rille carried 126 pounds, seven over scale weight, and ran the five furlongs in 0:58 4-5, clipping a fifth of a second from the track mark made by James R. Keene's Veil in 1906.

Enfilade's hard-earned success, with the favorite, August Belmont's Jyntee, half a length back, formed part of a racing double scored by Mr. Schwartz. This owner followed up the victory by sending Approval to the post for the fifth race for two-year-old maidens. Running in much slower time than his distinguished stable companion, Approval had just as hard a fight and he got home only by a length from the Crown Stable's Svengali.

Three favorites had scored in succession when the seven candidates came out for the Beldame Handicap. Jyntee's easy victory on her last start at Belmont Park gave many of the speculators the impression that Handicapper Vosburgh had let her in light with the bottom weight of 106 pounds. The Belmont filly was made an odds-on favorite, but once more the official weight distributer was vindicated. He brought three of the horses within a length at the finish, with the top weight in advance, the light weight second and Adeline Patricia, one of the middle division, third.

Adeline Patricia was responsible for the fast pace that led to the new mark. This quick breaker was off in front and led Enfilade until an eighth of a mile from the finish. Loftus assumed command then with Enfilade, but a new danger appeared in Jyntee, which had been in early difficulties, but was closing fast under Butwell's strong finish. Jyntee passed Adeline Patricia one hundred yards from the finish, but failed by half a length to reach Enfilade. Ruth Law, which was close up, in the stretch, stopped at the end and finished fourth.

Four favorites were victorious, but the gathering of the sweets by the players came to a sensational stop in the last event, when Robert L. Gerry's Sharpshooter, a reclaimed jumper, spreadeagled his field in the six-furlong highweight handicap.

Before taking to the cross-country game, Sharpshooter had measured strides with the best of the sprinters. Trainer Charles Patterson had again sharpened his speed so that he galloped in eight lengths in the lead of Rhine Maiden in the fast time of 1:12. High Noon, the 3 to 5 favorite, again proved a disappointment and finished third six lengths behind Rhine Maiden.

In the third race at a mile, F. D. Weir's Hendrie was pushed so hard by Manister Toi and Fijinny that he had to chalk up 1:37 3-5 to win by three lengths.

GIANTS PLAY TEN INNINGS TO DRAW

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—The Giants were hard-pressed to hold the Pirates to a 9 to 9 tie in ten innings in today's game, five New York pitchers and a bevy of pinch-hitters being used up in the effort to stave off defeat. The contest was a free-hitting affair, in which the Giants knocked two Pittsburgh pitchers out of the box, only to succumb to a relief hurler, Wilbur Cooper, who came to the rescue of Carlson in the ninth inning. Pol Perritt was McGraw's original selection for box work, but the slim right-hander gave way to Tesreau, who, in turn, was succeeded by Demaree, Smith, and Anderson.

The bombardment began in the second inning, when the Giants got off to a one-run lead on a single by Fletcher, a steal, aided by a passed ball, and a wild pitch. In their half of the same frame the Pirates scored two runs when Boeckel singled and King hit to the fence in right field for a home run.

Resuming the attack in the third the Giants went into the lead again. Burns singled to left and scored on Kauff's double to right centre, while Kauff registered on Zimmerman's single to left. The league leaders didn't hold their advantage very long, as the Pirates knocked Perritt from the hill in the same inning, scoring four runs and establishing an apparently safe lead.

A cluster of runs in the fourth put the Giants back into the lead. Holke walked and reached second when Steele's throw of McCarty's bunt was late. Lobert, sent up to hit for Tesreau, struck out, but Burns walked, filling the bases. Thorpe contributed a triple to right centre that scored Holke, McCarty, and Burns, and when Steele walked Kauff he was derricked and supplanted by Carlson. Zimmerman was an easy out at first, but Thorpe scored on the play.

Demaree went to the slab in the fourth, and got through one inning without being scored upon. In the fifth the Pirates tied it up. They took the lead in the sixth, and added another run in the eighth.

Kauff was first up in the ninth and drew a pass and Zimmerman drove him in with a double to right centre. Fletcher laced a single to right, and Heinie scored the tying run, Fletcher proceeding to second on King's poor throw to the plate. A neat sacrifice by Smith put Fletcher on third, but there the rally died.

Cooper was rushed to the rescue of Carlson and struck out Holke. McCarty drove the ball to right field on a line, but was robbed of a hit that would have won the game when King raced in and made a beautiful catch of the whistling liner.

WILLIAM LOSES FIRST RACE.

Champion Pacer's Defeat Surprise of Columbus Meeting.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 20.—One of the unexpected results of today's Grand Circuit race program at the mile track here was the defeat of William, 1:58½, in the free-for-all pace. The champion was not only beaten, but failed to get inside the money in a field of six pacers. It was the first race he ever lost, outside of a few of his matches with Directum I.

FOUR WINNERS FOR ROWAN.

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., Sept. 20.—The Brighton Stable, J. O. Talbott and Jockey M. Rowan were all prominent in the racing here today. Though both the Brighton Stable and Talbott each sent two winners to the post, the honors rested with the former, which supplied the winner of the Eastern Shore Handicap for two-year-olds in the Whitney cast-off, Tippity Witchet.

Previous to the success of Tippity Witchet, which ruled an odds-on favorite, Paganini had carried the Brighton Stable's colors to victory in the third race, also for two-year-olds.

Rowan rode both winners and also piloted J. O. Talbott's Piraeus, winner of the fifth, and G. C. Walsh's Brickley, which garnered the purse in the last event, making a total of four. Talbott's Icarus, victor in the second race, was ridden by Collins.

ALLSOPP TIES BEST GROSS OF SENIORS

While the second half of the field of golfers who started yesterday at the Apawamis Club in the Seniors' Golf Association's thirteenth annual championship tournament was inferior in numbers to the host who completed their engagements Wednesday, the quality of play generally was vastly superior to that of the first half. Scores under 100 were numerous enough to convince all that among the late half probably would be found the championship timber.

In fact, Henry Allsopp of Baltusrol gave such a finished display of the royal and ancient game that he made the round in a gross score of 84, which equals the best eighteen holes of the tournament, credited to C. Gilbert Waldo of Brooklawn and I. R. Prentiss of Mohawk. Mr. Allsopp made this admirable score notwithstanding he needed nine strokes to get down at the ninth hole and finished the second round with a 6 and 5 on the last two holes. He is confident that W. E. Truesdell's 172 for the thirty-six holes will be undermined several strokes after today's final round.

There were any number of youngsters from the several fields of national endeavor who made up the 130 starters of yesterday. The clergy was well represented by Mgr. M. M. Sheedy of Altoona, Penn., who had a net of 79 in the Class B division and a gross of 91. Mgr. Sheedy won a net prize last year, and he has an idea that Altoona will look over another prize this time. The Rev. J. Gray-Bolton of Philadelphia, the Rev. J. McBride-Starrett of Washington, and Dr. F. R. Allen of Brookline were other clergymen who got back to nature during the excitement of the sunshiny afternoon.

It remained for the business world, however, to provide the unusual, and not on the course. George T. Wilson of Knollwood, Vice President of the Equitable Life Assurance Company, sent in his entry, but did not follow it to the club. His reasons may be had from the fact that he answered the question as to the five best scores he had made on his home links by the one word, "rotten." As a kicker's handicap he asked for the maximum. He received a handicap of 10 to make up for the "rotten" and 30 in the kicker's affair. A crowd waited to see him perform up to his own qualification, but he had the last laugh by staying away.

John H. Duffy of Knollwood, who tied for the best net score of the day with Mr. Allsopp at 74, persisted long enough to prove it a jewel. At the first hole he was in a bunker on his second shot and dug into the treacherous hazard four times without moving the ball far enough to make it perceptible. Just as one of his partners asked if he was demonstrating a new trench-digging outfit, Duffy, exasperated to the limit, made a wild, vicious swipe at the ball, and to his intense astonishment the ball rose into the air, flew straight to the green, and rolled contentedly into the cup.

Charles Cooper of Oakland, former Congressman from Brooklyn, had a laugh at the expense of Frank Presbrey, Chairman of the Tournament Committee. Mr. Cooper was on the first tee and had taken his stance ready to drive off, when Mr. Presbrey, who had not noticed the condition of affairs, announced in loud tones that the putting competition would start immediately. Mr. Cooper hit the ball a good smash and sent it far and straight down the fairway. After his drive he remarked to Mr. Presbrey, "That was some putt."

Mr. Allsopp not only led the field in gross endeavor, but he managed to get a good start on his adversaries in the Class A division with the best net of 74. The Class B leader was J. William Smith of Bellevue, with 106, 30—76. John H. Duffy, encouraged by his troubles in the first bunker on the course, led the Class C youngsters with 92, 18—74, and James R. Gilkeson of Lancaster, Penn., was out in front of the Class D survivors of time with 88, 12—76. Mr. Allsopp's card, which only needs to be duplicated today to bring him the championship, follows:

Out ....5 5 4 5 3 5 4 3 9—43

The annual dinner and business meeting held Wednesday evening provided a series of enjoyable speeches for the 300 members of the association crowded into the capacious ball room of the Apawamis Club. Justice Mahlon Pitney gave a talk on golf, and wound up with a patriotic speech of golf and the nation, which had every man present on his feet at the end. Judge Henry A. Gildersleeve of Oakland, who fought through the civil war, sang the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and sang it well enough to force all to join in the chorus. Alexander H. Revell of Chicago told enough humorous incidents of the links to make every one happy.

The business meeting was little more than a ratification of the temporary officers named last January. It provided Horace L. Hotchkiss of Apawamis, father of the tournament, with the title of Honorary President; Darwin P. Kingsley of Sleepy Hollow with President; Justice Pitney of Chevy Chase, First Vice President; Judge Morgan J. O'Brien of Oakland, Second Vice President, and Walter Brown of Apawamis, Secretary and Treasurer. Mr. Kingsley made a speech of acceptance and congratulations to the seniors which found intense favor.

Among the starters of yesterday's affair whose name has linked golf and the war was Dr. Colin C. Carter of Shinnecock Hills, father of Philip Carter, former United North and South amateur champion, who is "somewhere in France" at present driving an ambulance.

MANY BLUES FOR HANLEY.

Percy A. Rockefeller came to the front as a winner of horse show ribbons at the second day's exhibition of the Westchester County Show at Gedney Farm, White Plains, yesterday. With Sir Edward, a big, upstanding gray hunter, full 17 hands, and as clever at fencing as he would be at tipping the scales at a coal weighing station, he first won the open jumping class, in which only performance counted, and then came back in the heavyweight hunting class to win that event in which conformation counted 25 points toward the prize, with manners and way of going getting a similar credit and the performance over the fences the balance of the 100 per cent. scale. With a showy chestnut called Heartland, he won the prize in the class for ladies' hunters up to carrying 165 pounds, and with others of his string picked up four minor prizes in the three classes. Mr. Rockefeller shows under the name of the Owenoke Farm.

Walter H. Hanley of Providence, who has been amassing a lot of prizes in the Summer horse show circuit, added quite a bunch to his string yesterday, when he captured four prizes in various classes, his showy mare Rainbow, which won at Newport in rather sensational fashion, helping win in pairs of harness horses and then won alone in the class for horses of her size. Topper, which is full of fire and action, won the gig horse class from a hot class and Driftwood Blaze repeated his victory of the day before, though this time winning as a ladies' saddle horse to which he seems peculiarly fitted, as he is both tractable and showy.

The class of polo mounts was so large that it was divided into light and heavy weight classes, Howard S. Borden in the uniform of a United States Army officer putting the riders and their ponies through the intricate movements used to determine the adaptability of mounts to the exigencies of the game they play. After a half hour's exhibition the chief honors were given to Edgar Clausen's White Chief, which gave an exhibition of what an india rubber pony might be expected to be like, without breaking a leg or unshipping his rider, and to Hugh J. Chisholm's Sam, a brown of fine speed and the stockiness which showed his natural construction for the sudden turning on a polo field.

As we walked out to lunch the other day, we happened to be right behind a customer who was just leaving with his son. He was so forceful in his conversation that we couldn't help hearing what he said:
"They certainly have the goods. They may charge a little more, but they do give you your money's worth every time!"
Isn't that just it? You pay a reasonable price and you get what you want. The cheapest things are often the dearest.

FOURTH QUOTA GOES TODAY

Thirty-two Who Failed to Report on Wednesday Found by the Police —Appeal Board Decisions.

The third contingent of New York City's selective draft men, 1,725 of them, left for Camp Upton at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The men from Manhattan left from the Pennsylvania Station and Long Island City, while the Brooklynites departed from the Carlton Avenue yards of the Flatbush Avenue Station. In pleasing contrast to Wednesday's record, when 102 of 1,036 men who were called to the colors failed to report, only seven of the much larger number who went yesterday failed to answer "Here" at the 7:30 A. M. mobilization.

One of the seven who failed to report yesterday was Solomon Gutterman of 325 East Sixteenth Street. Board 118 received a letter from Gutterman last night, written from Newark, in which he said he had given the subject of military service for the United States very careful consideration and had arrived at the conclusion that he was a "conscientious objector," and that for that reason he would be unable to take his place in the national army. Roger B. Wood, in charge of the draft in New York, when informed of the case, asked the police to find Gutterman, bring him to the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, and turn him over to the military authorities.

Of the 102 men who failed to report on Wednesday thirty-three had been accounted for last night. Louis Reveri of 555 West Broadway sent an indignant protest at being listed as a slacker. Reveri got lost from his squad, but was on the train when it pulled out and was among the first to report for duty at Camp Upton Wednesday afternoon. Twelve of the thirty-two men rounded up yesterday were sent to the camp in the afternoon, and the other twenty will depart this morning. The police are still trying to find the other seventy.

Enthusiastic demonstrations marked the departure of yesterday's contingents, thousands of people being at all three points of entrainment when the special trains got under way. It was estimated that about 5,000 persons were in the cheering, flag-waving crowd which bade good-bye to the soldiers at the Pennsylvania Station, and the crowds in Long Island City and in Brooklyn were almost as large and just as enthusiastic.

The men from District 119 marched from their headquarters in East Eighteenth Street to the Pennsylvania Station. All of the forty who were called were in line and the march was headed by the fife and drum corps of St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church. The leader of the unit carried a big banner, on which was inscribed: "Gas bombs for the Kaiser from the boys of the Gas House District of New York." Julius Henry Cohen, Chairman of Board 129, marched at the head of the men from his district, who paraded all the way from the headquarters in West Seventy-seventh Street to the station. The women relatives of the men marched with them, and everybody carried an American flag. The banner of the men of District 111 read: "Aces beat Kings."

Frederic R. Coudert, Chairman of Board 128, escorted his men to the station, making the journey in automobiles. In Mr. Coudert's contingent were two brothers, Alexander and Cornelius Brennan, of 224 East Fifty-sixth Street. Board 122, which arrived at the station a few minutes after 10 o'clock, carried a banner on which was inscribed: "Brave, Loyal, and True Are the Boys from Board One Hundred and Twenty-two."

Today 1,612 men from twenty-five Manhattan and fourteen Brooklyn districts will go to Camp Upton. The districts affected by the call with the number of men ordered to the colors from each and the place and hour of entrainment are:

The Appeal Board, of which Charles E. Hughes is Chairman, held another long session yesterday afternoon and disposed of several hundred cases which had been carried up from the lower boards. In the great majority of cases the decision of the district boards was affirmed. The board also disposed of 136 applications for discharge on industrial and agricultural grounds, and of these sixty-five were approved and seventy-one denied.

Sigmund Mendel, an appellant from Board 170, sought exemption as the support of his wife, whom he married on June 14 last. The appeal was denied. The local board in its report of this case stated that its investigation disclosed that the appellant has three brothers in the Austrian Army, and that three other brothers have died in the Austrian service. The appellant, the board further stated, himself deserted the Austrian Army and escaped to the United States and took out citizenship papers. The board, in denying Mendel's claim, suggested that he be employed on this side of the Atlantic and not in Europe.

GOPHER GANG DECLARES WAR.

CAMP UPTON, YAPHANK, L. I., Sept. 20.—The second quota of the second increment of recruits for the Seventy-seventh Division reported for duty this noon at Camp Upton. Trains arrived on schedule time, the recruits were marched to their barracks without delay, and the men were quickly absorbed into the life of the camp. All were from New York districts, and there was the same businesslike attitude that marked yesterday's quota. Today's recruits were more picturesque, however, for there were many from Hell's Kitchen and the Gas House District. Gang rivalry was forgotten, and men from the Gopher Gang marched with members of the Gas House Gang. One man bore a sign that the Gopher Gang had declared war on the Kaiser, the Gas House District announced familiarity with gas warfare, and another inscription read: "Hell's Kitchen, that is us; we're going to cook the Kaiser's goose." From all indications Hell's Kitchen hereafter will cook with gas.

Arrived at the barracks, the recruits had their first taste of camp fare prepared by chefs from metropolitan hotels and were then questioned by officers as to what branches of the service they preferred.

"In what military capacity do you wish to serve?" asked a Lieutenant of one recruit, and the man replied: "I wanta be a Lootenant."

Tomorrow the men will undergo physical examination, and all who pass will be permanently assigned to regiments.

Three workers from the Young Women's Christian Association arrived today to act as chaperons at the hostess house for enlisted men to be built by the National Board of the Y. W. C. A. Designed as the camp social centre where enlisted men may meet their friends and families, the building will be equipped with living rooms and rest rooms. The money for the building was raised by a committee of women from Long Island.

PHILLIPS IN CHARGE AT SPARTANBURG

PRESENT COLONELS TO STAY.

CAMP WADSWORTH, SPARTANBURG, S. C., Sept. 20.—As Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan has been temporarily detached from command of the Twenty-seventh Division, in order to carry out an extremely important order from the War Department, Brig. Gen. Charles L. Phillips, U. S. A., today assumed command of the division. General Phillips, the senior officer of his rank in the command, was formerly in command of the New England Coast Defense, and now is the Brigadier of the Fifty-second Field Artillery Brigade.

Other temporary changes are Lieut. Col. Franklin W. Ward, to be Acting Chief of Staff; Major Allan L. Reagan, to be Acting Adjutant, and Major Edward Olmsted, to Assistant Chief of Staff and in charge of intelligence subsection, General Staff Section.

It was ascertained today that the present Colonels of the Second, Third, Seventh, and Twenty-third Infantry Regiments will remain with their troops under the reorganization plan. Several changes, however, will be made among the Lieutenant Colonels, Majors, Captains, and Lieutenants of these regiments.

While the First, Tenth, Fourteenth, Twelfth, and Seventy-first Infantry Regiments originally were scheduled to come here to fill up the ranks of the newly created divisional organizations and then be recruited to 3,605 men each with conscripts to await assignment with Rainbow divisions, instructions were amended today placing them simply in the reserve. It is exceedingly unlikely that they will see service as integral parts of the Twenty-seventh.

Final arrangements have been made for the intensive training of the divisional field artillery at a range located twenty miles northeast of camp, Brig. Gen. Phillips said. He added that he could not yet say definitely whether the Third Field Artillery, now armed with 4.7 guns, were to receive six-inch howitzers of a new type, as has been reported. Discussing the work ahead of the artillery when it reaches France, he continued:

"Field artillery service, as practiced in France, would hardly be recognizable as that practiced here in the past. This is mainly due to fire control, fire location, and fire discipline, necessitated by long ranges and the difficulty in obtaining ranges. The necessity for rapid fire action has called for more accurate methods, and methods admitting of more easy application on the part of the enlisted personnel.

"This has resulted in the adoption, by the French and British War Offices, of methods practically identical with those that have been employed by the United States Coast Artillery Corps for the last fifteen or twenty years. After our allies had improved on these methods, our coast artillery officers retook them and developed them further along the usual coast artillery instrumental lines. The result has been the evolution of a set of instruments that reduce inaccuracy of fire to a minimum.

"The commander of the Twenty-seventh's Field Artillery Brigade was so fortunate as to obtain possession of a set of these improved instruments, those now used and to be used by our artillery in France for fire control, fire direction, and fire discipline. This brigade, I believe, is the only one in the United States to have such a set of instruments and we will soon be in a position to perfect ourselves in all the work that the big guns of France are called on to do."

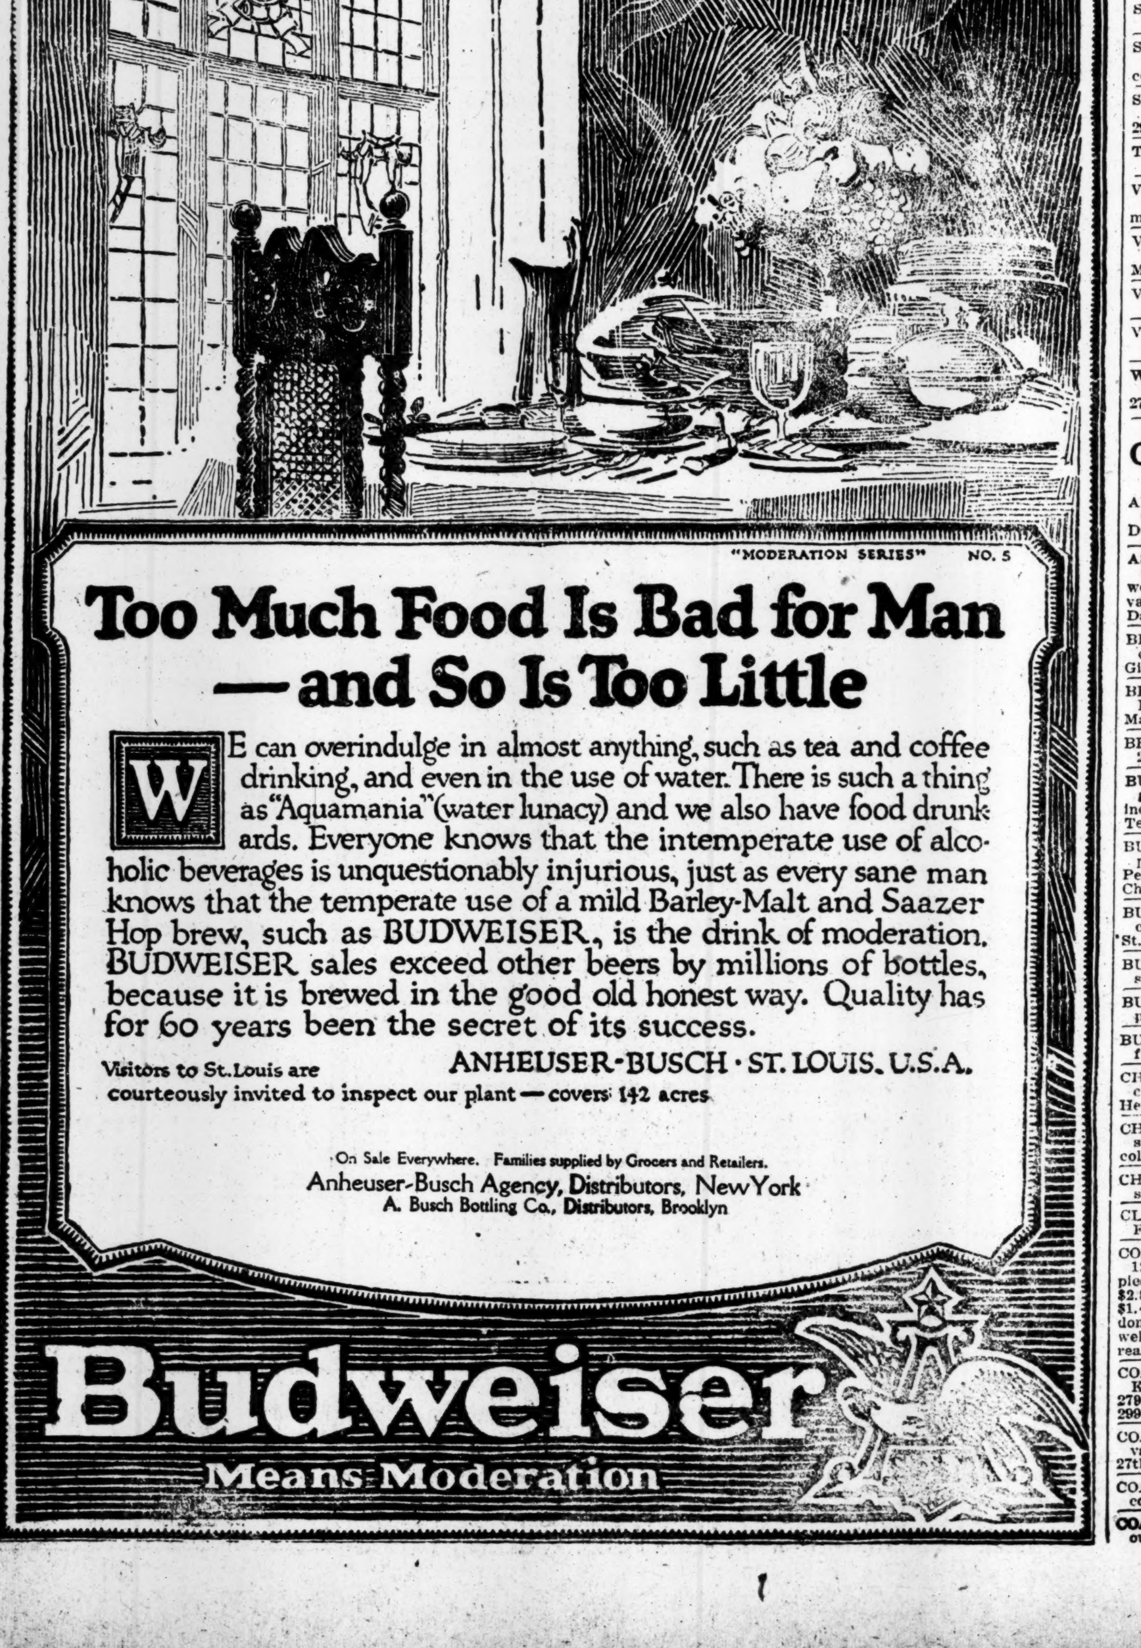
When the reserve officers reported for duty this morning with the 107th and the Twelfth Infantry, the Colonels of the regiments addressed them upon the traditions of their new regiments. The reservists received tents in the officers' streets of the regiments, and immediately made arrangements to establish in each unit a reserve officers' mess.

Both the 107th and the Twelfth were put through light marching drills in the morning and in the afternoon were marched out to stack rifles and run through brisk calisthenics.



"MODERATION SERIES" NO. 5

Too Much Food Is Bad for Man —and So Is Too Little

WE can overindulge in almost anything, such as tea and coffee drinking, and even in the use of water. There is such a thing as "Aquamania" (water lunacy) and we also have food drunkards. Everyone knows that the intemperate use of alcoholic beverages is unquestionably injurious, just as every sane man knows that the temperate use of a mild Barley-Malt and Saazer Hop brew, such as BUDWEISER, is the drink of moderation. BUDWEISER sales exceed other beers by millions of bottles, because it is brewed in the good old honest way. Quality has for 60 years been the secret of its success.

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Wednesday......5 @5½% " " "

Deliveries Not Cut Much.

An executive of one of the city's biggest stores is authority for the statement that the attempts of the National Economy Board to induce women, on patriotic grounds, to carry their purchases home with them from stores whenever possible have not yet borne the fruit that was expected of them. "While more or less has been reported about the way the women are helping in this respect," he said yesterday, "the actual figures show that the percentage of deliveries to sales made is practically as large as ever, if not actually so. There has, however, been a noticeable falling off in the return of goods, but whether this is due to more care on the part of customers in buying or to better service on the part of the stores is a question."

Retailers Prospering.

The Fall buying in local department stores, which set in a week or ten days ago a little earlier than usual, due it was said at the time to the cool weather then prevailing, is continuing and increasing, according to report, as the season progresses. Several of the stores report that the month, thus far, has been the busiest September in their experience, while with others, though the turnover thus far is no greater, the money involved, due to higher prices prevailing, is greater than for all of any other September on record.

Purple Velvet Hard to Get.

Because they were unprepared to meet, possibly because they could not get the needed merchandise earlier in the season, the great demand for purple velvet hats that has developed this Fall, manufacturers of millinery goods have been forced by the present scarcity of purple to turn their attention to substitute shades. Wisteria has been seized upon to bridge the gap, but so scarce has been this color in the standard shade that the manufacturers have been obliged to employ at least three distinct variations of it to date.

Novelty Raincoats Popular.

Novelty raincoats of designs in keeping with the spirit of the times are proving, according to local manufacturers, to be one of the most popular items of women's wear for the Fall season. Waterproofed tweeds in mixed grays and greens are among the best sellers thus far. They are being made up with the new military cape collars trimmed with bullet lapel-pieces, and rounded gun-metal buttons. Raglan sleeves are the order of the day in these garments, and many of them have wide belts fastened with large clasps and a buckle in front.

West Takes Military Styles.

There is apparent in some sections of the country, according to several coat and suit manufacturers of this city, a tendency toward the military styles. This is not so noticeable in New York and the immediate vicinity as in certain parts of the West and Middle West. The color most favored in these localities is said to be French blue. In the local market broadcloths continue most in demand, though pile fabrics also are very well sought. Reorders that keep coming in continue to favor those garments having fur trimmings, which seems to be proving the most popular style feature of the season.

Jobbers Are Hampered.

One effect of the delayed openings of Spring lines of hosiery by certain manufacturers this year has been to force jobbers' salesmen to leave on their initial trips with curtailed lines. In some cases the men have been held back two or three weeks longer than usual, in the hope that more of the leading lines would be opened, but it was said yesterday that the end of this week would doubtless see them on their way regardless. In view of the sharp advances that have been made on the lines that have been opened, the curtailment in variety of offerings which the delay has made unavoidable is not expected to add anything to the retailers' willingness to buy liberally. In some quarters it is candidly admitted that large buying by retailers, under the circumstances, will be more surprising than the reverse.

Cotton Rise Helps Gray Goods.

The upturn in cotton in the last couple of days has had the effect of stimulating the demand for gray goods in the local market. Prices are firmer. Yesterday, for instance, 39-inch 56-44s sold from first hands at 7½ cents for October delivery, while from the same quarter sales of 27-inch 64-60s were made at 6⅞ cents. Wide 64-60s sold from second hands, spot, at 9¼ cents, and quick goods of this construction are now scarce at any price. Eight cents was paid for nearby deliveries of 38½-inch 60-48s. The asking prices for 39-inch 68-72s ranged all the way from 10½ cents for late shipments to 10⅞ cents for spots, all of these being mill figures. The sheeting business, while streaky, was pretty fair in the aggregate. In the drills, sales of 37-inch 3.25s were made at 14 cents. Business was done also on goods of the same weight in the 30-inch width at a price that was not given out. Mill prices for spot printcloths closed this way:

AERO COMMISSION PLANNED

International Body to Encourage Civil Use of Airplanes.

The Aero Club of America has made plans to form here an International Commission of Civil Aeronautics, similar to the commissions already established in England and France, but sufficiently broad in scope to include both these organizations. The purpose is to aid in the present war program by creating a field of usefulness for the airplane entirely apart from that of war in the expectation that impetus will be given to invention and manufacture by the assurance of a market for aerial products when the temporary demand of war uses shall have ceased.

Evert Jansen Wendell and Augustus Post went to Europe some weeks ago to study the foreign commissions which were organized in France on last Jan. 6 and in England on last May 23. Mr. Wendell's death of an illness contracted abroad put an end to his labors but Mr. Post has forwarded a report to the Aero Club, which has just been received. Information from other sources has enabled the Club to tabulate the possible uses of the airplane for the transit of goods, mail, and persons, sporting and domestic employments and scientific surveys and observations.

Airplanes of size sufficient, it is expected, to cross the Atlantic have been developed, especially in Italy, samples of which are now in this country, and authorities in the field of aeronautics believe the time has come when only the assurance of a demand quite apart from war orders is needed to set manufacturers building on a scale never before attempted.

The Committee on Aeronautic Maps and Landing Places of the Aero Club, of which Admiral Peary is Chairman, has made complete plans for aeronautic maps and for establishing a chain of landing places across the continent so that, it is believed, an International Commission of the kind contemplated would find its work in this country well under way.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Continue to Rise, Aided by Easier Money and Better Feeling.

The buoyancy with which the stock market hailed the decision of bankers to lend more freely in the time money market continued through yesterday's session with general and, in some cases, wide advances. The extent to which sentiment is veering around under the new influence is somewhat surprising in view of the fact that the underlying factors against which the long decline was charged still remains unchanged. Prices to be paid for steel are not yet fixed, but Wall Street has fallen into the habit of marking up its estimates when the market is strong and lowering them when stocks are weak. The announcement yesterday that leading steel manufacturers had been summoned to Washington led to a hope that this will prove to be the final conference which may precede an announcement of the terms on which the Government will fill its enormous needs. It may be that the steel men will be asked to assent to a proposed settlement without waiting for passage of the Pomerene bill carrying express authorization for Federal price fixing. At any rate, the rise of the last two days served to minimize, in the eyes of traders, the importance of the decision shortly to be made.

The primary reason for the understanding among bankers which led to the release of more money for time loans was recognition of the fact that credit must be made more easily obtainable if the forthcoming big issue of Government bonds is to be as successful as the initial offering. It does not necessarily follow that the stock market will be given artificial support until the loan is safely consummated, and then allowed to fall into the doldrums again. The big decline which has taken place in the last fortnight was very largely sentimental; it was in the nature of an attempt to discount all of the unfavorable developments that may come to pass, but in so far as the judgment that led to such severe liquidation is not supported by actual happenings artificial restoration of confidence is justifiable. There was better buying of stocks yesterday than the commission houses have witnessed for some weeks past, although there is little question but that short covering induced by the new attitude of the banks gave the market its sharp upturn. The next few weeks should show whether or not the recovery has more justification than the decline had.

Time money loaned yesterday as low as 4½ per cent. for the shorter periods and at a maximum of 5¼ per cent. for four months. Call loans were made at from 3 per cent. to 4 per cent., with renewals at the higher rate. The Liberty 3½s continued in good demand at par and interest, at which price most of the sales of full lots were made yesterday. The United States Steel Corporation's announcement of a further advance of about 10 per cent. in the wages of 275,000 workmen, the second increase this year, and the fifth since the early part of last year, reflects the increasing difficulties of keeping labor when fancy wages are being offered in many lines to offset the shortage. The Steel Corporation's successive advances emphasize the difficulties which the railroads are having in keeping their forces intact, limited as these companies are by inability to bid against industrial concerns whose prices have risen at least proportionately with the wage level.

LONDON MARKET CHEERFUL.

Money in Increased Demand and Discount Rates Are Firm.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—Money was in increased demand and discount rates were firm today.

The stock market developed a more cheerful tendency with hardening prices in gilt-edged securities, home rails, and Argentine and Russian issues on light buying. Mining, rubber and oil shares continued the firmest, but dealings otherwise did not expand.

PARIS, Sept. 20.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes 61 francs 5 centimes for cash. Exchange on London 27 francs 18 centimes. Five per cent. loan 88 francs 15 centimes.

Mexico's Silver Resources.

Reports made by returning travelers in Mexico are to the effect that the country is gradually settling down to peaceful pursuits again. The American Smelting and Refining Company stated in its recent report that labor conditions were growing better and that the lack of adequate transportation facilities was one of the most bothersome factors in the mining situation. Mexico now has a particular stimulus toward utilizing its natural resources in the rising price of silver. Another sharp advance carried the quotation to $1.06½ an ounce yesterday, emphasizing the fact that supplies are falling behind the demand. The Mexican mines in the big year of 1911 produced more than 79,000,000 ounces of silver, and failed to turn out half this amount last year. Transportation problems, from what can be learned in mining quarters, are more difficult than any others to be met in Mexico at the present time, and improvement has been slow since banditry began to lose popularity.

Steel Price Fixing.

News that Judge Gary and several of his associates in the American Iron and Steel Institute were going to Washington roused some hopes in the Street yesterday that steel price fixing was on the verge of final adjustment. The Steel Committee selected many weeks ago to assist the Council of National Defense was dissolved shortly after the Food Administration bill was passed, so that the steel makers' visit can hardly be looked upon as part of an official program. Just the same, the Street decided they would not have been asked to meet the Government's representatives again if a decision were not close at hand.

Two Strong Markets.

A graphic summary of the improved stock market yesterday and Wednesday is presented in the movement of average prices. The fifty representative issues used in the table at the head of this column advanced 2.48 points in the two days, a swing great enough to reflect real strength. The twenty-five industrial stocks gained 3.89 points and the twenty-five railroads rose 1.07 points. Some of the optimistic effect of this showing is removed, however, by the fact that the average quotation for forty bonds lost ground on both days, continuing their tendency of practically every preceding day of the month.

Liberty Bond Slackers.

Attention was directed yesterday to the fact that, according to the Daily Treasury statement, there is still due to the Government on the $2,000,000,000 Liberty Loan bond issue a sum approximating $130,000,000. The last payment should have been made on Aug. 30, but evidently some subscribers have not made their final remittances, and it is understood that some banks which forwarded subscriptions on behalf of their customers have thus far not settled with the Government for the unpaid bonds. Although the Treasury has the right, it is said, to forfeit the 2 per cent. initial payment which accompanied subscriptions, it is understood that it will not avail itself of this right until the tardy subscribers have been given an opportunity to pay up. It is expected that some institutions will take over the bonds unpaid for by their customers and that they will make adjustments with the subscribers. It is expected that Secretary McAdoo will soon issue a ruling regarding the Liberty Loan "slackers."

English Banks in Paris.

Cable advices received here yesterday reported that Lloyds Bank and the National Provincial Bank of London have arranged a joint proprietorship of the Lloyds Bank, (France,) formed in 1911 as a separate company to represent Lloyds Bank in Paris. Under the new arrangement the concern operating in France will increase its capital from £600,000 to £1,200,000 and change its name to the Lloyds and National Provincial Bank, (France,) Ltd.

Cotton Exports and Munitions.

Although there has been no immediate evidence of marked increases in cotton exports, the strong tone of the market on the New York Cotton Exchange for the last three days has brought out some speculation as to one of the more indirect consequences of the entrance of the United States into the war and the postponement of the Allies' grand offensive campaign to still another year. This is its effect upon the British labor market, due to the lessened pressure of demands upon England for war munitions, which, in the opinion of some observers, may soon result in recovery of the spinning mills and consequent increase in demand for raw cotton in this market. On the other hand, cotton is a staple in the manufacture of high explosives, but consumption in this direction is, of course, only a fraction of that in peaceful industry.

Shipping Shares and Ocean Rates.

Coincidently with some recovery in marine shares on the stock market yesterday, and the news of a new low record in big ships sunk by submarines, there was a revival of hopeful talk in shipping circles about the Shipping Board's rate and chartering policy, announcement of which the entire shipping trade has been long and anxiously awaiting, and which would be almost as good news as a submarine specific. "Slow but sure," was the hopeful comment of one ship broker on the Shipping Board's handling of its problem. "Well," said another, "I'm sure they're slow, but slow to believe they're sure."

Airplane Standardisation and Stocks.

The somewhat faint-hearted owners of airplane stocks picked up on the Curb during last Summer's optimistic period following the passage of the Aircraft bill, who at that time counted immense profits from the Government's contracts, but since have seen them fade in the exhaust of the first Liberty Motor, are beginning to pluck up their spirits again and realize what officials of their companies have all along told them—that the Government program was too big for any existing company or group of companies in the embryonic state of the American airplane industry to swing, but that, on the other hand, there would be plenty of room in it for the development of private enterprise, just as the Government's shipbuilding program has not crowded, and will not crowd, private American enterprise off the seas.

Liberty Loan Publicity.

Guy Emerson, Director of Publicity for the Second Federal Reserve District, issued a seven-page statement yesterday describing in detail the organization of the publicity department of the New York Liberty Loan Committee. The plans provide for a war exhibition, motion pictures, work by farm bureaus of the State, and by public school teachers. Millions of posters, stickers, pamphlets, placards, and cartoons will be distributed. Among the various schemes planned for advertising the next Liberty Loan are (1) a parade; (2) the distribution of 320,000 stickers for automobiles; (3) telephone speeches by prominent Government officials and citizens, and (4) the sending of telegrams soliciting subscriptions. "The keynote of our efforts," Director Emerson's statement says, "is to rely upon the existing publicity agencies of the country to enter into the spirit of this Government work as fully as the Liberty Loan Committee itself. This is a great piece of war work which requires the full co-operation of the great publicity machinery of America, which is the most remarkably developed publicity machinery in the world."

War Time Investments

On account of the conditions created by the War, a large number of very attractive short time bonds and notes have been placed on the market. Because of their early maturities they are not expected to fluctuate materially in price, and they yield considerably more than bond investors have been accustomed to receive.

U. S. STEEL GRANTS 10% WAGE INCREASE

Fifth Rise in Twenty Months Adds $30,000,000 to Corporation's Payroll.

BENEFITS 275,000 WORKMEN

Other Big Steel Companies Expected to Vote Similar Increases in the Near Future.

The United States Steel Corporation announced yesterday that the wages of its employes would be increased 10 per cent. on Oct. 1. Approximately 275,000 men will be affected by this, the second wage advance of the year, and the fifth since Feb. 1 of last year, each being 10 per cent. The successive increases, one upon the other, will make the daily or monthly pay of the employes 60 per cent. higher when the latest increase goes into effect than it was at the end of 1915.

It is estimated that the various subsidiary companies employ about 200,000 day laborers who are now getting an average of $3 a day for ten hours' work. The increase on Oct. 1 will amount to 30 cents a day for this class of employes and will cause an aggregate increase of the corporation's annual payroll of approximately $18,000,000. The statement in regard to the wage rise by Chairman E. H. Gary said that "equitable adjustments would be made," which meant that besides the straight increase for unskilled labor on a daily basis, the 10 per cent. would be added to the pay of skilled workmen, miners in the ore fields, and men on the railroads and ships of the big organization. A conservative estimate of the full increase in the payroll would probably be $30,000,000 a year.

The corporation paid out in wages and salaries last year $263,385,502, and the two advances since Jan 1 are expected to add fully $25,000,000 to the outlay in the current fiscal year ended Dec. 31. The increases voted in 1916 were put into operation on Feb. 1, May 1, and Dec. 15, and the first this year was made effective on May 1.

The Steel Corporation's management let it be known on the occasion of the wage increases last year that the rising cost of living and the desire of the employers to let the workers share in the abnormal profits of the period were the moving factors. Voluntary expansion of the payroll presumably has had influence in keeping the men satisfied, as the corporation has had no serious labor difficulties since the war began. One interpretation put upon the increase at this time was that the management believed the steel price-fixing negotiations now under way at Washington would not work to reduce the steel company profits to an unusual degree.

It is expected that the Republic Iron and Steel Company, the Crucible Steel Company, the Lackawanna, Cambria, and others will shortly vote a similar advance in wages. They followed the corporation's lead when the preceding increases were made.

APPROVES ALEXANDER PLAN

W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board in Washington, has sent a letter to the twelve Reserve Banks advising them that the board has approved the suggestion recently made by James S. Alexander, President of the National Bank of Commerce in New York, that banks encourage the issuance of short-term commercial paper for periods not longer than four months, instead of six months as is frequently the case. Governor Harding says that in view of the anticipated heavy demands to be made on the Reserve Banks it is desirable that the commercial banks of the country should have in their portfolios a maximum amount of paper that can be rediscounted with the Federal Reserve Banks.

"As the Federal Reserve Banks can rediscount only paper which has not more than ninety days to run, it follows," Governor Harding declares, "that if investments of member banks are in six months' paper, an average of only 50 per cent. of such paper is available at any one time for rediscount; but should the investments be in paper having four months or less to run, at least 75 per cent. would on an average have not more than ninety days to run to maturity and would therefore be immediately available for use at the Federal Reserve Bank.

"The board is of the opinion that the suggested change would greatly improve the banking condition of the country, as the banks would make a turnover three times a year instead of twice, and the credits which they would provide would come up for consideration three times instead of twice a year. The borrower in good credit would have no reasonable grounds for complaint and the borrower in doubtful credit would be strengthened by frank conversations with his bankers at more frequent intervals than at present. It is suggested that if the bankers of the country will undertake this change in methods of borrowing and insist upon four months' paper instead of six, the credit situation will be greatly improved within a short time, responsible borrowers would have greater assurance of credits, and the banks themselves would be in position to meet contingencies with at least 50 per cent. more confidence than under the existing borrowing conditions."

The text of Governor Harding's letter has been sent out by George J. Seay, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond, to all banking institutions in the Fifth Reserve District.

THE COTTON MARKET

Steady Gain Brings Recovery of Around 2 1-2 Cents a Pound Over Last Week.

After some hesitation and faltering in the early morning session, the firm tone which has characterized the market on the New York Cotton Exchange this week again asserted itself yesterday, and by the close of the day the steady advance had carried most contracts forward to a recovery of around 2½ cents a pound from last week's low figures. December, for instance, sold up to 22.12, 89 points above Wednesday's closing figures, and at times during the afternoon the advances became extremely lively.

Export buying, reports indicating that the crop had been overestimated, an increase in the day's exports, and the absorption of many contracts on yesterday's realization all appeared to have a part in the causes for the continued advance. The general tone of the market has been better all this week, and there was a generally optimistic feeling evident at the close of the session.

The market opened steady at an advance of 7 to 18 points on overnight buying orders, but soon turned easier. There was probably local selling, as well as realizing on the declines which sent December and later deliveries about 13 to 14 points net lower during the middle of the day. October was relatively steady, selling only a point under last night's closing figures, and while its strength was attributed largely to the difficulty of replacing local stocks, it exercised a sustaining influence on later deliveries. Immediate offerings seemed to have been pretty well absorbed on the decline to 21.03 for January, and when the buying movement started toward the middle of the afternoon there were very few contracts for sale. Prices shot up very rapidly in consequence until active months showed net gains of 78 to 91 points. The close was only a few points off from the best under realizing. Wall Street and Western interests were active buyers late in the afternoon, when there was also covering by some of the larger shorts, who were believed to have carried their short lines intact during the previous progress of the advance. Exports for the day were 38,558 bales, making 549,991 so far this seasonu, against 688,334 last year. Southern spot markets, as officially reported, were unchanged to 30 points higher, with Southwestern markets relatively firm. Houston reported sales of 7,229 bales at an advance of 66 points to 23.00 for middling.

COMMODITIES MARKETS

WHEAT.

Receipts of over a million bushels of wheat at interior points was again considered encouraging and Government officials insist that wheat is finding its way to market with more freedom daily. Mills in the Northwest are apparently finding little dificulty in procuring wheat to grind, despite rumors to the contrary. So far comparatively little wheat has found its way to the seaboard, however, and Eastern mills are still having difficulty in securing supplies, while the export movement is light.

CORN.

The market for cotton was very nervous, and after moving feverishly within a range of about 1½c prices closed practically unchanged from the final of Wednesday. A lack of conviction on the part of traders is exemplified by feverish fluctuations from day to day, and, while trading is of quite large volume, the market in reality is a narrow one, which easily becomes both overbought and oversold. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $2.19½ and No. 2 mixed $2.17½, cost, insurance, and freight New York.

OATS.

A steady tone pervaded the oats market and prices at the close were ¼c to ⅝c net higher. The principal sustaining factor in the market was a scarcity of offers from the country. Export buyers were again apathetic and no actual business came to light. The local cash market was firm; standard quoted at 67c; No. 2 white, 67½c; No. 3 white, 66¼@67c; No. 4 white, 66@66½c; fancy clipped white, 67½@71c; ordinary clipped white, 66½@70½c, all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The market for hog products was moderately active and firm, prompted by continued light receipts of hogs and an advance in prices at the yards. Moreover, the sharp upturn in cottonseed oil exerted more or less influence on lard. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 9,000; estimated for Friday, 8,000; Kansas City received 4,000, and Omaha 3,900.

COTTONSEED OIL.

There was an excited session in the market for cottonseed oil, and the September position jumped to 17.80, a new high record. Crude oil in the South is strong, with little offering, and this had a sustaining influence on the new crop positions. At the close September was 100 points net higher, while other positions were up 40 to 55 points. Total sales were 42,100 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

For a time yesterday it looked as though the reports of a slight improvement in spot demand and of scarcer ocean freight room in Brazil were creating a moderate buying movement in the market for coffee futures. The opening was a point higher, and active months sold 7 points above Wednesday's closing figures before the end of the morning. The demand was mostly from scattering sources, but seemed to include a little trade buying, which may have been against sales of spots to the interior. Later, however, offerings increased, with importers moderate sellers, and most of the advance was lost, with the market closing at a net gain of 1 to 3 points. Sales were reported of 54,500 bags. There has been rather a better demand in the local spot market during the week, but the tone was somewhat irregular yesterday, with Rio 7s quoted at 8⅜c to 8½c. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

Raw sugar was again dull and without feature. The estimated unsold portion of the present crop is given as 60,000 tons, and holders are not pressing sugar for sale. There were no buyers, however, refiners awaiting authority from Washington. The general situation is still an acute one, and refiners are finding a much improved demand, buyers being short of supplies and bidding full list prices for sugar for immediate delivery. Orders are being considerably restricted, and some refineries are working on part time, stringing out their raw supplies over as long a period as possible. Conferences were on yesterday between Cuban planters, refiners, and the Administration, and the results of these conferences and of previous conferences are expected to be made known very shortly, which may relieve the present strained situation.

BUILDERS WILL ASK FEDERAL CONTROL

A resolution to ask Congress to appoint a Commissioner of Peace Industries to regulate prices, if necessary, so that the business of peaceful industries might be continued during the war on a reasonably normal basis, was unanimously adopted yesterday at the close of the meeting of building and affiliated industries in the office of Borough President Marks. Before the request is formally presented President Marks was asked to appoint a committee including members of all building trades, architects, commercial interests and labor organizations to make a detailed study of the present building situation and material prices with the view of suggesting remedies for relief.

The meeting was the largest of its kind that has been held in the city for many years. Over two hundred builders and material manufacturers, bankers, officers of large loaning institutions, real estate men and labor representatives were present, crowding the office so that standing room was at a premium. The conference was called by President Marks at the request of the Building Materials Exchange for an interchange of views on the present building situation. The material manufacturers had no hesitancy in saying that prices would not be lower for some time. On the contrary, higher prices for many commodities were predicted within the next six to twelve months.

President Marks who opened the meeting called attention to the stagnation of building activity in New York this year. During the first eight months, he said, plans filed for new structures in Manhattan aggregated $23,852,925 in estimated cost. For the same period in 1916, plans filed represented a cost of over $100,000,000, and over $50,000,000 for a similar period in 1915.

Walter Stabler, controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which is the largest loaning institution in the city on new buildings, admitted that his company had stopped making building loans because it was afraid to lend under present conditions.

F. E. Conover of the Building Trades Employers' Association aroused the patriotism of the meeting by saying that notwithstanding the present hardships the builders of the country were loyal to the Government.

"Of course we do not know when we can get steel," he said. "The Government has the first call and it has a right to take it. That man is a traitor who questions the Government's right, and he ought to be stood up with his face to the wall and shot in the back for a coward."

The resolution favoring the appointment of a Commissioner of Peace Industries was presented by Allen E. Beals. It provides that a committee be appointed from all the leading building trades, the Merchants' Association, the Real Estate Board, the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, and labor organizations to make a careful study of price conditions and ascertain from architects how many buildings have been postponed through failure to obtain loans and difficulty in securing material.

TELL OF BUSINESS ECONOMY

Dry Goods Men Report Success of Curtailed Deliveries.

Reports of nation-wide economies among retail dry goods stores of the country were received at a meeting of the War Advisory Committee of the National Retail Dry Goods Association at a special meeting yesterday at 33 West Forty-second Street, attended by representatives from widely separated cities. Victor W. Sincere of Cleveland, Ohio, Chairman of the committee, presided.

The purpose of the meeting was to consider the work that has been done in carrying out the wishes of the Government regarding fewer deliveries, the curtailing of the return privilege, and other saving devices.

Frank H. Young, Field Secretary of the association, said a great many cities had adopted one delivery a day, while the others were limiting deliveries to two a day. In many communities a charge for c. o. d's and special deliveries had become a rigid rule, while the War Advisory Committee's recommendation covering the abuse of the return goods privilege had been adopted and carried through most effectively in almost every case reported.

President Paroles Coal Dealers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—James B. Smith and Frederick Mills, convicted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Government in the sale of coal, and sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment, were paroled today by President Wilson upon the recommendation of the Board of Pardons. Both men have already served half of their sentences and became eligible for parole on Sept. 9.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

United States Steel common was the leader of the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange practically all day. In the afternoon it sold as high as 111⅛ and it closed at 110⅝, which compared with an opening price of 108⅝, the same as its closing on Wednesday, and an early low of 108⅜. About 50,000 shares of Steel changed hands. There was a brief period of hesitation in the general market early in the day, with profit taking bringing about a temporary recession but all offerings appeared to be readily absorbed and later on strength developed all along the line.

MAY LIMIT MAKING OF WOOL FABRICS

President of Association Says It Is Our Duty "to Keep the Boys in the Trenches Warm."

"No civilian in this country has a right to wear an all-wool suit if by doing so he is taking warmth and comfort from an American or Allied soldier," was the warning given yesterday by Herbert E. Peabody, President of the American Association of Woolen and Worsted Manufacturers, at a meeting of leading wool manufacturers held at the Woolen Goods Exchange, in the Metropolitan Tower, for the purpose of devising means to conserve this country's wool supply for military requirements.

The meeting yesterday was called at the request of the Council of National Defense, which fears a shortage in raw wool supplies, with the consequent inability of the woolen mills of the United States to furnish military cloths, blankets, and underwear for army and navy use. The Council desired the wool manufacturers to devise some method whereby the wool already in the country could be made to last until additional supplies become available. Those present at the meeting represented the principal men's wear, dress goods, serge and other mills, including members of the Joint Committee of Wool Manufacturers cooperating with the Council of National Defense.

Winthrop L. Marvin, Secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, called the meeting to order. Herbert E. Peabody, President of the American Association of Woolen and Worsted Manufacturers, was chosen Chairman. Nathaniel Stevens, Chairman of the Joint Committee, explained the attitude of the Government regarding the wool shortage here, and expressed his gratification at the cordial support given to the committee and the Government by the wool manufacturers of the country.

It was brought out that the Government was of the opinion that in view of the threatened wool famine manufacturers should limit the production of all-wool fabrics of all kinds. The Government desired, it was said, that manufacturers themselves devise means to cut down the amount of wool now being put into fabrics. Should the manufacturers fail, it was intimated the Government might be forced to step in and regulate the percentages of wool going into goods.

Mr. Peabody said that while the Government at this time did not insist that all-wool goods should be eliminated entirely, it was deemed advisable to reduce the use of the product in fabricating goods. He referred to the unhappy experience of England, where, after three years of war, the woolen situation was most unsatisfactory under Government control. He suggested that it was the part of wisdom and patriotism for the American industry to meet the Government now half way in the conservation of wool to a point where there would be no question of a sufficient supply "for the boys who are risking their lives in the trenches."

It was here that Mr. Peabody said he agreed with the Washington Administration that no civilian had a right to wear an all-wool suit if by doing so he was taking warmth and comfort from an American or allied soldier. It was very much better, he said, for the industry to move itself than to be laggard and be forced to action by the Government. William M. Wood, President of the American Woolen Company, urged that the obligation of patriotism should come before all else, and indicated various methods by which the conservation of wool might best be achieved with justice to the Government and without injustice to the manufacturers.

A special committee was appointed to take up the matter of conservation. After a conference in Washington next Wednesday with officials of the Council of National Defense, a large general meeting of the textile manufacturers of the country will be called in New York to approve the conservation plan to be agreed upon by the special committee and the Government's representative.

After the meeting some of the manufacturers expressed themselves as surprised at the delay on the part of the British Government in releasing for the American market huge stocks of Australian wool commandeered by Britain. One estimate was that Great Britain was holding 1,000,000,000 pounds of raw wool in Australia, a portion of which was badly needed by manufacturers here. "We are loaning Britain all kinds of money, but she won't let us have her wool," was the way one manufacturer put it. Only recently, and after prolonged negotiations carried on by the State Department, it was said, had Great Britain agreed to let the United States have 45,000 bales of the commodity.

EQUITABLE PLAN ATTACKED IN COURT

Application was made yesterday to Judge Hough of the Federal District Court for an injunction temporarily enjoining the Equitable Life Assurance Society from proceeding with its proposed plan of mutualization until the suit for a permanent injunction has been tried. A brief was filed with the court by Henry De Forest Baldwin and F. C. Nicodemus, counsel for the complaining minority stockholders, the Royal Trust Company, and the executors of the will of Sir William C. Van Horne.

The brief recites the various actions of the society in promoting the mutualization plan, sets forth the amount of money and "other valuable considerations," which it is proposed to turn over to T. C. du Pont for his 564 shares of the stock, and sets forth the various points on which is based the claim that the proposed action is illegal. It is alleged that it is illegal to use the funds of the society for the benefit of one stockholder, or for any member of a corporation, to sell his vote for anything of value, which the brief declared Mr. du Pont has done.

It is alleged that the chief protection which minority stockholders have is the assurance of equality of treatment with the majority. Concerning the suggestion that mutualization is "the order of the day" and that it would be good business, the brief says:

"But it is not shown that there has been any falling off in the business of the society. No facts are advanced to show that the Equitable has suffered in competition with other companies. Indeed, the report of the committee shows that new business in 1916 was over $100,000,000 more than new business in 1900."

Then the brief tells of the vast benefit which would accrue to Mr. du Pont from the proposed plan, and sets forth these additional reasons why the mutualization idea should not be permitted to prevail:

"It is permissible to infer from the fact that it is Mr. du Pont's stock which elected the present Board of Directors of the Equitable, that they and the officers, who represent them and are chosen by them, are influenced by that fact in agreeing with Mr. du Pont to the proposed terms under which his stock is to be transferred.

"And if we are to have a correct appreciation of this situation, we must not lose sight of the undoubted fact that if the majority stock when purchased is to be turned over to trustees for the policy holders, the real control of the society then will be in the hands of those who control the agents of the company. The power that controls the agents (whose acquaintance with the policy holders enables them to secure proxies) will have in its hands the vast patronage involved in investing $600,000,000 of assets. Exit Mr. du Pont and the present management will be self-perpetuating."

MOVES TO SIMPLIFY LICENSES FOR EXPORTS

The Merchants' Association announced yesterday that there had been so many complaints by members since the Exports License Bureau was transferred from the Department of Commerce to the Exports Administrative Board that a delegation from the association, headed by Lucius R. Eastman, Chairman of the Foreign Trade Committee, had sought a conference with the Administrative Board in Washington and had obtained a promise of changes which will be of great benefit to exporters doing business in this city.

C. A. Richards represented the Exports Administrative Board, and indicated that the board desired to enforce the restrictions upon exports so as to cause the least annoyance to shippers. The committee invited him to address the New York exporters in the assembly room of the association in the Woolworth Building on some day next week, and Mr. Richards agreed and requested exporting firms to send their shipping clerks to the conference.

It was agreed that when new articles are added to the license list, the requirements for licenses shall not apply to shipments of these articles in transit for transport at the time the announcement of the addition is made. Mr. Richards promised that the old, complicated form of application should be abolished for many lines of articles and new regulations as to forms be made. Application form A-3, which is used in connection with shipments to European neutrals will remain unchanged. Application form A-2 for general merchandise, not in the conservation list, which has been used for consignments to allied countries, will be used in future for shipments to South America, the Far East, Africa, and all other points excepting those of European neutrals.

Another agreement reached was that the Exports Administrative Board shall hereafter cable its regulations to American legations in countries affected, in order that they may become known among importers in those countries for their guidance in sending orders to this country. The committee also took up with Mr. Richards the desirability of perfecting as early as possible a competent system of handling applications, so that vexatious delays may be eliminated. Mr. Richards promised that a sufficient force would be provided to handle applications, and said that the New York office now had full authority, without reference to Washington, to grant applications for the export of general merchandise to Italy, France, Great Britain, and their colonies.

Applications for exports to South America, China, and Japan must be passed upon in Washington, but all such applications should be filed at the local office. Several suggestions were made by the committee looking to expediting the license service here. They will be considered by the Exports Board.

Five Months of War Banking

Vast Loans to Allies Have Brought Credit Expansion, Which Is Controlled by Wise Changes of Federal Reserve Act—Gold Safeguarded

ONLY about five months have elapsed since the United States entered the European war, but brief as the period is it has been more eventful in the sphere of finance than in any other war activity, as far as the lending of material aid to the allied nations is concerned. In these five months this country, through its Government, has supplied the Entente Powers with about $2,000,000,000, or an amount equal to the aggregate of all the foreign Government loans raised in America in the pre-

Terms and Conditions of Sale.

For detailed statement of the terms and conditions of sale reference is hereby made pursuant to the said decree, to the full text of the said decree the original of which is on file with the Clerk of the said Court and copies of which may be had upon application as aforesaid.

As more fully provided by the said decree the terms and conditions of the sale are as follows:

(a) From time to time the undersigned are authorized to adjourn the sale as provided in the decree.

(b) Guaranty Trust Company of New York, as Trustee, or any holder of the bonds of Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company or any creditor or stockholder thereof or any party to the aforesaid causes may bid at the sale, and, if a successful bidder may purchase in its or their own right.

(c) No bid will be received for any of the Lots numbered 1 to 8, inclusive, unless the bidder shall first deposit with the undersigned as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, a sum which shall at least equal $2 per share of the stock bid for, or in lieu thereof, in whole or in part, bonds of the Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company which will be taken for this purpose at 50% of their par value.

(d) No bid will be received for Lot 9 unless the bidder shall first deposit with the undersigned as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, the sum of $20,000, which may be provided in whole or in part by assignments of allowed claims against Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company which will be taken for this purpose at 50% of their par value.

(e) No bid will be received for Lot 10 unless the bidder shall first deposit with the undersigned as a pledge that he will make good his bid in case of its acceptance, the sum of $40,000, which may be provided in whole or in part by deposit of the aforesaid bonds or assignments of allowed claims, either of which will be accepted in lieu of cash at 50% of their par value.

(f) No bid will be accepted for any of the Lots numbered 1 to 7, inclusive, unless the aggregate of the bids for those lots shall equal or exceed the sum of $400,000; and no bid will be accepted for Lot 8 unless it equals or exceeds the said sum of $400,000; and no bid will be accepted for Lot 9 unless it equals or exceeds the sum of $600,000; and no bid will be accepted for Lot 10 unless it equals or exceeds the sum of $1,000,000.

(g) Subject to the above provisions, the said several Lots will be knocked down and sold to the several highest bidders therefor, but if the highest bid for Lot 8 equals or exceeds the aggregate of the highest bids for Lots 1 to 7, inclusive, then it will be accepted, and provided further that if the highest bid for Lot 10 equals or exceeds the aggregate of the highest bids for Lots 1 to 7, inclusive, or 8 as the case may be, when added to the highest bid for Lot 9, then it will be accepted.

(h) Deposits received from unsuccessful bidders or from successful bidders in case of non-confirmation by the Court will be returned, but deposits received from successful bidders in case of confirmation will be applied on account of the purchase price.

(i) Deposits made by prospective bidders for separate parcels may be applied on account of bids offered by them for entireties.

(j) So much of the purchase price of the several Lots aforesaid as is not required by the said decree to be paid in cash may in the case of Lots 1 to 8, inclusive, be paid in whole or in part by delivering to the Receivers bonds of Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company or matured coupons thereof for credit at such sum as would be payable thereon out of the proceeds of the sale if provided wholly in cash; and so much of the purchase price of Lot 9 as is not required by the said decree to be paid in cash may be paid in whole or in part by delivering to the Receivers assignments of allowed claims against said Autosales Gum & Chocolate Company (including allowed deficiency claims in respect to the aforesaid bonds and coupons) for credit at such sums as may be determined by the Court to be payable thereon out of the said purchase price if provided wholly in cash; and so much of the purchase price of Lot 10 as is not required by the said decree to be paid in cash may be paid in whole or in part by delivery of such bonds and coupons or such assignment of claims (including such deficiency claims) to be severally credited as aforesaid, such bonds and coupons however not being accepted in excess of the proportion of the purchase price applicable to Lots 1 to 8, inclusive, and such assignments of claims (including deficiency claims) not being accepted in excess of the proportion of the purchase price applicable to Lot 9, all as more particularly described in the said decree.

(k) In lieu of the deposit of bonds as qualification for bidders, or on account of the purchase price, certificates will be accepted of any solvent bank, banking institution or firm or trust company within the United States that it holds such bonds subject to the order of the undersigned.

(l) No purchaser shall be required to see to the application of the purchase money nor be answerable for any loss or misapplication thereof.

(m) In case any successful bidder shall fail to make the payments required by the decree or to comply with the provisions thereof or to comply within twenty days after the entry thereof with any order of the Court requiring or relating to the payment of the balance of the purchase price, then the said bidder's deposit may be forfeited as an exclusive penalty for such failure and applied to the expenses of a re-sale and toward any deficiency or loss in case of ultimate sale for a less amount and to such other purposes as the Court may direct.

(n) The successful bidder may assign his bid.

(o) The purchaser of Lot 10 shall as part of the consideration therefor pay any unpaid compensation allowed to the Special Master appointed by the said decree or the Receivers or their counsel and also any unpaid indebtedness and liabilities of said Special Master or the Receivers incurred in the aforesaid causes or in the management or operation of the property or otherwise in the discharge of their duties prior to the delivery of the property sold; and all claims, including State, city, and county taxes and assessments, which shall be a prior lien upon any of said property; and any purchaser of any of the other Lots shall as part of the consideration therefor pay such of the aforesaid claims as the Court shall order to be applicable to the particular Lot or Lots so purchased.

(p) Any purchaser or successor or assignee of a purchaser shall have the right to appear in the aforesaid causes, or any of them, and contest any claim therein which may be undetermined at the time of sale or thereafter arising and which is payable under the terms of the said decree by said purchaser or chargeable against the property purchased by him, and shall have the right of appeal from any decision relating thereto.

(q) Any purchaser or his successor or assignee shall have the right within ninety days after delivery to him of the deed or other instruments of transfer of the property purchased or within such additional time as the Court may direct, to reject any part of the property sold other than contracts made by or adopted by the Receivers, and no user of such property prior to the expiration of such period shall preclude the purchaser from such election.

(r) Upon confirmation of the sale and receipt of or due provision for the purchase price, the Receivers will deliver to the purchaser deeds or other proper instruments transferring the title, subject to the provisions of the decree, and the purchaser shall be entitled to all revenues received and compensations for services rendered by the Receivers in the operation of the premises conveyed subsequent to the date of the sale as well as all other properties acquired by the Receivers subsequent thereto.

(s) By the said decree all questions relating to the amounts of compensation, charges, allowances, costs, disbursements, and expenses are reserved by the Court for further hearing, determination and settlement.

(t) For further particulars in regard to the above matters reference is hereby made, as provided in said decree, to its terms, the original of the decree being filed as aforesaid and copies thereof obtainable as aforesaid.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

An important deal in the lower Wall Street section was closed yesterday in the sale by the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the seven and eight story office buildings at 71 and 73 Wall Street, forming the southwest corner of Pearl Street, running through to 91 to 95 Beaver Street. The property has a frontage of about 78 feet on Wall Street, 60 feet on Beaver Street, and 22 feet, 6 inches on Pearl Street.

The property has been acquired as the home of an out-of-town corporation which, at the expiration of existing leases, will make extensive alterations. The buyers are said to be negotiating for the purchase of the United States Realty Company's property adjoining on the west, with the intention of erecting a large building in the near future.

Sonneborn & Co., of Baltimore, one of the largest clothing manufacturers in the country, are the lessees of the former O'Neill-Adams dry goods building, on the west side of Sixth Avenue, between Twentieth and Twenty-first Streets. The property has been leased by the owners, the United States Realty and Improvement Company, and plans for extensive alterations were filed earlier in the week by the architects, Starrett & Van Vleck. The lessees will use the entire structure, five stories, for the manufacture of army uniforms, under a $20,000,000 contract with the Government. It contains a floor area of about 100,000 square feet. M. & L. Hess were the brokers in negotiating the lease.

Tenement Sales.

D. J. and L. T. Rogers sold to Max T. Natanson, 317 and 319 West Fifty-fourth Street, two five-story, cold water tenements on a plot 58.4 by 100.5. The property was held at $75,000. E. J. Rogers negotiated the sale.

J. Edgar Leaycraft & Co. have sold for Wilson M. Powell the six-story apartment house at 217 and 219 West 111th Street.

SAW MRS. KING PLAY IN $60,000 DICE GAME

NEW CHAIN OF EVIDENCE

On the eve of his departure for Concord, N. C., to attend the inquest into the death of Mrs. Maude A. King, John T. Dooling, Assistant District Attorney, made public several letters found among the effects of Gaston B. Means at the Park Avenue apartment, which he said shed an interesting light on the activities of those persons who were in close touch with Mrs. King.

"I am convinced that I had better dictate my letters, in order that I might have carbon copies, so I will know exactly what I said in case Maude should fly off the track and I should have to wire you to refer to any letters."

In a second communication the same sender cautioned the recipient "to look at the watermarks on the paper of any papers of any importance you have." In another letter, which Mr. Dooling said had been mailed from New York to Concord very recently, the same writer said:

"I shall be ready to join all of you there just as soon as I have settled once for all and finally with Buster. But let me impress on all of you the importance of putting a quietus on Buster forever, which I will have to do before I get away from ——. All of you keep in touch with me as per above address given and —— will know exactly what to do and meet all emergencies at any time of the night."

The Buster referred to in this letter, according to Mr. Dooling, was Mrs. J. B. Foraker, Jr., whose husband, now dead, was a son of the late Senator Foraker. Shortly after Mrs. King was shot, Mr. Dooling said, he learned that the person who would "know exactly what to do to meet all emergencies" received a long telegram, a copy of which is now in the possession of the authorities.

Mrs. Foraker, who was one of the witnesses examined yesterday, is understood to have given Mr. Dooling some valuable information and, in addition, to have corroborated some of the evidence already obtained. For instance, Mr. Dooling admitted that she had given a complete story of a dice-throwing party at the Park Avenue residence, at which Mrs. King was present, where $60,000 changed hands in one sitting. Mrs. Foraker said that she invariably lost at other dice-throwing parties held there. She recalled that on this particular occasion she had lost about $3,000.

Henry Deutsch, secretary of Gaston Means, was a witness before Mr. Dooling for several hours yesterday. When he first entered Mr. Dooling's office Deutsch was accompanied by George Gordon Battle, who is attorney for Deutsch and Afton Means. Mr. Battle emerged in five minutes, and when asked the nature of his visit replied that he had assured Mr. Dooling that his clients were willing to aid the authorities in every way possible. He said he had instructed Deutsch to answer all questions and to sign, if requested, the typewritten transcript of his answers.

Through this witness Mr. Dooling sought to identify many of the letters and papers belonging to Gaston Means. Beyond admitting that the witness had proved entirely satisfactory and had given valuable assistance, Mr. Dooling declined to go into his testimony.

Mr. Dooling said he had received evidence yesterday that Mrs. King had contemplated remarrying her first husband, Edward B. Hull, of La Grange, Ill., a short time before she met her death. According to Mr. Dooling's informants, she intended remarrying some time this Fall. Mr. Dooling telegraphed District Attorney Maclay Hoyne of Chicago asking him to investigate this piece of evidence.

Mrs. King married Hull while studying music in Chicago, but obtained a divorce a year later. She then married James C. King, the wealthy lumberman, who died a year later. Several years afterward Mrs. King married a Dr. Chance, from whom she also obtained a divorce. She retained the name of her second husband.

GALLINGER COURTS INQUIRY.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—A letter from Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire alluding to the reference to him as one "to be seen" in the memorandum found in the papers of Gaston Means, was read into the Senate record today. Senator Gallinger urged in his letter that if it were thought "necessary or advisable," the Senate take up an investigation of the reference in Means's memorandum. His letter read:

Concord, N. H., Sept. 19.

My attention having been called to the fact that my name as well as that of many other public men is being used in connection with a certain paper found in the possession of one Gaston Means, I wish to say that if any one thinks it of sufficient importance to have the matter investigated, I trust that the Senate will take prompt acion to look into it. I know nothing whatever that can possibly throw light on the subject, but nevertheless will court an investigation if one is thought necessary or desirable. Please have this read in open Senate.

J. H. GALLINGER.

No comment was made upon the Senator's letter, and it was said in the Senate lobby that so little importance was attached to the reference in Means's memorandum that the Senate would not go into any inquiry regarding it.

STOP MEANS'S DRAFTS.

Special to The New York Times.

CONCORD, N. C., Sept. 20.—Attorney McDuffie of Atlanta and J. C. Kennett, a Deputy United States Marshal, spent several hours today in Concord in connection with the investigation of the death of Mrs. Maude A. King. The lawyer, who represents Mrs. Anna L. Robinson, mother of Mrs. King, was here to serve notice on the banks of this city that Gaston B. Means had been enjoined by an order from Federal Judge Boyd at Greensboro from transferring any funds of the King estate.

It had been learned that a draft for $5,000 had been drawn through a local bank on the Corn Exchange Bank of New York City by Mrs. Julie Means, wife of Gaston Means. Judge Boyd today made Mrs. Means and Afton Means, a brother of Gaston, parties to the restraining order. Another banking institution here was informed that a draft had been drawn for something more than $3,000 and was ordered to hold any funds that might come into its hands.

The Deputy Marshal was here to serve on Gaston B. Means the notice of Judge Boyd to appear before him on next Tuesday and show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court.

WHITMAN REVIEWS TROOPS.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Governor Whitman reviewed a parade here today of drafted men of Dutchess County. The procession ended at the Hudson River Driving Park, where the Poughkeepsie Fair and Field Day was being held. Here Governor Whitman addressed the drafted men.

"A very clear distinction should be made and impressed on our citizenship at home as well as upon our citizens who are leaving us," said the Governor, "that there is nothing even remotely suggestive of reflection upon the character, the manhood, the bravery, or the patriotism of the men who have been finally chosen under the so-called selective conscription law. The post of danger is the post of honor; and it is that post which appeals to the kind of men who have made our country great and who are keeping it what it is today, and when we hear from 'somewhere in Germany' we know it will be good news, that you have fought the fight and kept the faith."

Other speakers were Miss Mabel Boardman and Major George Harvey Putnam.

Fines Autoist $150.

Ralph Lane, a lumber merchant of High Cliff Hall, Yonkers, found guilty last week of driving an automobile while intoxicated, was fined $150 yesterday by Magistrate Cobb in Traffic Court. Lane was arrested last week on the charge, and at that time the case was adjourned until yesterday in order that a probation officer could make an investigation. Although the probation officer's report was favorable, Magistrate Cobb said he could not overlook the seriousness of Lane operating a machine while intoxicated in a crowded thoroughfare, and imposed the fine, which Lane paid.

SOLDIER INTERNED AS ALIEN

Told Sister He Hoped Not to Fight Against His Native Land.

FORT OGLETHORPE, Ga., Sept. 20.—Sergeant Alfred Bonhaupt of the Sixth United States Infantry, who served with General Pershing in Mexico, has been discharged from the army, it was learned today, and interned at the German prison camp here as an enemy alien.

Bonhaupt's dismissal from the army followed the intercepting of a letter which he wrote his sister in Germany, in which he expressed regret that the United States had entered the war against Germany, and the hope that he would not have to fight against his native land.

Fore-Handed Buying

When you were thinking about buying your Spring suits, we were busy selecting those we have ready for you to wear right now.

To select the most attractive fabrics and models for our four great Metropolitan stores is the work of many weeks, and this year, more than ever in our memory, it paid to be fore-handed.

The results of our forethought are very apparent to all who see our assortment of suits especially those at $25, $28 and $30.

Hart Schaffner & Marx Suits and Overcoats

Come in and look them over. See the Varsity Fifty Five Suits.

Many models have a very decided military note—form-fitting lines; belted, with pouch pockets—that make the wearer as well turned out as a crack major of regulars.

THE more work you can give a motor truck to do, the higher its earning power (but the truck must be adapted to the work). Often too big a truck means that high fixed charges and operating expenses cannot be justified by the work on hand, while many a very light truck is bought only to be subjected to loads so big that it is ruined long before it pays.

The manufacturing concerns listed here are among the thousands of Autocar users in every line of activity—these have proved that the Autocar is the truck of general utility. The rated capacity of the Autocar is 1½-2 tons; it hauls coal or building materials efficiently and paper boxes or blankets economically—there is a paying load for it all day and every day.

For instance: E. W. Bliss Company, of Brooklyn, haul raw materials around their plant with Autocars, and they send them to New York for rush shipments of supplies or materials.

Richard Hey & Son, Inc., of Philadelphia, haul coal to their plant in the morning, and in the afternoon deliver their finished blankets to the piers and railroad terminals—all with one Autocar chassis.

If you are considering the addition to, or improvement of, your delivery system, refer to some of your manufacturing friends in this list of Autocar users
